An allowance as paid to a maximum of $80 a month may be made to aged and/or disabled persons for housekeeping services in own home.

Fisheries Study Is Being Made

A fisheries population investigation program has recently been conducted by the Wildlife Management and Law Enforcement Divisions of the Department of Game and Inland Fish on Loch Raven Reservoir in Baltimore County.

The Department's Reservoir Biologist, Worrell "Nick" Carter directed the operation that ran for a full week. Fish were taken by electro fishing methods, net and traps from selected sample areas. The fish were weighed, measured and released on the spot. The areas were then fished again using the same techniques.

A similar project lasting two weeks began June 15 on Deep Creek Lake.

Sample sites scattered over representative areas of the lake have been selected, methods for sampling the fish will be identical to those used in the Loch Raven study.

From the data gathered on these projects it will be possible to develop an index on which to base a total population figure for these impoundments. The study will also make it possible to determine species composition and growth rates which is an indication of their productivitiy.

These two reservoir projects are the beginning of a more extensive program in reservoir management being conducted by the Department of Game and Inland Fish. The end result desired from these programs is to provide a well balanced fish population and increase fishermen success.

Observes 200 Helo Landing on Ship

Rear Admiral F. W. Vannoy, commander of amphibious force of the seventh fleet, visited the PBR support ship, USS Garrett County (LST-786) on station in the Bassac river in the Mekong delta area of Vietnam, on June 9.

He landed on the ship while enroute to his flagship. The visit was part of a brief tour of PHIBPAC assets in Vietnam. Garrett county is a specially configured 542 class LST presently under control of river patrol forces. It serves as a mobile base for PBR and helicopter operations in the rivers of the delta. She is one of four such ships on duty in the Delta.

On June 10 it celebrated its 200th helicopter landing since the ship was recommissioned in October of last year. Of the 200 landings, 121 have been made since the ship arrived in Vietnam in March. The landing was celebrated with a barbecue and presentation of a special "landing" cake to commemorate the occasion.

Storm Pattern Is Varied For Week

A varied storm pattern hit the mountain top on Sunday to temporarily break up the extreme warm weather that had persisted over the previous ten days, but 80 degree temperatures were back again for additional hot and humid weather, after a one-day respite.

While Oakland was getting only a token rainfall on Sunday, there were downpours in other areas, particularly in the section of Deep Creek lake, with some hail falling in spots.

During the severe electrical storm, lightning struck and killed six head of cattle Sunday evening on the farm of Stanley Baker, near Loch Lynn Heights, on the Gorman road. Mr. Baker didn't discover the animals until the next morning but there was no doubt about what had happened.

Temperatures for the past two weeks, with the exception of Monday, had reached the middle 80s with slightly higher temperatures being recorded last Friday and Saturday. The thermometer registered in low 70s early this morning and had increased to 74 degrees by 9 o'clock. Skies were overcast and there were indications of scattered thunder showers throughout the day.

A storm threatened for a time last evening but dissipated after a few sprinkles.

The summer season was officially ushered in yesterday, June 21, which also was the longest day of the year.

U Thant's Bias

In tracing the roots of the Middle East crisis, informed citizens can hardly fail to observe that U Thant, Secretary General of the United Nations, precipitated one of the worst developments in the situation.

This was Mr. U Thant's immediate, affirmative response to Egypt's demand for withdrawal of the U. N. peace-keeping force from positions along the Israeli border. It was not necessary for U Thant to take this action, for the peacekeeping force had been created by the U. N. General Assembly and not by the Secretary General himself. With this sudden, irresponsible action, U Thant opened the door to direct action to Col. Nasser of Egypt. For example, with the almost overnight withdrawal of the U. N. troops, Nasser was able to send troops to blockade the narrow straits which control Israel's access to the Red Sea and its markets in Africa and Asia. Automatically, war tension was increased.

Western peoples should not overlook U Thant's strange behavior. In the past the Burmese neutralist who heads the bureaucratic machinery of the U. N. has gone all out to assert the U. N.'s authority in international disputes. But he made no such assertion of authority against the Egyptians, who are sponsored by the Soviet Union. He didn't even attempt to delay an action that was bound to promote the communist goal of stirring trouble in the oil-rich Middle East.

U Thant's action in the Israeli-Egyptian crisis is in striking contrast to his actions and statement with regard to the war in Vietnam. The U. N. Secretary General has used his office to try to bend the United States to his will, virtually adopting Hanoi's position on the aerial bombing and suggesting that the U. S., by its air raids against the Red regime, was on the verge of starting World War III.

U Thant' behavior, in this and other situations, gives abundant evidence of where his sympathies lie. Nasser's Egypt, of course, is one of the revolutionary states of the world. It is very close to the communist bloc countries. Nasser desires to oust the Western countries from their oil concessions in the Middle East, a goal which U Thant undoubedly shares.

The bias U Thant has shown toward the Egyptians is all the more graphically illustrated by the failure of his office — and of the Afro-Asian bloc in the U. N. — to pay any attention to other threats to the peace in the Middle East. Since the early 1960s, Egypt has had 50,000 soldiers occupying the little Red Sea country of Yemen, but U Thant and the U. N. have not condemned Egypt's aggression there.

For many months, Egyptian agents, infiltrators and saboteurs have been conducting a terrorist war against the vital British naval-air base of Aden at the southern end of the Red Sea and against the South Arabian Federation. But the U. N. persists in seeing no evil.

A three-man U. N. team visited Aden this spring, but refused to even consult with South Arabian Federation officials — the lawful authorities in the area. U Thant had no word of reproach for the U. N.'s emissaries. He was too busy trying to pressure the United States into backing down before the forces of aggression in Southeast Asia. In another situation, involving Syrian sabotage raids, the U. N. Secretary General was equally blind to aggression by a pro-communist country.

U Thant's position is understandable, in one sense. No doubt his sympathies are in line with the policies of the majority of countries in the United Nations organization. The more than 100 countries in the U. N., after all, are largely nations from the communist world or the so-called Third World of backward, neutralist nations. Thus the majority of states in the U. N. fall into one of two classes: (1) communist or openly pro-communist nations, or (2) nations which envy America and want to penalize the U. S. for its affluence. Many of the new nations of Africa, which are so numerous in the U. N., belong to the second group.

The United Nations talks peace, but the U. N.'s definition of peace invariably is one which benefits the enemies of freedom. "Peace" for U Thant means Western withdrawal at every point and accommodation to the demands of the revolutionary states and movements. In short, U Thant's career as Secretary General clearly illustrates his anti-Western outlook — an outlook which he clearly shares with the majority of states in the U. N. organization.

Governor Spiro T. Agnew will address the delegates elected last week to Maryland's Constitutional Convention at a special session of an orientation seminar Monday afternoon, June 26, at 5:00 p. m. The Governor will describe for the delegates the functions and responsibilities of the Office of Governor. He will also discuss the position of the Governor's Office within the Executive Branch.

Agricultural And Forestry Offices To Move Locations

The local offices of the Soil Conservation service, the Farmers Home Administration, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks will move to a new location on June 29 and 30, according to a joint announcement by all agencies.

The new office building is located on Route 219 about one mile north of Oakland. It was recently constructed by Thomas E. Bernard and leased to the four agencies.

The housing of all Federal Agricultural agencies in a single building is in line with a long standing U. S. Department of Agriculture policy, and is designed to provide better service to the public and closer co-operation between agencies. The housing of the Forestry Department offices in the same building will further advance this policy because of the need for close co-operation between this agency and the Department of Agriculture, especially in conservation programs.

All offices in the new building will be on the ground floor and parking space will be available for the public.

All persons having business which must be transacted with any of the agencies before June 30 are urged to contact the appropriate office not later than June 28, since only very limited business of an emergency nature can be handled on June 29 and 30.

All of the offices will be open for business as usual on Monday, July 3. Heading these agencies are B. Beeson Snyder, Farmers Home Administration; W. W. Nace, district soil conservationist; Elbert Riley, office manager for ASC, and Joe Mechem, office manager for the Department of Forests and Parks.

Conservatism: A Youth Movement

Anyone who has visited American colleges and universities and seen the vitality of campus conservative groups knows that conservatism is not only a healthy public philosophy but a vigorous youth movement in the United States.

Tired liberals, brought up on the doctrinaire thinking of the New Deal of the 1930s, try, of course, to present conservatism as an outlook for greybeards. But the liberals face an impossible task, for they are, in effect, attempting to rewrite the history of our times, which testifies to the growing strength of conservative concepts.

The young Marine lieutenant in Vietnam, who recently signed over his monthly paycheck to the conservative magazine, National Review, because he believed in the kind of America it is striving for, is one of a numerous breed. Indeed adult conservatives need not fear a lack of conservative recruits. The returning generation of Vietnam veterans, who have fought in the rice paddies against communism, understand the international realism that conservatism has been emphasizing in recent decades.

The statisticians tell us that America is an increasingly young nation, as the big crop of past-World War II war babies become young adults. These young adults want to play a part in a more prosperous America. Only a very small element among the young is interested in marching in demonstrations or in trying to overthrow our basic and economic order. The vast majority of the young are property-minded, in a healthy manner. They are interested in getting a good job, buying an attractive home, and enjoying the leisure-time activities that this affluent and beautiful land affords. The young, moreover, are smart enough to know that these things are the fruits of free enterprise.

The liberal politicians are making a great mistake in emphasizing federal subsidies for the non-productive elements in American life. The alert young people of America expect to work for a better future, and there is considerable evidence that they don't want all their earnings drained off for wasteful handouts for drones.

Thus conservatism is in position to make a powerful pitch to the young, productive adults of America. These well-educated young people can understand that, at heart, conservatism means accenting the wealth-producing features of our society instead of the leveling, non-productive, wealth-sharing programs characteristic of socialism. Conservatives, after all, are wealth creators, not people who simply concentrate on cutting up the economic pie. And a great nation becomes greater through fresh accumulation, not division of what it has.

Young people today are very specific in their interests. It is not enough, for example, to praise "constitutional government". Established conservative leaders should carefully spell out what they mean, illustrating in a modern manner how personal freedom cannot survive in an environment of rigid bureaucracy and master-state controls.

If conservatives hail "free enterprise", they — wherever possible — give examples of the superiority of the free market system over a controlled economy. The world scene, to be sure, is full of useful examples. Young people should be advised, for instance, to consider the sad case of England, where reactionary socialist concepts have retarded the growth of a people with a proud tradition and brought them close to a national insolvency.

Communication is tremendously important in the modern world. Words count in trying to sell ideas to people. And established conservatives also must recognize the problems of "image". There must be an unceasing effort to present conservatism as positive, not negative. Conservatism isn't a defense of the status quo or a static outlook. In truth, conservatism is the faith of community and nation-builders, a belief that freedom from government controls gives people a better, more affluent life.

Fortunately, great numbers of young people already are sold on this idea. Even more recruits will be gained if adult conservatives keep trying to improve communication with those young Americans who haven't yet got the message that conservatism is the nation's greatest youth movement.

Is Your Name SHREVE?

Do You Know That:

Shreve, an old and honored surname, is of English origin. It is of occupational meaning and is obtained from "reeve", a local administrative agent of the king in mediaeval times and later the chief magistrate of a town or an official charged with the enforcement of local regulations. In many instances Shreve is a transformation of Sheriff.

William Shreve (1737-1812) and Samuel Shreve (1750-1814) were respectively colonel and lieutenant colonel of New Jersey troops during the Revolutionary War.

A genealogy and history of the Shreve family from the year 1641 was compiled by L. P. Allen of Greenfield, Illinois and published in 1901.

There are five references to persons by the name of Shreve in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Forrest Shreve (1878-1950), a descendant of Thomas Shreve who emigrated from England with his wife Martha in 1641 and settled in Portsmouth, Rhode Island, was a distinguished botanist. He was born in Easton, Maryland, graduated from Johns Hopkins University and served as professor of botany at Goucher College, Baltimore, Maryland for a few years. Thereafter, until his death he was a member of the staff of the Department of Botanical Research, Carnegie Institution of Washington, D. C. and earned national and international recognition for his research investigations and his books and writings.

Milton William Shreve (1858-1939) of Erie, Pa., was a member of the U. S. House of Representatives from Pennsylvania for eight terms.

Ralph Febrey Shreve (1882-1956) was a distinguished civil engineer and authority on the construction of bridges and industrial plants. Among his most noted accomplishments was the design and supervision of the construction in 1921 of the foundry of the Ford Motor Company at River Rouge, Michigan, then the largest foundry in the world under one roof.

Randolph Norris Shreve is professor of chemical engineering, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

State Park Season Now Open In Area

The state parks in the area are now open for the season and if they are as popular as they were last year more than 500,000 people will visit them to enjoy themselves in an outdoor atmosphere.

Figures for last year's visitors were released by the district office Maryland Department of Forests and Parks in LaVale. Ralph Peace, district supervisor, said the total includes campers, picnickers and fishermen.

Of the four areas in this county Deep Creek drew the largest number of visitors, an estimated 187,000. Herrington Manor hosted 102,000; Swallow Falls 108,000; New Germany, 76,000, and the two sub-areas of New Germany—Big Run and Casselman river, attracted 22,000 and 9,000 visitors respectively.

The only state park in Allegany county, Dan's Mountain, received an estimated 8,000 visitors.

Mr. Peace said swimming, picnicking, fishing and hiking are available in Herrington Manor, New Germany and Deep Creek. Cabins, obtained by writing to the State Department of Forests and Parks at Annapolis, usually reserved for the summer season early in January, are available at Herrington Manor and New Germany.

At present the only area with playground equipment for both campers and picnickers is Deep Creek. These are planned for New Germany, Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls.

Camping, picnicking and hiking are available at all of the area except Dan's Mountain. The Big Run area of New Germany offers only "primitive" camping facilities.

A new well was drilled in the Swallow Falls area, replacing one that went dry last year. It is planned to have a resident supervisor at Swallow Falls probably after July 1.

Hanst-Mann Wedding Takes Place Saturday Afternoon

Miss Barbara Louise Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Mann, Sr., Braddock Road, Cumberland, and George Henry Hanst, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hanst, Oakland, were married last Saturday, June 17, in St. John's Lutheran church in Cumberland.

The Rev. LaVerne Rasmussen, pastor, and the Rev. G. Paul Lottich, pastor of Salem Lutheran church, Catonsville, were the officiating clergymen for the double ring ceremony. Organist was Robert H. Mann, Jr., brother of the bride, who also accompanied Robert Gage, of Chicago, who sang "O Rest in the Lord". Thomas Early served as acolyte.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory peau de soie chapel-length gown with lace mantilla. The gown was fashioned with a round neckline, short sleeves and full skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of Eucharist lilies and ivy.

Miss Doris Mann, Cumberland, was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Ann Decker, Cumberland, cousin of the bridegroom; and Miss Louise Mirkin, Chicago, formerly of Cumberland, were bridesmaids.

John F. Hanst, Lutherville, served as his brother's best man. Ushering were Ronald O. Decker, Chicago, formerly of Cumberland, and William J. Pierson, Vienna, W. Va., cousins of the bridegroom; James S. Burks, Elkins, W. Va., brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Charles W. Smith, Hyattsville, formerly of Cumberland.

A reception followed in the church social hall with Miss Jane Nicklin, cousin of the bride, registering guests.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High school, Duke University and the University of Pittsburgh. For the past three years she has been the director of Christian education at Salem Lutheran church in Catonsville. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social fraternity.

Mr. Hanst was graduated from Oakland High school and Washington college, Chestertown. He is a news reporter for the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Following a trip through New England states the couple will reside at 366 Old Trial, Rodgers Forge, Baltimore.

Those attending from Oakland were Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Sincell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruckert, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Sincell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. William Sharps, Mrs. Wm. Ernest Fox, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart Cooper, Miss Grace Falkenstein, James Ashby.

Seminole Indians won long legal war over land taken from them over 100 years ago in Florida.

When the Ghia people wanted fancy curves, the Karmann people hired 16 sculptors.

The Volkswagen people asked the Ghia people to design a beautiful car. The Ghia people asked the Karmann people to carry out their beautiful design. And the Karmann people hired some sculptors.

They didn't start as sculptors; that's just the way it worked out.

The Karmann people knew that ordinary welders couldn't hand-form a window post the way the Ghia people designed it. Or shape that lovely curve behind the rear window. Or mold a little more grace into the hood.

So the Karmann people took the best one of every dozen welders on their payroll. They trained these men for a full year. And sculptors are what they wound up with.

Just watch one of these men a moment. He softens a piece of pewter with his torch and shapes it with a small beechwood stick. He scrapes a little. He smooths a little. Then he steps back for a look. A little more shaping. A little more smoothing. Until it's right.

Doing things right costs money. So if the Karmann Ghia wasn't a Volkswagen, it would cost much more than $2,250* That's not a lot of money to own a car.

It's an inexpensive way to be a patron of the arts.

Cecil Bittinger Is Featured In Farm Bureau Magazine

The Cecil Bittinger family is featured in the June issue of Maryland Farm News, a monthly Maryland Farm Bureau publication. Mr. Bittinger is president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau. Mr. and Mrs. Bittinger have two sons.

A family picture appears on the front cover of the Farm News and the story about them appears, also with additional pictures, on page 9.

The story relates:

Cecil Bittinger combines farming with an informal family life that involves collecting coins and refinishing small antiques.

His farm is a modern dairy operation with 23 milking Holstein cows. The milk is sold to the Dairy Cooperatives Sales association with headquarters in Pittsburgh.

An unforgettable view of a rolilng valley of farm land, lined with forest, is the view from his home which is located on a knoll near Oakland. A painting of the scene, with the brilliant autumn colors, is displayed on the wall of the living room. Of the 108 acres of land in the farm, 4 are woodland, 65 are rotated in corn, wheat and oats, while the remaining acreage is in pasture and hay.

Layers were another important part of the farm operation until this past April, when they were sold because there was no profit. Up until that time 450 layers were kept to serve around 35 regular customers, of which the majority came to the house. This entire operation, consisting of caring for the birds, as well as gathering, washing, candling, packing and selling the eggs, was the hands of Cecil's wife, with assistance from the rest of the family.

The farming operation was selected the winner in the 1961 Farming of Better Living contest.

"Farm Bureau is the only hope for farmers to gain any economic status", said Cecil. "A farmer can't do it by himself, he must work through organization". Cecil was elected head of the county Farm Bureau in July, 1966, upon resignation of B. O. Aiken. At the time he was serving his first term as vice-president, having been on the Board for eight years. Connections with the Farm Bureau go back to his father, who became a member when it was organized in the county.

Two major subject areas on which the county Farm Bureau has been very active are better milk markets for a major portion of the dairymen, and a study of community colleges. A special committee visited other college within the state to obtain information for members to help them evaluate a proposed community college for the county.

The Bittingers were married in 1944. Cecil's wife, the former Arletta Riley, was from nearby Pleasant Valley. They are members of St. Mark's Lutheran church. Two children, Donald, 21, and Douglas, 18, grew up through 4-H activities to hold various offices and obtain numerous honors. Both are presently living at home but this will change. Don, a licensed insurance agent, who works in Oakland, is engaged to a former county 4-H girl, now residing in Cumberland. Douglas, who was graduated from Southern High school in June, has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

In addition to being the county Farm Bureau president, Cecil is chairman of the community ASCS committee, and membership chairman of the Southern High Parent-Teacher association. Over the years he has been active in numerous community and rural groups, including past chairman, County Artificial Breeding cooperative, county Farmer's Home Administration, committeeman and member of the county Farm Bureau Planning group 11.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The rose comes very close to man's standard of perfection. Its delicate beauty seems to mock every effort of the artist or camera to capture it.

But is the rose really God's masterpiece? Hardly!

For its beauty is passive. It brightens life only for those who seek it out and gaze upon it. And in but a few days it withers and is ugly.

God's masterpiece is MAN. For with all his waywardness and selfishness, Man is capable of reflecting the love of God. When he lets God touch his life he is able to bring happiness and faith to others. He doesn't have to wait until he is noticed. He can actively bring spiritual blessings to his fellow men.

As the gardener cultivates the rose, the Church cultivates the lives of men. Always it strives to help us become all that God wants us to be.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

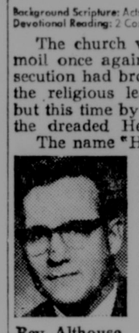
No Least Thing

Lesson for June 25, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 12:1-25.
Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 4:7-15.

The church was in great turmoil once again! A second persecution had broken out, not by the religious leaders as before, but this time by none other than the dreaded Herod Agrippa I.

The name "Herod" alone was sufficient to strike terror into people's hearts. Herod the Great had been the ruler of the land when Jesus was born. A violent man who murdered his own wife, he was the king who slew the male infants of Bethlehem in order to ensure that he would have no competition from a newborn Christ. Nor did his son do anything to sweeten the family name. Jesus called him "that Fox" and he is best remembered as the man who beheaded John the Baptist.



Rev. Althouse

A Strange Scene

Now there was Herod Agrippa I, grandson of Herod the Great. He would become known as the persecutor of the Church, putting to death the Apostle James and throwing Peter into prison. Yet, for all this, it is a strange scene that greets us in Acts 12 — Herod plotting, th church praying, and Peter sleeping in his cell!

James, one of their great leaders, was already dead. Peter was almost certain to suffer the same fate. What was the church to do? Perhaps they ought to plot an uprising or find some means of exerting political pressure. But Acts tells us: "earnest prayer to God was made for him by the church" and in Acts 12:2 we find that a group of Christ's followers "were gathered together and were praying" at the house of John Mark's mother.

That doesn't seem to be a very effective way to meet the situation, does it? Yet, perhaps that is because we do not have a very high estimate of the power of prayer. We look upon it as a last resort, something one does when there is nothing else to be done, something that probably doesn't hurt, but isn't expected to help too greatly.

Strong To Witness

The Jerusalem Christians, however, didn't regard prayer in that manner. It was for them not "a least thing" to be done when at wit's end. They remembered all the signs and wonders that had followed their earnest prayers. They had remembered too what had happened that other time they had prayed for Peter. They had prayed and the place where they were "was shaken!"

But what could they expect to happen this time? What could Peter expect as he slept in his prison cell? Were they confident that he would be enabled to escape again, that his safety was ensured? Luke doesn't tell us what Peter thought or what the people prayed, but we can remember how they had prayed before, not for safety or deliverance, but for strength to witness.

Peter could sleep, not because his physical safety was assured, but because, like Stephen, he knew that he was in God's hands. If he was to live, he would continue his work; if he was to die, he would die in the Lord and have no anxieties about eternity.

Deeper Security

In all probability, the little group who prayed did not regard their prayer as an attempt to change the mind of a reluctant God. Their concept of prayer was that of putting themselves at his disposal so that he might accomplish his will through them.

So it is with us. When we are in danger or trouble, we cannot assume that prayer will protect our lives or guarantee an easy solution. But we can pray, secure in the knowledge that we are in his hands and that in neither death nor life can we be separated from him. When we can pray, putting ourselves at his disposal to do his will, we will know that prayer is no "least thing."

Dunbar-Henry Wedding Held

Miss Cheryl Lane (Sherry) Henry became the bride of Robert Allen Dunbar, chief warrant officer, U. S. army, on Friday, April 21, in St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland. Rev. Lawrence Sherwood, D. D., performed the double ring ceremony.

Organist was Mrs. Mary Kay Eliason, who accompanied Joseph DiSimone, who sang "You'll Never Walk Alone", and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Henry, of Mt. Lake Park, formerly of Terra Alta, W. Va. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunbar, Sr., Rowlesburg, W. Va.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a knee-length gown, fashioned in a sheer white A-line shift, embroidered with daisies and seed pearls, worn over a white taffeta sheath. Her bouffant veil of tulle was held in place with a cluster of daisies, with daisy-tipped streamers falling to one side. She carried a white Bible, and a bouquet of white daisies and carnations.

Mrs. Carol DeWitt, as matron of honor, wore a turquoise, knee-length A-line gown with floating back panel, and matching headdress. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and carnations.

Robert Smith, of Rowlesburg, was best man and Ronald Hooton, Rowlesburg, served as usher.

The bride is a graduate of Terra Alta High school and Morgantown Beauty School. Prior to her marriage she was employed as an instructor in Morgantown Beauty School.

Mr. Dunbar is a graduate of Gassaway High school, Gassaway, W. Va. He recently returned from Vietnam where he has served a year as a helicopter pilot.

Following a brief reception for relatives and friends in the home of the bride, the couple left for Texas, where Mr. Dunbar will be stationed for some time, serving as a helicopter pilot instructor at Fort Walters.

For traveling the bride chose an A-line dress of pink flowered crepe with a pink coat. She wore a corsage of white carnations, lifted from the bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar are making their home at Apt. 212, Braza Villa Plaza, Mineral Wells, Texas.

Thirteen Killed On State Highways

Thirteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Five of those killed were drivers; seven were passengers; and one was a pedestrian.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths; speed in eight; and "driver error" was present in all of the fatalities.

"During the past week a passenger was killed because the operator dropped a cigarette and, momentarily distracted, lost control of the car and struck a pole", commented Lt. Col. George Davidson, Acting Superintendent of the State Police.

"Lighting a cigarette or putting it out, each taking only a second or so, is a habit with many drivers and one which almost always requires an operator to take his eyes off the road and his attention away from driving. Too often such action results in serious injury or death."

Lt. Colonel Davidson concluded: "Driving requires an operator's complete attention and anything which draws his attention away from the task at hand is hazardous".

Motor Vehicle Docket Lists Four Cases

Only four cases were listed on the Motor vehicle docket in the office of Robert M. Maroney, trial magistrate, this week.

Allen R. McLaughlin, Elkins, W. Va., pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving but was found guilty and fined $25 and costs. The fine was suspended and the costs paid.

Lawrence Wheeler Sines, Oakland, paid $10 and costs for reckless driving.

Joseph Alton Nelson, Jr., Westernport, pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating at a speed too great for road conditions but was found guilty and fined $12 and costs.

William Bruce Sims, Deer Park, paid $5 and costs for illegal passing on a double solid line.

A bus of tourists in Germany skidded from road, killing 12.

Fred A. Thayer, Assignee for the purpose of foreclosure, Oakland, Maryland.

Libel Suit Will Be Heard in Court At Hagerstown

The libel suit filed last August by Russell H. Carder, of Shaft, then a county commissioner in Allegany county, against the Guardian Publishing Company, Frostburg, and others, which was filed originally in Allegany county and then moved to Garrett county, is now to be tried in Washington county, at Hagerstown.

It was scheduled for this Tuesday in Oakland. Richard L. Davis, clerk of the circuit court, said that the Guardian Publishing company had petitioned the court for removal to some other Maryland court and that this petition was granted last Friday by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill.

Mr. Carder had filed the suit last August in Allegany county circuit court. Associate Judge Harold E. Naughton signed an order May 17, removing the case to this county, after Mr. Carder, through his attorney Miller Bowen, petitioned for removal on grounds that he could not get a fair trial in Allegany county circuit court. John C. Sullivan, attorney for the Guardian, questioned whether his clients could get a fair trial in Oakland.

Named in the action filed last August 22 were the Guardian Publishing Company, the Meyersdale Printing and Publishing company which prints the weekly newspaper; and six persons who at that time were identified as directors of the Guardian Publishing company.

Three of the six individuals no longer are parties to the suit. Burton Smith, Lonaconing, now a county commissioner, was removed last September 6 when Judge Naughton granted a summary judgment in his behalf. Judge Naughton signed orders last October 26 to dismiss two other persons as defendants in the action. They are Lee P. Ford, LaVale, and Kathleen Robertson, Barton.

Still listed as defendants along with the company which publishes the paper and the firm which prints it are three other alleged directors.

They are Clement H. Myers, Rawlings; Charles W. Welsh, and Dorothy Murray Martin, Frostburg. Milton Gerson is entered in the case as attorney for the Meyersdale Printing and Publishing company.

Railroad Strike

One of the most difficult decisions that have been presented to the house during my entire period of service was that of whether or not to authorize compulsory arbitration as the final step in resolving the persistent dispute between America's railroads and the railroad shop unions.

On one side, Members of the House could see that the Administration's proposal marked the abandonment of one of the most precious rights, the right of private citizens to bargain privately for the sale of goods and services. On the other side, we heard the representations of responsible government officials to the effect that, if the House failed to adopt the President's plan without change, the country would be imperiled by a nationwide railroad strike, which would not only disrupt our economy, but could also undermine our defense efforts and seriously hamper our operations in Vietnam.

In considering this question last week, I could not forget that the choice facing the House was a direct result of years of trying to duck the issue. Many times I repeatedly urged President Johnson, Labor Secretary Wirtz and other high officials to face squarely the complicated problem of avoiding paralyzing strikes in critical industries. Unfortunately, for years the Administration has avoided making any overall recommendation to Congress, although the president in 1966 did promise to do so. My inquiries last year revealed, in fact, that the President's high-level advisory commission on labor-management problems was not even studying the question of collective bargaining. So, instead of thoughtful, comprehensive proposals, we have seen only a series of case-by-case, emergency plans, hastily designed to meet specific threats such as the airlines strike of last summer and the far more serious railroad strike which is looming now.

Last week the day of reckoning finally arrived. Regrettably, the House had to debate the necessity of imposing collective bargaining on a single industry, in circumstances which clearly made this step, if taken, a precedent for future arbitration of disputes in other industies. Unfortunately, too, the need to set this precedent was argued primarily in terms of the military and defense imports of a railroad strike, rather than in terms of the impact of our decision on the entire structure and traditions of American labor-management relations. Precedent that existed related to a state of war declared by Congress, so this was indeed a novel case.

Yet the House last week could not simply recount — and regret — the failures of the past, or the problems of the present situation. A very difficult and careful choice had to be made, in the shadow of a strike which could in the most literal sense become a paralyzing one. The predictable consequences of such a strike would be grave. But after long deliberation, I conclude that it would be far more damaging in the long run to depart from our tradition of free enterprise and free negotiations in labor-management disputes. I therefore opposed the President's proposal to authorize compulsory arbitration as the final step in the railroad negotiations. This position involved a calculated risk, but one which in my judgment was in the public interest

I am pleased that a large majority of the House chose the path I took, and that the legislation was amended to remove the authority for compulsory arbitration. In a very real sense, the House decision was an expression of suppport for the principles of liberty for which our troops are fighting in Vietnam. It was also an expression of the important conviction that, although some immediate damage and economic disruption may sometimes result, America will be stronger if we work out new practices applying to our entire economy within the framework of traditional and historic principles.

CHECK YOUR BODY BEFORE VACATION TRIPS

So many people, who never neglect checking their automobiles before a vacation trip, forget to check their body also to insure a healthy trip. Yet they may have teeth which need fixing, digestive or other problems which could ruin their entire pleasure.

Let your physician or dentist examine you. They will tell you what medicines you should take with you, give you needed "shots" and important advice. The odds are you will more likely have a much better trip if your health remains good.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Shorter Work Week? . .

"What makes you think you're the first smart man in history?" is a question asked by a Warne and Swasey advertisement in U. S. News and World Report a short time ago. It continued:

"You think you can get a shorter work week at the same high pay, and get away with it? Since time began, the price you pay for anything is the cost of the material in it, the cost of the labor to make it, the share it must carry of all government costs, plus the wages of the capital which provided the machinery without which the product could never have been made. This last is profit—already so small that hard-headed experts are afraid it could dry up and then, no new or growing businesses, no added or better jobs.

"But increase any one of these 4 parts or pieces that make up price, and YOU CAN'T HELP but increase the price. That's as obvious as daylight. So when you get the same pay for fewer hours without any more productivity, you increase the wage cost per product—by the amount of the 'benefit' you thought you could collect.

"All fine, if all you did was PRODUCE. But you consume, too—and your wife isn't going to like it when she sees that higher price you caused, at the supermarket, clothing store or automobile showroom."

It's something to think about seriously.

Mountain Road Campaign Boosted

A committee representing residents of Bloomington and the Tri-Towns area was scheduled to meet Friday night at the Garrett National Bank building in Bloomington to continue a Backbone mountain safety campaign.

Lynn Walker, field supervisor for State Traffic Safety division; Del. J. Glenn Beall, Jr., House of Delegates; State Senator George R. Hughes, Jr.; Russell McCain, highway safety coordinator; Rep. Harley O. Staggers, Keyser and Delegate B. O. Aiken, Accident, will attend.

Thirty-five area residents met Monday night in the Bloomington fire hall to initiate remedial action for the safety of truckers driving the steep grade of Backbone mountain on route 135. Several persons have lost their lives at the foot of the mountain, including three last week.

Pickets on duty from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., since last Wednesday said traffic going down the hill included an average of one truck every 10 minutes. SRC officials completed a 48-hour survey. State police have been patrolling the highway.

Letters were sent to the Interstate Commerce commission

Two Being Held on Assault Charges

Two persons were apprehended during the week and are being held on charges of assault and battery in two separate cases.

Jury trials in both cases have been prayed by State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer.

One concerns Kenneth Hardesty of the Cherry Creek area, charged with assault and battery upon his step-children who are four and five years of age, alleged to have occurred on June 15, near McHenry.

The other concerns James Ray Otto, who is charged by Carol Elaine High, which allegedly occurred on June 27 near Bloomington.

A jury trial also has been prayed by Paul Sweene, of McHenry, who has eight charges against him, three for writing worthless checks, and five on charges of removal and sale of motor boats without consent of the mortgagees.

Two persons were declared not guilty of infractions when given hearings this week. Clarence W. Mayles was charged by Charles C. Browning with theft of golf balls from the Browning driving range at Deep Creek. He pleaded not guilty and was found not guilty on

County Letters, Advertising, One Day Earlier

Once more this year, the same as prior to the May 30 holiday, because of difficulties resulting from a day's closing of all mail deliveries at the local post office, The Republican must ask all its correspondents and advertisers to get their copy to the office one day earlier than normal.

The Oakland post office and other post offices in the coun will be closed on Tuesday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day. The lobby will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. and special deliveries and perishable parcels will be delivered. But Guy William Hinebaugh, postmaster, said no mail would be delivered by city, rural or star route carriers.

This means that material, ordinarily received on Tuesday afternoon would not be received before Wednesday afternoon which would cause insurmountable difficulties in getting out the newspaper at the usual time.

Therefore it is necessary that county letters and all advertising material be sent in one day earlier than usual.

Reservoirs Backed To Solve Problems Of Washington

Immediate construction of the Bloomington Dam is among recommendations made in an engineering study to solve water problems of the Washington, D. C. area.

The report was made to the Council of Governments in Washington last Thursday by Abel Wolman and a team of other engineers hired for $50,000 to provide answers to the water shortages which have plagued the Washington area in recent summers.

Mr. Wolman, who distrusts and dislikes the Potomac River because "it is a very erratic river", also said Washington must build reservoirs to control the stream's flow.

In addition to the Bloomington project, which has been planned but for which Congress has failed to appropriate $73 million needed, Mr. Wolman also called for reservoirs at Town Creek and Sideling Hill in Maryland and Little Cacapon in West Virginia as recommended by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Mr. Wolman explained in detail why ground water, estuary uses, seawater conversion, waste water reclamation and division from the Susquehanna River will not work.

Ten years from now, he said, the Potomac River won't work either because of the area's mounting population. A system of reservoirs is needed north of Washington to store the excess water that courses downstream during the winter, he added.

The program marked the moving of the library from the old Broadwater building to the new location made available by the Liberty Trust company.

Grantsville Library Has Open House

The new home of the Grantsville branch of the Ruth Enlow Library was officially opened with a ribbon-cutting ceremony last Saturday evening, followed by a program and an open house which was attended by a large number of interested persons.

Bender, mayor of Grantsville, with Denton Fuller, president of the Liberty Trust company of Maryland, performing the actual ribbon cutting. Richard Harder, of the United Church of Christ, gave the invocation.

The building had been completely remodeled and redecorated.

Dies of Carbon Monoxide Poison

Earl Joseph Sebold, 56, of 310 E. Street, Mt. Lake Park, died last Friday, June 23, at his home after an illness of several years. Death was the result of carbon monoxide poisoning, according to Dr. James H. Feaster, Jr., deputy state medical examiner. Death occurred in the garage of his home.

Born in this county he was a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Sebold, McHenry, and the late Joseph F. Sebold.

A self-employed contractor, he was a former employe of the county roads department. He was a member of Oak Park Church of the Brethren and WOW Camp 11.

Besides his mother he is survived by his widow, Lena Blamble Sebold; a son, James E. Sebold, Mt. Lake Park; a brother, Paul Sebold, McHenry; four sisters, Mrs. Arthur Savage, McHenry; Mrs. Walter Bittinger, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Doyle McCullough, Friendsville; Mrs. Walter Dennis, Uniontown, Pa., and one grandchild.

Two Struck By Car Monday Eve

Two-Year-Old Girl Is In Critical Condition At Medical Center

A two-year old Friendsville girl and her father were struck by an automobile on Monday night near her home along state route 42, and the former is in West Virginia university medical center at Morgantown in critical condition. The father is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

The child, Liza Ann Coddington, and her father, Walter Lee Coddington, 25, were walking along the highway two miles west of Friendsville when they were struck by the automobile. Both were taken to the Garrett County hospital and the little girl later transferred to Morgantown.

The girl sustained severe head injuries, multiple bruises, and abrasions. She was listed yesterday as slightly improved with her condition "satisfactory". The father sustained a fracture of the skull, burns on the chest and back, lacerated forearms and elbow but was listed in "satisfactory" condition this morning.

Also hospitalized as the result of the accident was Helen Jane Moore, 17, of New Oxford, Pa., who was identified by police as being behind the wheel. Her condition also was reported as "satisfactory". Treated at the Oakland hospital and released were Terry Dillsworth, 17, Finksburg; and Calvin M. Lang, 18, of Manchester.

Investigating the accident were Trooper Daniel Tharp and Tfc. John W. Hopf of the Maryland State Police. Hopf said the car apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed, eastbound when it went out of control on a curve, crossed the left side of the road and struck the two.

State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer said from all indications the girl who was under the wheel, was pushed aside by Lang, who occupied the center position, and took charge of the driving.

Authorities charge that Lang grabbed the steering wheel and accelerated the vehicle. The car went out of control, skidded sideways across the roadway, struck an embankment and the two pedestrians. The auto then bounced off the embankment, made a complete turn and finally came to rest in the center of the highway.

Lang and Dillsworth were placed under arrest and were scheduled for hearings this

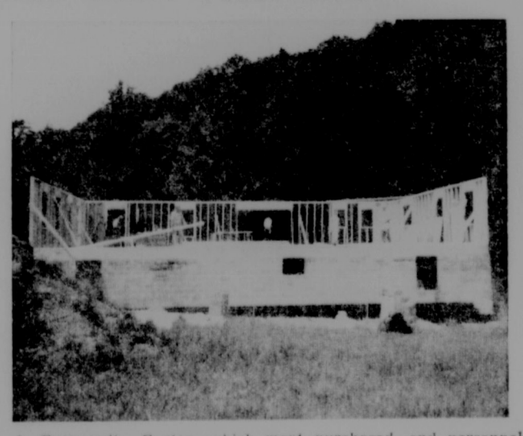
Road Improvement Not Confirmed

There were unconfirmed reports this week that the contract for improvement of the Old Deer Park road, and the construction of a new bridge over the Little Youghiogheny river on South Third street, had been awarded to the George F. Hazelwood Construction company. The actual awarding of the contract, however, has not yet been announced by the State Roads commission.

William Goldsborough, state roads engineer for this district, said however, that definitely the Cumberland Contracting contracting company would begin the black topping of a portion of route 40, starting in July. This includes the stretch from the Layman farm to the Allegany county line, a distance of approximately four miles.

Jennings Community Center Now Under Construction



A Community Center, which is to house a Year-Round Head-Start Program and wide variety of community activitites, is being constructed in the village of Jennings, near Grantsville.

The 36' x 54' building, which is of brick and frame construction, will have a full basement and first floor with classrooms, kitchen and dining room, club rooms, woodworking shop and a combination recreation and meeting room.

The Highland Association, a non-profit educational organization with headquarters at Grantsville, is constructing the building on property purchased by the Association several years ago for this purpose. The Year-Round Head-Start Program funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity through Garrett County's Community Action Program, will occupy most of the main floor, and is slated to open as soon as the building is completed, equipment purchased, and personnel chosen.

A 22-man Policy Advisory Committee has been meeting almost weekly since May 1, laying the groundwork for cooperation between Garrett County CAP, The Highland Association, and residents of the Jennings area. Interested in the building has been running high, and much donated labor has already gone into construction, according to Brad Rinard, director of the Community Action Program in the county. More volunteer help is needed and is earnestly solicited, he said, not only to make the "Highland dollar" stretch a little farther, but also to help make up the required in-kind contribution which OEO asks of all funded programs. Floyd C. Bender, foreman of construction, will be glad for the donated labor of carpenters and brick-layers. He may be contacted almost any day on the building site.

17 Are Killed On Maryland Roads

"In reviewing last week's highway fatality record, it is difficult to pinpoint any one thing as the major contributing factor", commented Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Acting Superintendent of the Maryland State Police. "Although driver error was responsible in all but four of the seventeen deaths, there was quite a variation in the types of driver error involved.

"The situations which led up to the fatal collisions were not unusual ones. Every driver faces them day in and day out. And if he can't - or won't - handle these routine circumstances safely, its very unrealistic to assume that he will be able to cope with emergency situations when they arise."

Lt. Col. Davidson concluded: "Defensive driving is the best possible way to avoid motor vehicle collisions. Although it certainly helps a driver get out of a dangerous situation safely, most important of all it helps him stay out of the dangerous situation in the first place".

Seventeen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the State Police survey. Eight of those killed were drivers; five were passengers; and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in one death, speed in two, and "driver error" was present in thirteen of the fatalities.

County Streams To Be Protected For Recreation

All streams in this county and all in Allegany except the North Branch of the Potomac river and George's Creek will be protected for water contact recreation, according to the 30 pages of water resources regulations presented Tuesday to Governor Spiro T. Agnew by the State Department of Water Resources.

When Gov. Agnew turns over these regulations to the U. S. Department of the Interior, Maryland will be in compliance with the Federal Water Quality Act of 1965.

Water quality standards are established, effective June 30, to control nuisance conditions and to maintain a quality sufficient for survival and general well-being of fish and other aquatic life during periods of migration and passage.

Waters shall be free from four specific nusiances. They are:

1. Substances attributable to sewage, industrial waste, or other waste that will form sludge deposits that are unsightly, putrescent or odorous.
2. Floating debris, oil, grease, scum and other floating materials attributable to sewage, industrial waste.
3. Materials attributable to sewage, industrial waste or other waste which produce taste, odor or change the existing color in the stream to create a nuisance, or that interferes with water uses.
4. High temperature, toxic, corrosive or other deleterious substances attributable to sewage, industrial waste or other waste.

Three of the six portions of streams in this county listed in the regulations are to be protected for public or municipal water supply as well as for water contact recreation and propagation of fish which apply to all streams. They include Youghiogheny river, from West Virginia line to confluence with Little Yough; Casselman river from headwaters to old U. S. route 40 bridge and Maryland portions of Shade Run, Puzzley run, Piney creek. North Branch of the Potomac from Fairfax stone to the dam at Luke; as well as Short Run and Savage river.

Portions not listed for water supply include the rest of Yough river basin, Casselman river from route 40 bridge to Mason-Dixon line and other tributaries of the North Branch. All county waters are to be protected for water contact recreation and propagation of trout.

Parcel Weight Hike In Effect July 1st

Mailers will be able to send 25 pound parcels between first class post offices which are 150 miles or more apart starting July 1, Postmaster Guy Wm. Hinebaugh reminded patrons today. The present weight limit is 20 pounds, he said.

This is the first of five increases scheduled to take effect annually until 1971, when a 40 pound, 84 inch maximum size will be authorized between all first class post offices. Size limitations are now 72 inches in combined girth and length.

The next increase, on July 1, 1968, will raise the weight limit to 30 pounds. On July 1, 1969, the weight limit will be increased from 30 to 40 pounds; on July 1, 1970, the size will be increased to 78 inches; and on July 1, 1971, the size is scheduled to be increased to 84 inches.

Postmaster Hinebaugh also reminded mailers that parcels weighing up to 40 pounds can be mailed between first class post offices less than 150 miles apart. Packages addressed to and from 2nd, 3rd, and 4th class post offices, Alaska and Hawaii are not affected by the increase in size and weight provisions of the Public Law 89-573, which became effective January 15, he said. Parcel post mailings to and from these offices remain at 70 pounds and 100 inches.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

Gormania Charge
The Methodist Church
Samuel Moore, Pastor

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light. Matthew 11:28-30.

The land in which Jesus lived was a land that looked tired, worn, weary. Daily the sun pours forth its wrath of heat. Little swirls of dust roll up with every movement of man or beast. Camels wearily shuffle along bearing heavy burdens. The camel drivers slowly trudge beside their beasts. The women move slowly balancing pots and bundles on their heads. Bearded men looking old before their time work ever so slowly. The whole land is a scene of weariness.

A similar picture of weariness perhaps called to the mind of Jesus the weariness that exists in the lives of individuals. Come unto me....take my yoke.... learn of me ...ye shall find rest.... A strange invitation, indeed. To find peace in a yoke.

Take my yoke upon you. Man must have a yoke in order to fully live. Man is not meant to run wild. Man in order to live needs a purpose. Everyone must feel that he is needed. In the life and person of Jesus Christ man may find purpose in life.

Learn of me. The character of Jesus Christ is dominated by two things. His life was dominated with the proclaiming of God's kingdom and practicing love for human individuals. It is through the life of Jesus Christ that we experience God's love for us. In our experience of God's love as revealed in Jesus Christ we, too, receive new life. A new life that pivots around God's love to us. We, in response, express this love in our lives through our worship of God and Christian service to our fellow men.

I will give you rest. Jesus Christ offers strength for daily living and refreshment to approach each day joyfully. His burden is easy and light. May we liken the easy yoke of Jesus to the plumage of a bird. It is a weight which allows the bird to fly. Being yoked to Christ is an easy weight which allows us to find purpose in daily living. When we rest in the life of Jesus Christ we receive His power which is our easy yoke in this life.

The yoke of Jesus Christ is for union. He bids each of us to receive His yoke giving our lives to His Kingdom and to His service. This sense of personal commitment and personal service is necessary to be truly yoked to Him. Someone has said that Christ might be compared to the Alpine guide who goes ahead but ropes himself to those who follow. What climber would complain of the weight of the rope which links him to his guide? That rope is a yoke that binds us and lifts us. So is the yoke of Christ. It binds man and God together. In the very yoking man become truly free to find real happiness and purpose in life. Come....take my yoke upon you.... ye shall find rest....for my yoke is easy ....my burden is light.

Question

What is ringworm, and is it something that I can take care of by myself?

Answer

Ringworm is not caused by a "worm," and it is rarely found in the form of a ring. Ringworm is a skin rash caused by fungus and moles. Its four most common sites are the feet, scalp, body and nails. The most common of these being ringworm infection of the feet which we call "athlete's foot." Ringworm in the scalp is highly contagious, especially when brushes or combs are not being used on a strictly personal basis. Cats and dogs often have ringworm which is passed on to both children and adults. Self treatment usually tends to prolong the problem and can even bring on further complications. Please, for your own sake, consult your doctor for professional help with this condition.

Gov. Agnew Signs State Tax Statute

Within minutes after it was enacted by a special session of the legislature, Gov. Agnew signed into law last Thursday a bill redistributing to the local subdivisions some $98 million to be collected by a graduated state income tax.

The one-day session was necessitated when the Court of Appeals ruled that the appropriations portion of the taxing measure which provided aid to subdivisions for schools, kindergartens and police protection, was ineffective.

In a message to the General Assembly, the governor expressed his "sincere appreciation for the splendid manner in which you conducted the major business of today's special session. You performed your work expeditiously in removing the legal obstacle to appropriations which are of vital importance to every subdivision of the state".

Passes 35-8

The Senate passed the emergency measure 35-8 while the House gave it approval by a vote of 106-33.

But the victory was bittersweet.

Before the session ended shortly before 6 p. m. the legislature had overridden six of the governor's vetoes, including one removing from his patronage list appointments to the Baltimore County Liquor Board.

The Senate overrode that veto by a vote of 26-15—the slimmest margin possible.

Agnew branded the action as "strictly a matter to place certain political patronage in the hands of the county executive" and said the senators who "spearheaded the bill are clearly in the hands of the gambling interests".

He said gamblers wanted to insure continuation of free-play pinball machines which he termed gambling devices, in county taverns.

"They wanted to take control of the board out of our hands because they were afraid we were going to take action to rid the taverns of these devices", he said.

Passed Over Vetoes

The General Assembly also passed measures over gubernatorial vetoes that would permit the State Roads Commission to borrow funds from the state employes' retirement system to acquire rights of way and prohibit lenders from forcing their clients to take out insurance from specific companies.

Although the new appropriations measure encountered only minor floor resistance, several senators took the opportunity to repeat their opposition to the graduated income tax and the way its proceeds would be distributed.

"The people think they've been sold a bill of goods", proclaimed Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto. County.

"This is the governor's program. Why doesn't he have guts enough to embrace it?

"The papers call it a reform bill. Reforms what? All it does is put a capital gains tax on the people and increase the income tax.

"This bill was sold on the idea that it was going to help the lower income group. I belong to that group, but I'll tell you one thing. Come next April 15, we're all going to be raped right under the provisions of this measure".

But the complaints were primarily for home consumption, and the bill moved easily through both houses and was then signed by the governor. He had called the special session when the court of appeals ruled that a similar measure tacked on the tax reform package and passed by the 1967 General Assembly was ineffective.

Appeals Taken In Two Cases

Appeals were filed in two recent cases heard in the Circuit Court in Oakland.

On June 21 the Garrett County Sanitary Commission filed an appeal against the decision of Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in sustaining a demurrer which the town of Oakland had filed in May.

The judge sustained the demurrer of Oakland to the complaint which the Garrett County Sanitary district, Inc., had filed against it early in April. The sanitary commission had complained that the town was delaying and contradicting plans of the sanitary commission to provide a sewage disposal system for the three municipalities of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn Heights.

The appeal was filed through the Sanitary commission's attorney, Jack R. Turney.

The other appeal came as a result of Judge Hamill's opinion last week giving the Georges Creek Coal company the right to withdraw coal from under the land now owned by the State Department of Forests and Parks. This appeal was filed June 26.

Papers in both actions have been sent to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Reservoir Plan

And to top it off, Mr. Wolman said, a large reservoir should be built at Seneca, in Montgomery County. That suggestion brought a yelp of surprise from COG member William Greenhalgh representing Montgomery County.

Mr. Greenhalgh recalled the 1963 proposal by the Corps of Engineers to build a dam and flood the area around Seneca with a 180-billion gallon reservoir. The proposal was shelved because of protests from citizens, the Interior Department and COG.

concern for the overall pattern of law enforcement in towns and cities.

Thus, at the very least, the administration anti-crime bill should make allowance for the responsibilities to the governors. Indeed it would be wise and proper if the bill were changed so as to give the governors authority to veto anti-crime proposals which they know to be hurtful to the best interests of law enforcement in their states. The states shouldn't be subjected to any federal guidelines on law enforcement.

Fighting crime, however, can be done in other ways. Specifically, the police need to have their authority upheld — authority which has been sharply eroded by decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court. The federal judiciary is making it harder and harder for the police to protect American communities or for prosecutors to prepare an adequate case.

Recently, however, Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the subcommittee on criminal laws of the Judiciary Committee, introduced a much-needed bill, S. 674. This bill provides that any confession shall be admitted in evidence if it is voluntarily given. Trial judges would determine whether a confession is truly voluntary in character.

This Senate bill is designed to correct the U. S. Supreme Court decision in the notorious Miranda case, which made it virtually impossible to secure a conviction of self-confessed criminals in cases where the prosecution must rely upon voluntary confessions of guilt. By its act, the Supreme Court virtually assured the freedom of murderers, for example, who killed without observers and who didn't leave any fingerprints or other evidence.

Passage of the McClellan bill and similar reform measures is the best way to conduct an anti-crime crusade in this county. What is needed is a stregthening of the law, plus greater local and state police action. Crime cannot be fought simply by vast expenditures of dollars from the U. S. Treasury.

Bids Sought for Dam Site Testing

Preliminary work is still being conducted by the Baltimore district of the Corps of Army Engineers on the Bloomington Dam project.

Contractors have been invited to submit bids to test embankments and to test a quarry at the site.

The proposed work consists of performing all operations required to blast a test quarry, process rock materials and construct test fills with excavated and processed rock. It also includes clearing, stripping, controlled excavation and embankment construction. Bids are to be opened July 25.

Army Engineers currently are studying proposals for test boring contracts for along the site of the relocation of the Western Maryland Railway around and above the dam. The projects are being financed out of funds remaining from last year's appropriation for planning the big dam.

For fiscal year 1968, however, no funds were provided in the budget for the dam due to a number of technicalities.

Anti-Crime Measures

Aware of increasing public concern about crime in America, the Johnson administration is pushing hard for enactment of a safe streets and crime control bill. As usual, the Great Society is trying to solve problems of human behavior with vast expenditures. It proposes that $1.35 billion be spent on grant-in-aid programs to the cities of the nation. These grants would be used for anti-crime research and improving police facilities.

Now it is certainly true that police facilities need updating. U. S. towns and cities long have erred in failing to devote sufficient attention and funds to police forces. American policemen, in most communities, are poorly paid. The result is that law enforcement is not attractive employment.

The solution to this problem, and it is developing in well-managed communities, is for the towns and cities themselves to spend more on police functions. Upgrading the police does not require vast federal outlays. In fact, one can be sure that if the federal government starts financing the local police, then it is only a matter of time before the U. S. has a national police force. Such a force is not the kind of tool that should be given to Big Government. The FBI, under director J. Edgar Hoover, has wisely resisted efforts to turn the bureau into that kind of national police agency.

Even if the federal expenditure on police facilites is justified, the administration plan is deficient in one serious area. That is, the governors of states haven't any voice in saying how the federal funds are to be spent.

Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee have tried to give the governors an advisory voice in matters affecting the states, but the administration backers have resisted this proposal.

The GOP representatives are on the right track, however. Governors, after all, are the chief magistrates in the states. They have the ultimate responsibility for the public peace. It is wrong, therefore, for the administration to deny them a voice in planning for police facilities in the states. Moreover, police problems in one community usually have a bearing on police problems in other communities. Thus state government has a legitimate

As part of a nation-wide tribute to the United States Flag, launched by Little League Baseball, the Oakland Little League announced today that appropriate observances will be held Tuesday, July 4, at the Little League field.

McGovern, President and Chairman of the Board of Little League Baseball, called for league personnel, parents and players to unite in a rededication of patriotic significance and a reaffirmation of allegiance to the flag.

McGovern said the nation has been "shocked by the spectacle of flag burning and other acts of desecration". His sentiments were supported locally by President George Stewart of the Oakland Little League in announcing that the league would join others throughout the nation in observance of Independence Day with a Salute to the Flag to which the public has been invited to attend.

Wisp Area Plans Official Opening

Wisp Resort, a $500,000 year-round recreation facility at McHenry, Deep Creek Lake, was set to have its official opening on Friday. It had been unofficially open for business since last fall.

The resort is owned by Recreation Industries, Inc., with David Marple, Oakland, as president. Part of the funds for the construction and expansion came from Small Business Administration loan.

The area, started several years ago with a single ski tow on Marsh mountain, now includes recreation and entertainment for all age groups, James Cropp, manager, stated.

Largest structure is McHenry house which includes a dining room and cafeteria that can seat 300. It also includes the new Bavarian room, decorated by Charles Evans, its manager. There is a dance area, planned for use nightly except Sunday.

The large patio adjacent will be the scene of theatre in the round productions this summer. "Show Boat", directed by Carolyn Lambert, Southern High school music instructor, will be presented several times, and "Sound of Music", in August.

The chair lift used in the winter by skiers will be in operation for trips to the top of the mountain where there is a 60-foot high lookout tower. A Winchester Arms shooting range will open. Skeet and trap shooting are planned.

Real Meaning of Fourth of July To Be Stressed

An effort to bring to the men, women and children of Maryland an understanding and appreciation of the real meaning of the July 4th Observance is being put forth by a group of Maryland citizens.

Churches, schools, industries and other business concerns, organizations in general, are being asked to give special recognition to Independence Day on July 4 at 12 noon. The ringing of bells and the blowing of whistles for a five minute period at that hour is being suggested. Along with this will be the flying of the American flag from sunrise to sunset.

Other states that hear the plan are being asked to conform to this example.

The various historical societies of Maryland, the Daughter of the American Revolution and their chapters, the Sons of the American Revolution and their local groups, and patriotic organizations are cooperating to have the program followed.

A spokesman for the movement has this to say: "Many of us believe it is high time to call dramatic attention to our heritage of freedom. Too many adverse activities, which tend to deprive us of the freedom we won through the American Revolution, are being carried on in our nation. We hope that a program such as this will serve to emphasize that we are still a free people, proud of the fact and willing to proclaim it.

"Our hope is that only will this program be observed throughout Maryland, but that people of the rest of our states will adopt the plan and ring the bells and blow the whistles. This is really the revival of a plan that was in vogue many years ago in various places. Our beautiful flag should be in evidence all day. To show our sentiments will have an influence on law makers, law interpreters and law-enforcers throughout our land. It will help regenerate the patriotism that our nation needs

Parents Solicit Information Concerning Fatal Accident

On Saturday night, August 13, 1966, at approximately 11 P. M. or a few minutes before, two young men from Romney, W. Va., were killed in a collision of two cars, seven miles east of Romney on Route 50.

What is known is that a car containing two couples happened upon the scene at the time of, or immediately after, the accident. One of the couples in this car allegedly had been visiting their grandmother in the Oakland area and were returning east to their home near Washington, D. C. Also one of the men had been, at one time, a member of a rescue unit and he assisted at the scene of the accident. One couple also had moved into a new trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Shields, parents of one of the boys killed, which was their only son, are desperately trying to establish what happened at the scene, and will pay well for information concerning it. There will be no involvement in litigation whatever without consent because their understanding of exactly what happened is far more essential to their peace of mind than any legal entanglements.

If this request is read by the young couple, or possibly by the grandmother who may know about the incident, please be kind enough to contact D. S. Shields, 395 W. Rosemary Lane, Romney, W. Va. Telephone Number—Romney, W. Va., 822-5982.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read you Bible daily.

But these are the dimensions of a statue only. The dimensions of liberty are greater.

And one of these is faith in God!

The desire to worship faithfully and freely according to the dictates of one's own conscience inspired the birth of our Nation.

And to this day, every hymn, every prayer, every act of reverence and service and sacrifice which flows from our hearts toward God . . .

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

No Loitering!

Lesson for July 2, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 13.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 96.

For too many of us, evangelism means welcoming the new church families that move into our community and persuading them to transfer their membership to our church instead of another. This concern, of course, is legitimate, but it is something considerably less than the proper response to: "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations.." The great majority of people who join our churches today — youth confirmands the exception — are persons who already are church members.

Rev. Althouse

But what of the great numbers who are not committed to Jesus Christ? The command was not to seek letters of transfer, but to win people to Christ. We are to seek, not a change of membership, but a change of life. Nevertheless, our evangelism, if we have any at all, seems directed to the "nice" people, the "solid citizens," the people whose lives do not seem to need much in the way of radical change.

More Than Welcome

In our city there is a coffee house sponsored by various churches in the area. Its purpose is to minister to the rootless young adults of the area. As I was speaking of this ministry with someone, they wanted to know: "Are there likely to be any hoods or beatniks coming there?" The words were spoken with distaste. My answer: "I sincerely hope so." God is concerned about these people too: the alcoholic, the dope addict, the "dropout," the "hipster," the delinquent, the homosexual, the bearded and the unwashed.

Too often today we Christians pat ourselves on the back if our church makes an attempt to welcome anyone who happens to cross its threshhold. Yet, necessary as it is for churches to receive all who come, our mission is not one of sitting and waiting. We are called to reach out, to go "where the action is," to the places where we will find those who need the Gospel of Christ. We are too often content to be found when our mission is to go and find.

Not Content To Wait

This is the strategy in Acts 13. The church at Antioch was not waiting for someone to come in; it was willing to be sent forth. When the guidance they sought was given, they set apart two of their own number, commissioned them, and sent them out to find those who needed the Gospel of Christ. They were a congregation that reached out. Once before, when the Mother Church in Jerusalem had come upon hard times, the people at Antioch took up a relief collection for them. Now they were reaching out again.

Barnabas and Paul went forth as preachers, for theirs was an era when people still listened eagerly to the spoken word. Today this is no longer true. Accustomed to television, radio, and ever-present loud speakers, people today turn a deaf ear to street-corner preaching and even close their eyes to tracts, Bibles, and other media. Words seem to have become cheap.

Deeds So Loud

The most effective communication today is witness, deeds that speak so loudly that they cannot be ignored, deeds that make people want to know what is behind them. Those who need our message today, for the most part, will not come to our churches. Nor will they even attend evangelism crusades in tents or public stadiums. We have made it quite clear that before they are acceptable, they must first shave their beards, cut their hair, change their clothes, and stop doing whatever it is they do and we would not.

The "No Loitering" sign should be posted, not for the stranger outside our churches, but the believer within. The "outsider" will not come, so we must go. That is how it was for Paul and Barnabas. It is no less true for us.

More Justice In The Draft

The inequities and unfairness embedded in our archaic selective service laws have been discussed several times in this column and countless times by people throughout the country. The present draft law, which was shaped a number of years ago, has been greatly outdated by changes in the pattern of our population. Only 2870 of those responding to my Sixth District poll last fall were satisfied with the present law. The expiration of the draft this month thus presented an opportunity to make broad and sweeping changes, to make the draft more fair to those who must bear the burdens of the nation's defense, and more efficient in terms of using of the manpower of the United States.

Although many important questions were not resolved, the House Armed Services Committee presented before for debate, a bill which did embody some of the major reforms that were obviously required before the draft could be extended for another four years.

The bill before the House provided for the setting of clear, nationwide standards for draft classification and deferment. I can't think of anything more important to the selective service than that every American in similar circumstances should be treated equally, no matter where he lives. You may recall the case which was brought to my attention this spring by a fourteen-year-old girl from Catonsville, in Baltimore County. She wrote that one of her teachers had been drafted in the middle of the school year, although in other counties teachers are draft exempt. The instance serves only to emphasize the vague and general nature of present national guidelines, and the conflicting policies of local draft boards, which result from this lack of overall direction.

I voted to extend the draft for four years, but did so with major reservations. In the first place, it would have been adequate to extend the measure for only two years. We would thus have had another opportunity to assess after a short or period of time (our manpower needs) in the light of changes in population and in the military and civilian sectors of our society. Also there was not sufficient time in the House debate to carefully discuss and evaluate the problems related to educational deferments.

It is a matter of regret that the Senate, in negotiating and adopting a conference report on the measure showed neither the willingness to accept constructive changes nor the cooperation to adopt the fruits of the House's labors. This report stripped from the measure the important reform made in the establishment of national standards. These standards would not interfere with the legitimate discretion of local boards in individual cases, but would minimize inequities, inconsistencies, and would remove much of the confusion and uncertainty which so many young Americans must now endure.

Because this reform was so diluted by the conferees, I voted against the conference report on the extension of the draft. I felt that it was a retrogressive step, which did not properly acknowledge our great debt to the young men called to military service. I will continue to work for necessary changes in the system, to end the inequities and inefficiency which now persist.

To Present Alice In Wonderland Fri.

Alice will again drop down the rabbit hole into her own wacky Wonderland in a new musical version of "Alice in Wonderland" to be presented at Wisp Ski Resort, Friday, June 30, at 7:30 p. m.

Sponsored by the Oakland Rotary Club and the Maryland Council on the Arts, and produced by the Children's Theatre Association of Baltimore, "Alice in Wonderland" is a live theatre production that will arrive, like a turtle, wearing its theatre on its back—the CTA Showmobile.

Already familiar to many Marylanders through CTA's regular summer Showmobile tours, the Showmobile is a completely equipped theatre on wheels built into a 32-foot trailer. Pulled by a tractor, the Showmobile brings the theatre to you.

For this special tour the company will be evenly divided between professional equity actors and some of CTA's more experienced teen-agers.

Dorothy Wolf, a writer-director who spent eight years as an actress on the musical comedy stage, has provided a script. The score, setting whimsey to music, was composed for this production by James Young Davis.

If Wonderland should be threatened with rain the show will be moved indoors at the Wisp Resort.

Admission to "Alice in Wonderland" is 50 cents for children and adults. All that is needed is something to sit on and a willingness to be entertained.

Good Buys On Potatoes

"New" potatoes from the late spring and early summer crops have become seasonally abundant while "old" crop supplies remain liberal, Mrs. Freda Denison, extension agent, declared this week. She suggested homemakers may want to try these interesting Mexican Potato Balls.

1½ cups hot mashed potatoes, 2 eggs beaten, ¼ tsp. chili powder, ½ tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. powdered dry mustard, 1 tsp. grated onion, 1 tsp. milk, ½ cup shredded cheese ½ cup dry breadcrumbs.

TO PREPARE: Combine potatoes, eggs, seasonings, and milk. Blend cheese and breadcrumbs. Add one-half to the potato mixture. Shape into balls and roll in remaining cheese and breadcrumbs. Fry in deep fat at 380°F. until golden brown. Drain. Makes 4 servings.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

June 22, 1967

To the Editor
Oakland Republican,

As a comparative newcomer to Oakland I have been much impressed with the maintenance and apparent interest taken by the Mayor and Town Council in the upkeep and appearance of their responsibility. In retrospect it seems that the citizens always did follow the example and maintain nice appearing properties. Oakland is a clean and pretty town.

There is one thing which really bothers me, however, and that is the traffic situation along Second St. There are too many cowboys, yes and cowgirls, trying to see how fast they can tear up this street. I have even noted some drag racing. Second street is residential and contains two funeral homes, a bank and the library, uptown from its only stoplight. The street is wide but contains parked cars both sides. It is a dangerous race track. Normally it seems Third St., as part of US 219 would bear all of the traffic except Second St. residents, but this is not the case. Possibly you can figure out why?

In relation to the above there is one suggestion I would like to make, which might relieve the situation. I do believe it warrants consideration. There is ample reason for a through thorofare from Third street to the Country Club, so change the direction of one stop sign and break up Second street's speedway.

Seven Explorer scouts from Potomac Council, BSA, were delegates to region III explorer delegate conference held on Tuesday at the U. S. Naval academy, Annapolis.

Woodrow Perry Upole, Deer Park, paid $58 and costs for having an overload on his truck.

Richard E. Cunningham, Steubenville, Ohio, pleaded guilty to failing to keep to right of center of the highway and paid $10 and costs.

Paul Jerome Geary, Jr., Bentleyville, Pa., paid $5 for having an unsafe vehicle.

William Glenn Ashby, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle with no registration and paid $10 and costs.

Joseph Esposito, Jr., Pittsburgh, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of failing to obey a stop sign but was found guilty and fined $5 and costs.

Joyce Ann Rinker, Accident, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to drive on the right side of the highway but was found guilty and fined $15 and costs. The fine and costs were suspended.

Donald Clyde Landis, Kitzmiller, paid $15 for passing over a "keep to the right" roadway marker. He also paid $30 and costs on a charge of leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

James Lynn Smith, Mt. Lake Park, paid $10 for depositing unsanitary material on the highway.

Alan Eugene Sisler, Smithfield, Pa., paid $25 and costs for spinning the rear wheels on his motor vehicle.

Carl D. Perrin, Fort Pierce, Fla., paid $15 and costs on a charge of following another vehicle too closely.

Richard Paul Descutner, McDonald, Pa., paid $15 on a charge of failing to grant right of way when entering a public highway.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws. CLIP AND SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE.

Questions and Answers

Q. Last month's bank statement showed the check I sent you for 1966 taxes had been cashed. Does that mean my return was OK?

A. No, it does not. Payments sent in with returns are deposited at once.

According to the law, IRS generally has three years from the due date of the return to question any item. If fraud is suspected, this three-year limitation does not apply.

Q. I teach in high school and plan to take a course this summer. Will I be able to deduct my tuition costs?

A. The costs of your education this summer may or may not be deductible depending on the circumstances. If the course is taken to maintain or improve the skills needed on your present job, is required by the school or taken because you need the credits to retain your position, the costs will be deductible. It will not be deductible if it were taken to meet the minimum requirements of your employment trade, or business or to qualify you for a new trade or business.

Q. Where can I find someone to represent me on a tax case appeal?

A. Contact your local accounting, bar or tax practitioner association. They can give you the names of those qualified to represent you.

Q. My refund got held up because of a mistake I made in my Social Security number. Couldn't they just go by my name and address?

A. A number is the only positive identification because so many taxpayers have the same name. Names change, too, as marital status changes. A name in combination with an address presents problems as so many people move each year.

Congress passed a law several years ago requiring individuals to use tax identification numbers. Social Security numbers were selected for this purpose because most taxpayers already had one.

This number should be placed all individual tax returns filed, correspondence with IRS concerning returns, payments for tax liabilities and similar documents. The number should also be given to savings institutions to identify interest and dividend payments.

Q. I just started withholding social security tax for my maid. Do I have to take out for income tax too?

A. No. Household employees are exempt from income tax withholding. The next quarterly installment for social security taxes is due July 31, on Form 942.

Q. I got an extension of time to file my return. Will I be charged interest when I do file and pay what I owe?

A. Yes, you will have to pay interest on the unpaid balance. The annual interest rate is 6 percent. The interest you owe should be added to your tax liability and the total sum paid when you file.

MOM'S IN FAST COMPANY

...SINCE SHE GOT A NEW FLAME

Mom's new flame gives her something in common with a pretty exciting crowd—over 90% of all professional chefs.

They're all cooking with Gas. For several sound reasons.

Gas cooks faster than electricity. Chefs who supervise the preparation of hundreds of meals a day just haven't time to wait for pokey electric ranges to heat up or cool down.

These men and women whose reputations depend on their cooking choose Gas ranges because Gas cooks better than electricity... makes food taste better and look more appetizing. The 1,001 shades of heat that only a modern Gas range can give lets them—and you—bake, broil, braise, saute, simmer or stew with complete control.

People who cook for a restaurant full of discriminating gourmets—and people who cook for a kitchen full of hungry kids—know they can count on Gas ranges to let them be the good cooks they are.

Generating Unit Back In Service At VEPCO Plant

The second 553,000 kilowatt generating unit at Vepco's large Mt. Storm station in West Virginia was returned to service on June 19 after a five-month outage for major repairs, according to Vepco President John M. McGurn.

Unit No. 2 was extensively damaged on January 22 during an emergency shutdown following the explosion of two 500,000 volt circuit breakers. Repairs were begun immediately but major components of the unit had to be returned to the manufacturer for rebuilding.

The 1,106,000 kilowatt Mt. Storm station and connecting 500,000 volt transmission loop to system load centers were completed in 1966. No trouble has been experienced with the first 553,000 kilowatt unit installed in 1965.

McGurn said "this further increases the reserve capacity of Vepco and the CARVA Pool. With this unit in service the surplus over and above that required to meet Vepco's load will be made available to neighboring utilities".

Leigh Sylvester Is Bride Of James A. Kreyenbuhl

Miss Leigh Pamela Sylvester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Sylvester, North Second street, Oakland became the bride of James Arthur Kreyenbuhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kreyenbuhl, route 1, Oakland, on Saturday, June 10.

The ceremony was solemnized in St. Peter's Catholic church, Oakland, with Rev. Regis Larkin, pastor, officiating. Vases of chrysanthemums and pompons, daisies, and palms were used in the decorations.

Miss Danna Whitten, Boston, was the bride's maid of honor, while Heidi Sylvester, Christine Kreyenbuhl, sisters of the couple, and Miss Joyce Warren, Salem, Mass., were bridesmaids. Kathryn and Angela Kreyenbuhl were flower girls and Christopher Bean, Romney, was ring bearer. Victor Pritts, Oakland, served as best man. Carl Kreyenbuhl, Robert Kreyenbuhl, Dennis Brown, Rockville, and Douglas Bean, Romney were ushers.

The traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Marcella Kerins, and Joseph DiSimone was vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in an Empire design gown of silk organza over taffeta, and short sleeve bodice of Alencon lace, embroidered in seed pearls and matching medallions on the controlled skirt and detachable train. Her three-tiered ballerina-length veil of imported silk illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of carnations centered with three white cymbidium orchids.

Her maid of honor wore mint green and the bridesmaids, pink and matching veils and carried feathered carnations also matching their gowns which were in Empire style with brocade bodice and crepe skirts. The flower girls had the traditional pink rose petals.

Mrs. Sylvester was attired in a mint green ensemble with floral accessories. Mrs. Kreyenbuhl chose emerald green with boue accessories. Each had a corsage

The bride is a graduate of Leominster, Mass., High school, and attended Fitchburg (Mass.) State college and Frostburg State college. The bridegroom is a graduate of Southern High school, Oakland, and has been the golf professional at the Oakland Country club for six years. In the winter months for the past five years he has been the pro at Thunderbird Country club, Phoenix, Ariz.

Students To Study Natural Science At First Hand

Busloads of school children will be traveling Maryland highways this summer from Deep Creek Lake to Ocean City studying natural science at first hand, visiting historic landmarks, and camping out, the Maryland State Department of Education reports.

Three groups of eighth graders from Washington County will visit the Antietam Civil War Battlefield, Friendship International Airport, Fort McHenry, the U. S. Naval Academy, Calvert Cliffs, the Chesapeake Bay Bridge, Crisfield, Ocean City and other sites aboard an air-conditioned bus. Other educational bus trips are scheduled for Garrett and Cecil County school children.

Planning for the "classroom on wheels" began last November, according to Ronald L. Criss, Washington County school official. The purpose is to increase students' awareness of their environment and to create a body of common experience that teachers will be able to build on to make learning more meaningful.

But the $60,000 summer program won't be all fun for students. They'll make beds, wash dishes, help pitch tents, help in meal preparation, and perform other general chores. Youngsters taking part in the trip are from low income neighborhoods in urban and farm areas of the county. Most have never been away from home before.

A traveling education project has also been approved for Garrett County as part of its summer outdoor program. Two "teaching tours" are planned, the first from July 3 to 7, and the second from August 7 to 11. About a hundred 8th graders who will visit some of the same sites as the Washington County group will also visit Veneer and Wood Products Indusutry and Marvel Packing Company, both in Hebron, and Crisfield Seafood Processing Laboratory, Crisfield.

Many of the Garrett 14-year-olds will be seeing the ocean for the first time when they journey to Assateague Island and Ocean City. These tours are only part of Garrett County's summer-long educational project centering around a 137-acre mountain site in Western Maryland where campers will study planned conservation of their natural surroundings and participate in citizenship training.

Cecil's federally sponsored supplemental eduucational project will operate on a budget of $41,000. The Garrett and Washington County programs are also federally funded, but those programs are for children from low-income families.

VOLUME 91. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JULY 6, 1967 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 19.

Bulwark of Liberty . . .

"What constitutes the bulwark of our own liberty and independence? It is not our frowning battlements, our bristling sea coasts, our army and our navy. These are not our reliance against tyranny. All of those may be turned against us withouut making us weaker for the struggle.

"Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defence is in the spirit which prized liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere. Destroy this spirit and you have planted the seeds of despotism at your own doors.

"Familiarize yourselves with the chains of bondage and you prepare your own limbs to wear them. Accustomed to trample on the rights of others, you have lost the genius of your own independence and become the fit subjects of the first cunning tyrant who rises among you".

This was read aloud every Fourth of July, for a number of years by Abraham Lincoln, and was recorded by him at Edwardsville, Ill., on Sept. 11, 1858.

John Durst Being Flown Home From Budapest

John O. Durst, Jr., of Oakland, is being flown from Budapest, Hungary, to New York's Kennedy airport today, and will then be flown to the Morganport airport, and picked up there in an ambulance and brought to Garrett County Memorial hospital.

Arrangements for his removal were made by his father, John O. Durst, Sr., and Dr. Joseph Alvarez, who flew to Hungary from Dulles airport near Washington, arriving in Budapest on Tuesday.

There was some confusion this morning when Mrs. Durst was informed that the reservation for the stretcher case had been cancelled on Pan American airways, and it was thought that there would be no connections today. But a telephone call later informed her that a better connection had been made with a Swiss airline and that they would arrive in New York at 3:50 this afternoon. There was a possibility that they might land at the McHenry airport instead of Morgantown, since there would still be plenty of daylight.

The young man was critically injured in an automobile accident some three weeks ago while touring in Europe with several friends from Potomac State College. Durst was in an automobile occupied by William Gallier, history professor at Potomac State, his wife, and a fellow student. Traveling at night in a fog they crashed into a horse drawn vehicle. Durst sustained a fracture of the skull and concussion and remained in an unconscious condition for a number of days. He underwent surgery and was listed as somewhat improved. He was the only person injured in the collision which occurred the night of June 14.

Seeks Declaration On What Liquor Bills To Follow

A declaration seeking to determine which legislative bills passed at the last session of the legislature concerning the county liquor laws should take precedence, was filed yesterday afternoon in the Circuit court by Jack R. Turney, attorney to the Garrett County Liquor Control board.

Some of the bills were signed into law April 14, 1967, while house bill 1125 was signed May 4. The declaration sets out that the passage of the bills has caused irreconcilable conflicts.

The conflicts chiefly concern the cost of licenses and the amount of profit that may be charged when the beverage is sold in wholesale lots to clubs and other license holders.

The license was changed from $500 to $800 in some instances but the bill which was signed later still keeps the price at $500 for clubs. One bill says the amount prohibits clubs from selling in case lots in excess of 10 percent, while in another bill the amount is set at 20 percent.

All liquor bills including House bills 768, 878, 880, 767, 769, 870, 871, 872, 879 and 1.125, are filed as exhibits with the declaration.

The declaration says that the legislative intent is not properly effectuated by the enactment of H. B. 1125 which nullified and invalidated certain prior house bills.

A hearing on the matter is set for Friday morning at 10 o'clock before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, in the Circuit court here.

Curtailment Of Roads Program Hits Freeway

The State Roads Commission disclosed this week that it will cost about $403 million to complete Maryland's current primary and secondary highway construction program, some $121 million more than anticipated three years ago.

To stay within the $282.1 million authorized for the Six Year Program, the Commission said a "drastic curtailment" appears necessary.

It attributed the increased costs of the program, which is scheduled to end June 30, 1970, to rising construction and right-of-way costs, costly new safety requirements and insufficient time allowances.

In addition, the Commission's eight-page report to State and county officials said that the original estimates for many projects "did not fully recognize the scope of the work necessary to provide an adequate facility, and hence were low".

Furthermore, the report pointed out that if "certain desirable and needed augmentations to proposed projects" are included - such as improved design and safety features - the program's total cost would be $450 million, requiring an additional $168 million for its completion.

In separate letters to county officials and legislators, however, Jerome B. Wolf, Chairman-Director of the Commission, said that the Commission believes there may be a feasible alternative to the curtailment which now seems necessary.

He said it is studying the revenue problem, and will later offer recommendations for completion of the program.

The program, begun in 1964, provides funds for a major program of primary and secondary highway construction in the 23 counties.

On the basis of estimates as of last Friday, which marked the halfway point of the program, the accompanying letters showed that only Cecil and Talbot counties have sufficient funds left to complete all program projects without exceed-

Mercury Drops to Low 40s Tuesday

The unprecedented cold weather of the past few days dropped the mountain temperatures to the low 40s, but the possibility of frost did not materialize.

There was a variety of weather on the Fourth of July with torrents of rain and hail in some areas. Cloud movements were unusual during a portion of the afternoon, and this pattern was followed by dropping temperatures.

The weather had moderated somewhat by Wednesday with partially clearing skies but the cool breezes remained. There was an additional light rainfall during Wednesday night with continued cloud cover this morning. There was a rise in temperature however with the mercury showing 62 degrees by 9:30.

There was also rainfall on Sunday.

Council Opposes Strip Mine Decision At Westernport

In the interest of protecting water sources and other natural resources of the Western Maryland forests and parks, the city council of Westernport went on record Monday night as opposing the recent judgment of Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill in his opinion regarding strip mining rights.

Judge Hamill ruled that the Georges Creek Coal and Land company had the right to strip mine for coal in the Savage River state forest.

A delegation of area sportsmen asked council to encourage an appeal of the case, pointing out that pollution had affected 27 major trout treams. Council will ask Governor Spiro T. Agnew and other officials to take action necessary to guard against pollution of streams and protect the soil, timber and wildlife.

The case already has been appealed.

At three o'clock the service of consecration will take place in the church sanctuary. The Reverend Charles W. Paskel, District Superintendent of the Romney District, will deliver the sermon. The pastor will assist in the service.

Schaeffer, Chairman; Ralph Dotson, Wallace Hanlin, Walter Hanlin, Don Kitzmiller and Carl J. Moreland.

On October 26, 1961, Bishop Fred G. Holloway dedicated the church for the purpose of worship. A formal consecration service is possible only after the church structure is debt free. The $53,000 structure became debt free in April of 1966.

Principal speaker was Dr. Verne E. Chatelain, emeritus professor in history at the University of Maryland. Dr. Chatelain pointed out that Maryland was unique and unusual in the nation's history as it controlled the great routes of expansion for the nation and was the only colony formed definitely for religious freedom and tolerance.

He stressed the fact that the type of nation we have today was the result of a resolution passed in 1776 which determined that the larger colonies would cede their western lands to the new union. He termed Maryland's role in the Civil War of tremendous importance.

He urged the preservation of history by protecting historical resources, marking roads, trails, historical sites and keeping the region attractive and bright so that tourists will continue to be attracted here in greater and greater numbers.

He considered it of utmost importance to conserve and use wisely the resources which already were here, and made a plea for persons not to squander our heritage and not to destroy it.

Lewis R. Jones served as master of ceremonies and musical entertainment was provided by Mrs. Jay Bell, soloist, with accompaniment by Mrs. Merritt Feather.

Over 155 persons attended the event, which exceeded by twenty-two the number at last year's dinner, and was the largest attendance in history.

Prison Terms Meted Out To Two Traversers

Eleven Charges Are Filed Against Two Men After Wreck

Prison sentences totaling two years and 120 days for one person and six months and 80 days for another on eleven different charges, with several fines also being levied, were meted out last Thursday by Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney as the result of the automobile wreck last week which injured several persons, one critically.

Given the sentences were Calvin Mathis Lang, Jr., of Manchester, 18; and Terry Lang Dillsworth, 17, of Finksburg.

Lang received one year sentences for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and for reckless driving.

He also received 30 days in jail for unlawfully having in his possession as a minor, alcoholic beverages; misrepresenting his age to obtain liquor, 30 days plus $25 and costs; 60 days for being drunk and disorderly at the Garrett County Memorial hospital on the night of the wreck. He also was fined $25 and costs for failing to drive to the right of the center of the highway; purposely squealing tires, $25 and costs, and for driving without a license, $25 and costs.

Dillsworth received a six months sentence for displaying and possessing a fraudently altered operator's license, displaying and representing it as his own which was not issued to him. He also received 60 days in jail for unlawfully having in his possession as a minor, alcoholic beverage, and 20 additional days for misrepresenting his age to obtain liquor. The fines for Lang totaled $100.

It was brought out at the hearing that Lang, who occupied the center seat in the front where three were riding, grabbed the steering wheel from Helen Jena Moore, 17, of New Oxford, Pa., identified as the original driver of the car, and took charge of the driving.

A hitchhiker testified that at times the car was going one hundred miles per hour. The car went out of control on a turn some two miles west of Friendsville, skidded sideways across the roadway, struck an embankment and two pedestrians. The auto then bounced off the embankment, made a complete turn and came to rest in the center of the highway.

Critically injured was Liza Ann Coddington, age 2. Seriously injured was her father, Walter Lee Coddington, 25. Both were brought to Garrett County Memorial hospital and the little girl then transferred to the West Virginia university medical center in Morgantown. She was listed as improving. Mr. Coddington remains a patient in the local hospital. Also hospitalized was Miss Moore. Treated and released were Lang and Dillsworth, and also the hitchhiker, who was not identified.

Both Lang and Dillsworth were taken to the state penitentiary and delivered to the custody of the Commissioner of Correction, who will determine where the prisoners are to be incarcerated.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Independence Day

It is my sincere hope that you and your family have enjoyed the pleasures that are traditional in America as we commemorate the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. The Fourth of July is the most American of our holidays, and the most important of the year because it signifies and symbolizes the important qualities and ideals that have differentiated America from the rest of the world.

Some pessimists among us can often be heard declaring that the spirit of liberty and personal independence which gave rise to the first Fourth of July is on the wane. I'm more optimistic than that.

I believe that Americans today are as free as they have ever been, and that the range of freedom may be expanding. The fact that there are many more of us than there were on July 4, 1776 has led to some necessary regulations. The thirteen colonies, with a sparse population of two million Americans, obviously did not need highway speed limits, zoning restrictions, voting codes, and housing ordinances. All these things are the very product of our success as a nation. The important reality is that the spirit of freedom does continue. The search for freedom under changed circumstances and in a different environment is still as active and vigorous as in 1766.

One example of the continuity of this spirit is the fact that on this July 4th an act of Congress requiring freedom of information from government agencies has become effective. The Freedom of Information Act requires every federal agency to make available to the American public most information that any citizen may seek. Exceptions to this ruling would occur only in those fairly rare cases where individual employment data is involved or where the information comes under some specific category of security, which, as a matter of national interest, exempts it from public exposure.

This bill sets a great precedent. For the first time Federal bureaucrats and officials can't become possessive about the public business they conduct. They must expose their business to public scrutiny so that judgments may be made, mistakes may be criticized and merit may be praised. If, in the future, after this Independence Day, an official refuses to make information available, the citizen who seeks it can go to court to determine whether this information was properly or improperly withheld.

In the state of Maryland we are this year engaging in the search for freedom as our ancestors did in 1776. We are preparing to assemble a constitutional convention which will, I hope, frame a more equitable and efficient structure for state government.

Hopefully the new constitution will give us even better opportunities to exercise both the privileges and responsibilities of freedom in our Free State.

I believe we can take great pride in the fact that on this Independence Day of 1967, as on the first Independence Day in 1776, we as Americans are letting freedom ring.

Bad Business . . .

Those who see no relationship between profits and jobs may find it illuminating to read the "obituary" of an enterprise that was forced to close its doors permanently because of strikes and wage demands. This particular enterprise was the New York World Journal Tribune—formerly three papers. The closure of the publication was attributed to the "intransigence of the unions".

A statemen on behalf of the owners said, "In the first six months of our operation we had a total of 55 harassing disputes of which 18 resulted in actual work stoppages". The statement also disclosed that the paper has been losing $700,000 a month and that the owners had contributed more than $100 million to keep it alive. About $8 million in severance pay was paid to the paper's 2,500 employees—2,500 employees whose jobs no longer exist because their employer could no longer operate his publication at a profit.

The security of all of us depends upon profits. When profits go, jobs go. The two are inseparable. Those who damn the profit motive and profits are working to destroy the means by which we live. —Industrial News Review.

Calls Canal Barge Excellent Asset

Congressman Charles McC. Mathias called launching of a new Chesapeake and Ohio canal barge "a good step toward making the canal a recreational asset equal to the waterways of Europe.

Mathias said we had "barely begun to develop the potential for appealing, relaxing recreation on the doorstep of our nation's capital." He urged prompt action on a house bill to restore and improve the canal.

He said the use of the canal was increasing rapidly and investment in development of the canal would bring great dividends.

The new canal barge began regular tours this past weekend and will be in operation all summer. Current schedule calls for hour-long trips upstream from Great Falls several times a day.

Wed June 17 In Friendsville

Miss Linda Lee Fisher became the bride of George Clayton Edwards in a candlelight service at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, June 17, in the Friendsville Methodist church. Rev. George Lovelace performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher, Friendsville, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Stella Edwards and the late C. Clayton Edwards, Grantsville.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli, palms and lighted candelabra. Mrs. Lucille Sines provided traditional nuptial selections on the organ and sang "The Lord's Prrayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white silk organza with a fitted bodice of imported Chantilly lace. The bouffant skirt with a cathedral hemline was adorned with appliqued lace motifs and bows. The lace bodice of the gown was styled with a sabrina neckline and sleeves that tapered to points over the hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a pill box crown trimmed with tiny seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and daisies.

Mrs. Jo Ann Robinson, Friendsville, sister of the bride was the matron of honor. The bridemaids were Christine Thomas, Friendsville, cousin of the bride, Lou Ann Huff and Arlene Duckworth, both of Hyattsville. They were attired in matching floor length gowns in rainbow colors. The A-line skirt tell from an empire waistline separated from the bodice with a moss green velvet ribbon. The white long sleeved bodice was adorned with embroidered flowers that matched the pale hues of the skirts, pink, blue, yellow and orchid. They wore picture hats that matched their gowns and carried colonial bouquets of daisies tinted in rainbow hues. Terry Jo Robinson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length yellow gown and matching headpiece. Randy Robinson, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a blue and white brocade dress with white accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage. The mother of the groom wore a yellow and white tent style dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

Best man was Ross J. Selby, Rockville, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were Michael Sines, Friendsville, Bill Frickey and Joe McKenzie, Grantsville.

A reception was held in the social room of the church immediately following the wedding. Mrs. Raymond Thomas, aunt of the bride, served the four-tiered wedding cake assisted by Mrs. Donna Selby, sister of the groom. Mrs. Clare Ewing and Mrs. Mabel Yutzy, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Honey Edwards, aunt of the groom, served the punch. Mrs. Joyce Skidmore, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Pat Steyer, cousin of the bride, served cake. Refreshments were arranged by Mrs. Jean Selby, Mrs. Ethel Kelly and Mrs. Prema Bowser.

The couple are graduates of Northern High School. The bride was employed by the Dept. of Agriculture, Hyattsville. The groom is a student at Fairmont State College majoring in Business Administration and is a member of the varsity football squad.

For their trip to Florida, the bride chose a bright green and white checked sheath dress with matching plain green sheer coat with beige accessories.

Question

Will you please explain the meaning of the word emphysema and what damage it causes to the ability to breathe easily?

Answer

Our word "emphysema" comes from the ancient Greek word which meant "inflation." Emphysema is caused when the air sacs in the lungs break down to the point where the air that would normally be exhaled is not totally released. Emphysema is the result of this continually increasing volume of trapped air which is constantly being inhaled into the lungs without means of normal escape. Emphysema is this continued inflation of the lungs through their inability to release (exhale) all air that has been inhaled.

Review of The Play

" THE FANTASTICKS"

With the opening of the musical, "The Fantasticks", this week, the thirteenth year of the Garrett County Playhouse has been well launched! This light musical fantasy will continue to run each evening at 8:30 through Saturday. Familiar faces with rare exceptions, are to be seen in this production. Producer-Director Gene Yell, Professor of Drama at the University of New Mexico, has once again brought to the Garrett County area a musical hit from the Broadway stage. Not only is this week's offering a well chosen 'opener' for the 1967 season, but the cast itself has been selected with great care. Neil Flanagan returns for his eighth season with the Playhouse, this year in the role of director of productions, and for this week, in the part of Henry, an old moth-eaten actor, who loves to quote Shakespeare, even if they turn out to be 'misquotes'. The music is under the direction of Miss Carolyn Lambert, music teacher at Southern High School.

"The Fantasticks", based on the play, "Les Romantiques", by Edmund Rostand, is the brainchild of Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt. It first opened in an off-Broadway theater in 1960, and has since played in more than 200 cities in the United States, and in 25 foreign countries, including Yugoslavia and Sauda Arabia. This does not include a television adaptation which was presented on N.B.C. in the fall of 1964. The extremely simple settings make it an easy vehicle for the trained as well as the untrained actor.

The current play is the story of a very simple child-like romance, played with a sophisticated innocence. An invisible wall separates the boy and girl, played respectively by Philip Nicholson and Brenda Gardner. As the fathers of the two young people appear, hostility seems to break out, for the boy and girl feel there is opposition to their intended romance. Little do they know that the fathers are plotting an escapade to bring about the romance of these two. Although Bellomy, the girl's father, convincingly played by Paul Thomas, his second year for local theater-goers, would much prefer raising vegetables to raising a daughter, he nevertheless goes along with the plot. While the two lovers must necessarily suffer much disillusionment from the cold, hard world of reality, the pain of it all eventually drives the two innocent victims back to a renewed appreciation of each other. Neither the boy nor the girl seem to grasp the meaning of the complications that arise, for all seems innocent enough.

The entire show moves along with great rapidity in its two acts. James Libby, a great favorite of the Playhouse 'regulars', who first appeared in 1965, proves once again his ability to handle the role of the father of the young lover, Matt. This is the first opportunity to hear him do a musical number, and it is an exceptional performance.

Luisa, the young innocent girl who is 'madly' in love - and we use the word madly in its broadest sense - is portrayed by professional actress, Brenda Gardner, of New York. This is one of those 'once-in-a-lifetime' occasions when the Playhouse management has truly outdone itself to offer a player of the caliber of Miss Gardner. She leaves after this production to do "Kiss Me Kate." The playgoer has a rare treat in store, for she proves through the quality of her voice, and her portrayal of the character in which she is cast, that her capabilities are unlimited.

Susan Stoner, who is appearing for the second time locally, and who has already made a name for herself in the theater on the East Coast as well as in Europe, is playing the part of the mute in "Fantasticks." She moves about the simply-furnshed stage with such ease and grace, that one is hardly conscious of her presence. However, she lends the whole production the "magic" touch that is so necessary in the total effects. She gives the viewer the appearance of one weaving the threads of a delicate tapestry.

Tom Thomasson—Mortimer in "Fantasticks"—and who is billed as "the man who dies", does so with great dramatic effect. If his manner of dying seems a bit overdone, let it be said that without the histrionics, the role in which he is cast, would be of none effect, and something would be lost.

The last to appear, but far from the least important, is the familiar face of Milburn Mehlhop, whose voice is of top quality, and who comes in the character of El Galla, a Mexican. He it is who is the real conspirator, and carries off his part with great dramatic effect. It is good to have Milburn back on the "boards" again.

If you are looking for a play that does not say "pay attention", but asks that you relax and "Try to Remember," then this week's offering at the "Blue Barn" of the Garrett County Playhouse on Beckman's Peninsula is the play for you and your family.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON
President—National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

During the year 1967 our National Education Program and its counterpart the American Citizenship Center on the campus of Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City, will be in forum sessions with thousands of high school and college youth leaders from coast to coast. This will constitute a great expansion of our work with youth, to mobilize the burgeoning leadership strength and the enthusiasm of youth in a "Cause" — this "Cause" being the preservation of our freedom-giving and prosperous American way of life.

It will be my privilege to give the keynote address and the closing challenge at youth citizenship forums in many states, attracting young high school and college leaders from perhaps 40 states this year. We had such leaders from 26 states at the Freedom Forum X-XVIII in Searcy, in April, and we will have another 10 or 12 states represented among the several hundred conferees at our June Forum in Searcy; we had 800 Youth in our citizenship forum in Oklahoma City in February; and hundreds will attend forums to be held in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Texas and Oklahoma during June, July, and August.

Back in the Thirties, I was a bit amazed at how Hitler was able to captivate the youth of Germany. All the young Germans I met were enthusiastically sold on Hitler. He came next after the God of the Universe. He was wonderful (in their eyes). He had simply challenged those youth, challenged them to help him make a better world, and he convinced them that he needed them. They were ready to die for him, and a lot of them did. It took World War II to stop the ambitious schemes of Hitler, but his ability to hypnotize the German youth continued until his death.

Our American Heritage is truly wonderful.

It has given us more personal freedom than any other society has ever experienced. It is my conviction that if we could ask the people of the past 6,000 years what they would have desired most, we would find them saying "personal freedom". Man's greatest desire through the ages has been personal freedom. In America we are free to choose to live in any state in the Union; we are free to choose our own vocation; we are free to choose our own college, private or state; we have freedom of Speech, freedom of Religion, freedom of Press. All these are but parts of our basic personal freedom.

If we could learn what man's second great desire has been through the ages, I think we would find it to be, "economic well-being". In America we have used our freedom to create the greatest measure of economic well-being ever known, twice better than Western Europe, at least four-times better than Communist Russia, and probably 50 times better than is available to the masses of China, India and most of Africa.

The third basic want which is gratified through the American system is Faith in God. Man created in the image of God cannot be content with just personal freedom and economic well-being; he craves spiritual understanding, a foundation of faith. And in America that opportunity is wide-open.

These are thoughts which, when expanded, are arousing the zeal of America's youth — and the zeal of American youth is inspiring our Forum staffs to work all the harder and look forward hopeful, to a secure America.

Roads Program

ing the funds allotted to each county.

Calvert, Charles, Harford, St. Mary's, Somerset and Wicomico counties, on the basis of contracts already awarded and current estimates, will have exceeded the funds allotted to them for the entire program by the end of the program's first four years.

In all other counties, estimated expenditures for the full six years exceed the total authorized for each by the entire program.

The report also emphasized that the same time and cost factors have affected ten additional construction projects which were subsequently included in a $60 million bond issue approved by the Legislature. Their total cost is now increased to about $98 million.

One of the bond issue projects is the proposed National Freeway in Western Md., which is part of the Appalachian Program developed by the Federal Government and the Appalachian States, including Maryland. The bond issue provided $10 million to inaugurate this project, to be matched by Federal funds.

According to the report, an estimated additional sum of $28.5 million beyond the initial $10 million appropriated will be required to inaugurate construction of the National Freeway - with the Federal Government matching the increased construction costs.

In summary, the report stated that:

1. "The estimated monies which must be spent to complete all construction projects, including bond issue projects - plus the cost of changes where reevaluation of specific projects indicates that improvements are now desirable - total $560 million".

2. An additional $218 million, beyond funds now available, would be needed to complete all scheduled construction projects and the "desirable and necessary augmentations to proposed projects".

In discussing the factors which have increased the program's costs and resulted in the fact that it is "already severely lagging", the Commission referred to the 1964 study of the program's first year by Roy Jorgensen and Associates, highway engineering consultants.

The so-called Jorgensen Report said the estimated time allowed for right-of-way acquisition, design and completion of construction during the program's first year was "overly optimistic".

"This forecast has been borne out in the two subsequent program years", said the Commission's report on the Program.

"Beyond this scheduling problem", the report added, "it should be noted that enormously increased costs have been experienced in right-of-way acquisition. There has also been an increasing need to give greater attention to safety requirements. This has necessitated an increase in right-of-way widths, sight distances and many other technical improvements which provide added driving security to highway users".

The report observed that construction costs have "continued to rise at a rather rapid rate, averaging about five percent per year since the initiation of the program".

Finally, the report said, the Commission's workload and spending has been substantially increased by the authorization of other projects "not originally programmed".

Vietnam Villagers Treated By Sailors

The officers and men of USS GARRETT COUNTY recently conducted a civic action project in the Mekong Delta town of Vam Lang, Republic of Vietnam. This was the first such project sponsored by the FBR support ship and it was a success, particularly with the children of the town.

Early one morning three officers and twenty members loaded one of the ship's LCVP's with medical supplies, soap, surplus "C" rations, and various other items to be presented to the people of Vam Lang. Also on board was a teeter-totter and several swings to be presented to the local school.

When the LCVP arrived at the wharf near the market place a cheerful crowd of people quickly gathered. Also on hand to greet the GARRETT COUNTY group was the Army Advisor to the province.

The group proceeded to the local schoolhouse followed by a band of about one hundred of the villagers. Enroute the size of the crowd increased as more of the townspeople began to tag along. At the schoolhouse the teeter-totter and swings were quickly erected and then the children took charge. They swarmed over the new toys and their excitement was quickly transmitted to everyone present.

GARRETT COUNTY's hospital Corpsman, HM-1 John Cottingham, set up shop in one of the classrooms and began dispensing soap, aspirins, skin ointment, and other items much in demand in the town. Lack of sound sanitary conditions account for many of the problems the people have and those items directed at relieving these problems were the most enthusiastically accepted.

As the initial bedlam at the schoolhouse began to subside many of the crew members toured the town, visited the market place and shops.

At lunch hour the group was joined by the Company Commander (Dai Uy) of the regional force assigned to the area who hosted a luncheon for the party. The meal consisted of fried shrimp fried rice, and various other dishes. In spite of the warnings of the Corpsman, everyone dug in and enjoyed the meal - and suffered no ill effects the next day.

In the afternoon the Dai Uy conducted a tour of the town and nearby military installations. Enroute back to the landing for the trip back to the ship, the group passed the schoolhouse again where the new toys were still in full operation.

Probably the most satisfying aspect of such a project is the reaction of the children. Children everywhere respond readily to good will and attention and sailors have a particular knack for charging in and making friends.

When the boat pulled away, the landing was packed with villagers, mostly children waving and cheering. The men were tired and happy in the knowledge that they had taken a significant step in winning the hearts of these people. It is ultimately the people-to-people effort that will defeat the enemy in Vietnam as the people discover that our effort here is truly an unselfish one.

Fourth Of July...

On Independence Day, 1967, it might be well for us to remind ourselves that the freedom which we commemorate is not self-perpetuating. It is something we must work for, conscientiously and continuously, even as did our forefathers. They were ready to die for freedom; can we do less than strive to nurture and protect it?

Of the fifty-six who signed the Declaration of Independence, five were captured by the British and executed as traitors; nine others died from wounds or the hardships of the Revolutionary War. Still others saw their homes and plantations destroyed. For those who lived the reward was poverty—their possessions commandeered, their lands laid waste.

These were the men who gave us an independent America one hundred and ninety-one years ago. They are the men who pledged: "For the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of the Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor".

Through their sacrifice we do have freedom. We do have our unalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Let us not take these sacred rights and our God-given freedom for granted. There are those who would chip away little by little, these things we cherish most. It's up to us to prove that we will not be deprived of our heritage. —Industrial Press Service.

To The Voters Of Mountain Lake Park

As a nominee for the Mayor of Mountain Lake Park, I favor:

1. More adequate fire protection.
2. The lagoon system of sewage disposal.
3. No relatives of Mayor or Councilmen be employed by the Town.
4. Insofar as possible, all employees of the Town be residents of Mountain Lake Park.
5. All sections of the Town receive their fair share of improvements.
6. Town equipment or labor not to be used on private property.

Contrary to a current rumor, I do not know Mayor Smith of Oakland and have had no meetings or contacts with him.

I sincerely solicit your support and your VOTE in the election Tuesday, July 11, 1967.

TREASURE HUNT

It was in a green valley, along a river's edge in California that we saw an old gentleman panning for gold last summer. Our boys were ecstatic and insisted that we take his picture. We watched him for sometime, but he seemed not to see us, so intent was he upon the dredgings of his pan.

Immediately the boys started a lively debate, speculating on how it would feel to be in the old man's shoes; still searching for a bonanza, still believing that happiness is found in vein or lode. As I listened to the enthusiastic conversation and watched the animated faces of our sons, I felt sad for the old man who looked for treasure in the sand.

Our boys are already affluent in the joy that comes from loving God and serving His Church. This precious wealth can never be lost nor stolen from them, and may be any man's for the asking.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

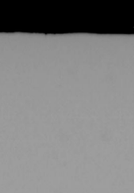
Success Enough!

Lesson for July 9, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 14.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 95:1-6.

One day several years ago as I was meditating on the meaning of my ministry, these words came into my mind: You are not called to be successful in your ministry, but faithful. If you are faithful, that will be success enough. I wrote down the words and have kept them on my desk ever since.



Rev. Althouse

I have kept them near me because, although I know they are true, I still have a hard time remembering this truth from day to day. I need to be constantly reminded, for I am repeatedly setting success — "success" as the world judges it — as the goal for which I am striving. Success as a pastor is "sweet," as it is for any profession, but it is not this to which God has called me. What he wants from me as well as all of us is obedience. If we are obedient, he will take care of the question of success or failure.

Called To "Fail"

This is true for all Christians, not just pastors. Too often we judge our efforts as disciples of Jesus Christ by popular norms: large memberships, impressive Sunday attendances, "live-wire" organizations, etc. There is nothing necessarily wrong with this kind of success, so long as we do not regard it as our primary objective.

As a matter of fact, sometimes when we are obedient to Christ's commands, the world will judge us as failures. Sometimes an obedient congregation will scare people away because they take their mission seriously. The man in the pulpit, instead of attracting the "church-shoppers" with his sermons, may drive them away, not because they are dull and unclear, but because they are disturbing and all too clear! Success is fine if it doesn't get in the way of being obedient. By the world's standards, even Jesus was, as one song writer has put it, "a flop at thirty-three."

Beyond Statistics

When Paul and Barnabas returned from what is called their "first missionary journey," the congregation at Antioch who had sent them forth awaited a report on this new venture. There were probably people in the congregation who were anxious to know whether it had been a "success" or a "failure." Perhaps there were others who wanted a statistical report: Number of sermons preached? Miles traveled? Converts enrolled? etc.

What were Paul and Barnabas to say? When we speak of the results of Christian witness, how can we judge success or failure? Are we to assume success means to win for Christ everyone whom we meet? Does it mean that the results of our work will always be obvious?

If the answers to the last two questions were "yes," then Paul and Barnabas could not be said to be "successful." Though they had won a fair number of people to Jesus Christ, they were also rejected by many, probably the great majority of people whom they approached. Although they were well-received in some cities they were violently attacked in others. They started Christian congregations at some places, but they were small and were hardly assured of either continuance or success.

The Right Question

No, it was not sufficient to ask them if they had been successful. It was far better for the people of Antioch to ask if they had been obedient. The answer to this question, of course, was "yes." Though their work had been dangerous and discouraging, they had not flinched from rendering their witness. They proclaimed their message and left it to God to determine the results.

Isn't this something we all need to remember: We cannot win everyone to Christ nor can we expect that the fruit of our work will always be apparent. "You are not called to be successful, but faithful. If you are faithful, that will be success enough."

Parents Solicit Information Concerning Fatal Accident

On Saturday night, August 13, 1966, at approximately 11 P. M. or a few minutes before, two young men from Romney, W. Va., were killed in a collision of two cars, seven miles east of Romney on Route 50.

What is known is that a car containing two couples happened upon the scene at the time of, or immediately after, the accident. One of the couples in this car allegedly had been visiting their grandmother in the Oakland area and were returning east to their home near Washington, D. C. Also one of the men had been, at one time, a member of a rescue unit and he assisted at the scene of the accident. One couple also had moved into a new trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Shields, parents of one of the boys killed, which was their only son, are desperately trying to establish what happened at the scene, and will pay well for information concerning it. There will be no involvement in litigation whatever without consent because their understanding of exactly what happened is far more essential to their peace of mind than any legal entanglements.

If this request is read by the young couple, or possibly by the grandmother who may know about the incident, please be kind enough to contact D. S. Shields, 395 W. Rosemary Lane, Romney, W. Va. Telephone Number—Romney, W. Va., 822-5982.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws. CLIP AND SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am a sole proprietor and want my son to work for me this summer. How should I treat him for tax purposes?

A. You may deduct as a business expense the salary you pay him for services rendered. The salary deducted should be what you would play a person not related to you for performing the same services.

The salary is subject to the same withholding requirements as your other employees if he is 21 or over. However, if he is under 21 his salary is subject only to income tax withholding and not social security withholding.

Q. I have two weeks duty with the reserve this summer. Will my military pay be taxed?

A. Yes, unless duties are performed in Vietnam for any part of the two weeks.

Q. I was audited for the past two years. Does that mean I'm on the list to be audited every year?

A. If your return has certain characteristics it may be audited and not because you were audited the past two years.

Computers screen returns and identify those which meet certain criteria. The identified returns are then reviewed by examiners who selectt those which are to be audited.

Q. Talking with my father about taxes the other night, I found that he had been paying taxes on his Social Security pension for the past few years. Is there any way he can get a refund on this?

A. If your father did declare his Social Security benefits as taxable income he is entitled to a refund. However, this is one of the things we look for when we process returns and a good percentage of the errors made on this point are caught.

Check your father's copies of past returns and have him file an amended return or a claim for refund if he did indeed pay taxes on Social Security benefits. A claim must be filed within three years from the date the original return was filed or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later. Thus your father may file claims for several years if necessary.

Q. I am retiring and will sell my home to move into an apartment. Do I have to pay tax on this money?

A. You may be liable for federal income tax on any profit you make on the home sale. This would be the amount by which the sale price less selling and certain other expenses exceeds the adjusted basis of the house.

There are special rules for those 65 years of age and over which could result in all or part of the gain being excluded from income.

Two Camp Boys Caught at Sideling

Two Baltimore juveniles who escaped from the Forestry camp on Backbone mountain last Monday and stole a car in Luke, were apprehended in Washington county.

Maryland State police said the youths were apprehended in a wooded area after they apparently broke into a business establishment at the foot of Sideling hill.

Authorities said that after the youths escaped they made their way to Luke where they stole an automobile owned by Russell C. Wilson, Westernport. Tfc. Elmer Selby, of Hagerstown barracks, said that he was on routine patrol checking business establishments in the Sideling Hill mountain area last Tuesday morning when he saw the stolen car parked in front of McCusker's Grocery. Tfc. Selby said he also noticed a window had been broken out. Further investigation revealed that five cartons of cigarets, a transistor radio and a small amount of change had been stolen.

The two youths were later apprehended in the wooded area. It was believed that they also forced open a vending machine at another service station along the highway.

The youths were placed in the juvenile detention home in Washington county pending disposition of the case.

Treat Your Own Cottons

Cotton fabrics can be made temporarily flame retardant with two inexpensive, easy-to-obtain chemicals, according to Mrs. Freda Denison, extension agent. Because the ingredients are water soluble, the treatment doesn't last through washing, but it can still be practical to treat the articles again, especially such things as curtains, draperies, potholders and upholstery padding.

Dissolve 7 oz. of borax and 3 oz. of borax acid in two qts. of hot water. Wet articles thoroughly and dry them by any convenient means. Items will be flame resistant (but not fireproof) until wet or washed.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

After The Summit

The summit meeting between President Johnson and Premier Kosygin of the Soviet Union already is being hailed by some people as a forward step in easing the cold war tensions of recent weeks. This, clearly, is an optimistic view for which there is no real supporting evidence.

It is true, to be sure, that it is better for the two superpowers to talk than to fight. But the American public should not imagine that the full, complete story of the highlevel talks in a small New Jersey college town will be revealed. No one can tell what deals or secret understandings may have been arrived at by Messrs. Johnson and Kosygin.

Generally speaking, summit talks have not been good for the United States. President Roosevelt held a summit meeting with Dictator Stalin at Yalta, and the tragedy flowing from that meeting is still affecting the lives of millions of people. Eastern Europe — half of the historic civilization from whence Americans came — was included in the Russian political empire because of Roosevelt's giveaway at Yalta.

No doubt Mr. Johnson, who has a reputation as a tough wheeler-dealer, is a much better negotiator than Mr. Roosevelt. Nevertheless, the possibility of secret agreements is frightening. The traditional American position with respect to international agreements is that the U. S. believes in open agreements openly arrived at. A summit meeting, however, is a closed meeting. The public statements issued in its wake surely gives no one any information concerning what was discussed or agreed upon.

Another danger of a summit meeting is that it produces in the United States a state of euphoria — a feeling of well-being, that is. Serious conversations between heads of state carry the suggestion of reasonableness, whereas the records show the Russians are anything but reasonable. Communists don't regard negotiations as a series of straightforward discussions but as an opportunity for militant advance toward their goals. Communists, after all, don't even believe in telling the truth. For them, "truth" is simply a handmaiden of communists interests.

The American people would be wise to bear in mind, in the post-summit era that the pattern of Soviet behavior is settled. This October, the Soviet Union will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the October revolution. The government of the USSR is made up of revolutionaries. Kosygin, at age 15, joined the Red Army and fought in the revolutionary war. In the 1930s and 1940s, he was a faithful servant of Dictator Stalin and was made a member of the Communist Party's all-powerful Central Committee. In short, Kosygin, like the other members of Russia's ruling team, remains a dedicated communist warrior against the capitalist world. These men no doubt hope to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the October Revolution with a spectacular political victory over the United States, which is the symbol and heartland of modern capitalism.

Americans should never forget they live in an era of communist challenge and that the enemy is stern and ruthless. For the last several years, liberals have been saying that communism has mellowed and that peaceful accommodations should be reached with the Kremlin. The troubles in the Middle East show that the Russian bear is the same as before. The Soviets continue to foment strife and work for disorder. They still are trying to deny the West the energy resources of the oil-rich Middle Eastern countries.

No, the cold war isn't over. The liberals have been wrong, as usual. From the Middle East to the Far East, the Russians are trying, as Khrushchev said some years ago, to "bury" us.

This Soviet goal won't be set aside by some parlor talk in a New Jersey College town or by an exchange of toasts. News of the latest summit should not be allowed, moreover, to deter conservative, realistic citizens from exposing the follies of liberal programs, such as recognition of Red China or trade therewith.

The Russian-inspired conflict in the Middle East should be held up as a true and faithful indication of the real aims and methods of the communists in the seventh decade of the 20th century.

Fourteen Killed On State Highways

Fourteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police.

Seven of those killed were drivers; three were passengers; and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in five of the deaths; speed in five; and "driver error" was present in ten of the fatalities.

"A serious accident caused by an operator's falling asleep can occur at any time of the year, but we have found that such types of collisions generally increase during the vacation months", said Lt. Col. George E. Davidson, Chief of Operations of the Maryland State Police. "Last week, in fact, two deaths were the result of apparent driver fatigue.

"The lulling monotony of driving on high speed roads is a problem faced by even the well - rested operator, and most vacationers will find that a considerable portion of their time is on these highways. The potential hazard is increased substantially if the operator is fatigued."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

July 2, 1967

Mr. George Hanst, Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

Dear Sir:

It is not my practice to write letters in this manner, but I cannot help but write this as a protest to the extremely dangerous condition existing at the intersection of Third and Crook streets within the city limits of Oakland. I have not only witnessed one serioous accident at that point, but on more than one occasion I nearly became a victim myself as I was attempting to make a crossing in an east - west direction. It is next to impossible for a motorist to see over the rise in the streets as one looks south on Third Street.

With the increased volume of traffic flowing into and out of the parking area at the Dairy Queen on Third Street, the danger is even greater than at any other time of the year. Third Street at that point is a poorly constructed piece of paving and should be corrected as soon as possible before a fatal accident occurs.

Sincerely,

(Rev.) W. Shelby Walthall,
Rector

: : : :

No. 145 Adoption Docket

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 29th day of June, 1967, a Petition was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by Roger Lee Hamilton, and Karen Sue Hamilton, his wife, by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., their attorney, against Harold Teets, Defendant, whose last known address was 121 First Street, S. W. Roanoke, Virginia. The Petition alleges in substance that the Petitioners are residents of Garrett County, Maryland, and are married and without children and desire to adopt the minor child of Harold Teets, Defendant, born unto his wife, Patricia Teets, on May 17, 1967, at the Potomac Valley hospital, in Keyser, West Virginia. That Harold Teets, Defendant, deserted the mother, Patricia Teets, and their other five children and has withheld his consent to this Adoption and that the child's best interests are for the adoption to be decreed. The Petition further alleges that the child sought to be adopted is named Becky Sue Teets, owns no proprety, real or personal and is not related to the Petitioners. That the Petitioners have a good reputation as to moral character and will be able to give the child a good home. The Petition asks for an Adoption Decree and that the name of the child be changed from "Becky Sue Teets" to that of "Becky Sue Hamilton."

WHEREUPON, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 29th day of June, 1967, that the Petitioners cause a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 28th day of July, 1967, giving notice to the said non-resident Defendant of the object and substance of the Petition and warning him to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 28th day of August, 1967, why a Decree of Adoption should not be passed as prayed.

St. Peter's School Concludes 43 Years

After serving the community for forty-three years, the St. Peter's Parochial school has closed its doors. A photograph of the final class at the school appears in today's issue. The Sisters of Mercy prepared a farewell story to accompany the photograph which appears as follows:

It does seem ironic that St. Peter's School should close when it has exactly what education is striving to attain "that personal touch". Each teacher knew each pupil as an individual character with gifts to develop and faults to curb. The name really stood for the person, and is there anything so completely our own as our name?

With such a rich background of individuals, the year has progressed as all concerned—pupils, parents, teachers, pastor, and community, worked as one big, happy family. Naturally we realize that such a delightful spirit is present only because of the work which has developed over the years. Although we have never been noted for numbers, the deep love, loyalty, and willingness to help the school is an outstanding characteristic of the people here not only Catholics but non-Catholics as well. Such an attitude is far more desirable than numbers.

Therefore, we are grateful to all who have helped St. Peter's School in any way since our opening on September 23, 1924, "under adverse circumstances minus blackboards and desks.. We have had forty-two happy and profitable years, and the seeds which were sown will continue to bear fruit."

It has been a special comfort to Sisters Mary Charles, Celine, and Alice to have been greeted many, many times by friends and strangers with a sincere sympathy that our school is closing. For such people this article and picture appear as a final "Thank You" for your warm acts and kind words. As Sisters of Mercy we hope to continue our service to all God's people, naturally, you are included. God be with you.

Women Golfers Play

The second half of the spring golf tournament was played last Thursday by members of the Oakland Country Club Ladies' Golf association. First prize went to Mrs. Caryl Doe, and there was a tie for second place by Mrs. Pamela Kreyenbuhl and Mrs. Tommie Wilson.

A Scotch foursome is planned for July 12. Members wishing to participate are to sign in as soon as possible. The association will be hostess to Maplehurst and Mill Creek club with a luncheon and match on July 13.

Motion Pictures Set For Local Library

Two motion pictures will be presented at the Ruth Enlow Library on Monday evening, July 10, at 7:30. "Israel: the Story of the Jewish People", a color film made in 1965 is the history of one of the world's oldest peoples and newest nations. "The Arab Middle East", a 1955 film also in color shows the life and culture of Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Iraq. These movies should be of special interest in the light of recent events in the Middle East.

Several books which should also be helpful in furnishing a background for understanding the current situation are now on display in the library. These include "Israel: Miracle in the Desert" by Terence Prittle, "Roll, Jordan, Roll" by Robert St. John, "The Arabs in History" by Bernard Lewis, "Egypt: Yesterday and Today" by Georgiana Stevens, "The Kingdom of Jordan" by Raphael Patai and "The River Nile" published by the National Geographic Society.

Don't Litter . . .

From time to time people are urged not to be litterbugs. Not too many people pay attention to the advice. Why do people litter their towns and cities and countryside? This distasteful condition persists despite public agencies and many individual citizen groups.

People continue to be thoughtless in this respect. Too many of us simply feel no personal responsibility for the appearance of our communities. Increased travel, greater outdoor recreational facilities, and more leisure time all combine to provide more opportunities for the litterbug.

The educational process must begin at home, teaching the young members of the family, but this will never be effective as long as the parents continue to disregard the issue themselves.

There are other suggestions on how everyone can help in the fight against litter. Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national public service organization for prevention of litter, offers these:

Keep your own home and property litter-free; carry a litterbag in car or boat and dispose of trash in proper receptacle; urge municipal officials to provide adequuate collection and disposal facilities, and provide receptacles for street trash. These are being provided in Oakland and other areas, but there is certainly room for improvement among residents and visitors.

Remember that litter is a costly eyesore that blights and corrodes, lowers property values, discourages tourists, alienates potential new business and industry, and costs money to remove. The tale of what happened when the president and Russian head of state descended on a quiet New Jersey town the other day, is an example of the tremendous task that is before the citizens of this country. The town was left in a real mess. Everyone should help eliminate litterbugging.

Water Pollution Problem Holds Group Concern

Property Owners Told Of Sewage Disposal Plans Of The Future

Water pollution as a county problem was one of the items discussed at the first of the two regularly scheduled meetings of the Property Owners association of Deep Creek Lake, held at the playhouse barn last Saturday morning, July 8.

The main speaker, Thomas D. McKewen, co-director, Bureau of Resources Protection, Maryland State Health department, talked on the water pollution problem of the Deep Creek Lake area and the entire county.

In his talk Mr. McKewen announced that a firm of consulting engineers from Baltimore had been hired to make a comprehensive study of sewage disposal for the county. It was pointed out this study would take about a year to complete. He declared there was little doubt that the cost of the program, if carried out, would be quite high with the state of Maryland and the United States government underwriting between 75 and 80 percent of the project.

It has been known for some years that the soil in this area, particularly around Deep Creek Lake, was not conducive to effective septic tank usage, and that many such sewage disposal units were not completely satisfactory.

C. N. Hollingsworth, Jr., route 1, Swanton, member of the Property Owners association, said Mr. McKewen replied to a number of questions with precise answers and that a number of members remained after the meeting adjourned at noon to talk with the speaker. About 100 members attended the session.

Routine committee reports were heard first, followed by discussion by members. A majority of those present felt they were not receiving a fair share of benefits from their tax dollar. They pointed out that the county roads were inadequate and poorly maintained in a number of areas. Mr. Hollingsworth said some voiced the opinion that boating safety on the lake could be improved by the addition of a second or even a third patrol boat on week-ends, a period when most accidents occur. It was pointed out that water traffic was most heavy at that time.

Charley Miller, sanitarian for the county health department, discussed the use of house trailers as permanent homes. He said the laws might need some clarification as to when a trailer is not a trailer. The legislative

Science Campers Hear Miss Cochran

Miss Jacqueline Cochran, noted aviatrix and first woman to fly faster than sound, was the featured speaker at the fifth annual Senate luncheon honoring the 100 representatives to the National Youth Science camp, now in progress near Green Bank, W. Va. The luncheon took place yesterday climaxing a 2-day trip to Washington.

Maryland representatives to this camp are Thomas Whitman Nace, son of William Nace, Oakland, and James O. Bullock, of Camp Springs.

Thomas W. Nace

During World War II Miss Cochran organized and directed the Women's Air Force service pilots group (WASP) which supplied the Army Air Forces with 1,074 women pilots. In 1948 she was commissioned a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force reserves.

In 1953 she became the first woman to fly faster than speed of sound.

The National Youth Science camp originated as a feature event during West Virginia's Centennial celebration in 1963. Sponsored jointly by the state and West Virginia university the camp brings together the two most outstanding science-minded students, recent high school graduates, from each of the 50 states for three weeks in West Virginia's Monongahela National forest. Campers are exposed to a wide variety of subjects through a program of visiting and resident lecturers.

The final event of the camp program will be a banquet in Charleston, W. Va., on July 16 at which Gov. Hulett C. Smith will speak. They will return home Monday, July 17.

County Share of Income Taxes Reaches $89,369

A total of $89,369.78 in income tax revenue has been returned to Garrett county and its municipal subdivisions under the Sherbow state-sharing plan for the calendar year 1966.

Louis L. Goldstein, comptroller of the state treasury, called attention to the fact that this will be the last major distribution of income tax revenue under the old formula. From this fiscal year on, the rate of local income tax will come under the Agnew tax reform program.

There will be another distribution from the 1966 returns in late September or early October, he said. The old formula will be applied and distribution made from time to time on delinquent collections and additional tax assessments from returns up to and including the year 1966.

Under the new program the comptroller will no longer make a distribution to the state's incorporated cities and taxing areas, from returns for the year 1967 and thereafter. The new law provides that the county distribute to its municipalities an amount equivalent to .37 percent of the taxable net income of the residents of those municipalities.

However, the law provides that the comptroller shall advise each county of the amount of taxable net income as reported in the returns of residents of their municipalities.

The county commissioners received $72,466.64 during fiscal 1966. The town of Oakland received $8,873.76.

Other distributions were as follows: Accident, $484.15; Deer Park, $651.94; Friendsville, $1,058.88; Grantsville, $1,453.29; Kitzmiller, $741.98; Loch Lynn Heights, $806.99; Mt. Lake Park, $2,832.15. The total to the municipalities was $16,903.14.

Take Mental Health Training

Miss Susie Wolf — Miss Linda Weimer

Two high school students from this county, Miss Susie Wolf and Miss Linda Weimer, left Monday for Springfield state hospital at Sykesville for a six weeks' training course sponsored by the Maryland Association of Mental Health.

The Garrett County Mental Health association is paying half the amount of money involved and the state association the other half. Each student will receive $150 for the six weeks, plus bed and board.

The program involves the students working with mentally ill and retarded patients at the hospital, with the students living on the hospital grounds during the program.

Purpose of the program is to encourage young people to consider a career in the mental health field and to give them a more informed attitude toward mental illness.

Miss Wolf, 16, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wolf, 636 South Third street, Oakland. Miss Weimer, 18, is a daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Weimer, route 1, Oakland.

Town Annexes Country Club Acres Property

Some 25 Acres, Having 54 Lots, Will Be Added To Oakland

The corporation of Oakland will be enlarged by some 25 acres as a result of a motion passed at the July meeting of the Mayor and Town council on Monday evening which agreed to annex fifty-four lots of Country Club Acres, a development at the western edge of town along the Herrington Manor road and adjacent to the Oakland municipal golf course.

This is only about a third of the 80-acre tract which the corporation is dividing at the present time. Owners of the development are Vetter Brothers, Inc., Delbert Gnegy, of this area and Judge H. Gus Muntzing, of Petersburg, W. Va.

The motion to officially annex the land was passed unanimously by the council. Council agreed that town taxes on the property would be waived until the lots are sold, when they would be placed on the assessment books. The corporation had asked for annexation a few years ago when the property was acquired.

New Building Planned

Some particulars concerning the proposed new building to house the Garrett National Bank was also learned from a letter from bank officials to the Mayor and Town Council, requesting certain work to be done.

The letter revealed the bank was in final planning stages for regrading of the lots formerly occupied by the Hinebaugh

Horseshoe Pitching A Repeat Feature

The horseshoe pitching contest will be a repeat feature of the annual Garrett county fair, it was reported this week by Frank R. Mattingly and Baity Ridder, members of the committee.

Mr. Ridder said this was due to the lively interest in the contest last year. He said they have been given the go-ahead for a bigger tournament this year. Facilities will be enlarged and improved to accommodate more participants. He said that additional prizes also would be awarded.

Entries are limited to full time Garrett County residents, and preference will be given to early applicant, it was stated.

Mr. Ridder said the Fair visitors and management appeared pleased and entertained with the general good humor and good sportsmanship displayed last year. There was a feeling that these would continue.

Mt. Top Receives Plenty of Rainfall

The mountain top received a plentiful supply of rain during the week with an especially heavy downfall Monday evening and Tuesday morning.

During that period there were 1.5 inches of rain in the Oakland area, and an additional half inch or more earlier Monday afternoon and later Tuesday morning to bring the total to more than two inches within a twenty-four hour period.

For a brief rundown of the week's weather, there were overcast skies last Thursday afternoon with temperatures in the upper 60s. Friday the mercury stood in the middle 70s with fog Saturday morning and followed by showers later in the day. There was some additional rain on Sunday evening.

There was more fog on Monday morning with later clearing and then becoming cloudy again. Temperature reached 81 at 1:30 with additional rain falling later in the afternoon. Then came the 1.5 inches of rain during the evening and early Tuesday morning. More showers occurred on Wednesday, clearing in late afternoon. There were indications that today would be clear and warm.

Condition Improves

John O. Durst, Jr., was brought to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland last Thursday evening, right on schedule, after having been flown from Budapest, Hungary to New York, and thence to the airport at McHenry. He was accompanied by his father and Dr. Joe Alvarez, who had gone to Europe the week before to complete arrangements.

The young man is showing signs of improvement, according to his father, but still remains in an unconscious condition. He is taking some nourishment at present.

Durst was critically injured in an auto accident on June 14 and sustained a skull fracture and concussion.

Frame Is Elected Mt. Lake Mayor

James C. Frame was elected mayor of Mt. Lake Park over incumbent mayor Allen C. Murray, in a municipal election held Tuesday in that town. Frame received 166 votes to 92 for Murray. The vote was considered heavy for the Park community.

Named to the city council for a two-year term were Cecil A. Jackson with 213 votes and Eugene Mason Paugh, with 189 votes. John L. Fitzwater, Jr., will serve a one-year term, having received 173 votes. J. Edward Tasker, present council member, received 98 votes.

All candidates were named recently at a primary election.

Is Appointed As Probation Officer

Wayne Wilt, who has served as deputy sheriff for almost eight years, was named this week as a juvenile probation officer for Garrett county under a new set-up which recently came into being.

The appointment was made under the department of Juvenile Services which was created July 1, as the result of legislation passed at the last session of the legislature.

Juvenile parole and probation cases were handled formerly by James Lewis and Joseph Gallen, of Cumberland, under the department of Parole and Probation for the state.

Mr. Wilt's area will include all of Garrett county. His office will be on the third floor of the Court House. His last day as deputy sheriff was yesterday.

James E. Frantz, Sheriff, said this morning he would appoint Delbert Swartzentruuber as deputy to fill the position.

Voters Books Again Reopened by Board

Registration books of the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors were reopened on June 29, but there has been no big push at the office to get prospective new voters on the books.

When the registration books were closed before the June 13 special election for delegate to the constitutional convention there were 9,553 registered voters in the county. They included 5,744 Republicans, 3,743 Democrats, and 66 persons of other affiliations.

Next election in the county, according to present plans, will be next May 14 when the voters will ballot on a proposed new Maryland Constitution.

Named To State Post

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, of the Garrett County Circuit court, was elected a vice-president of the Maryland State Bar association at a meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., last week.

The new president is Ringal W. Baldwin, member of the Baltimore bar. He succeeds Benjamin Rosenstock, of Frederick.

Fire Destroys Stanton Cottage On Deep Creek

Fire about 8:45 Monday evening in the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Stanton, Oakland, in the Red Run area, entirely gutted the structure and caused a loss of some $20,000 it was estimated by the owners.

The cottage was being occupied at the time by a Wise family, of Hagerstown, and one of the occupants tossed a quantity of lighter fluid into the fireplace, swelling the flames and catching the curtains. The fire then spread rapidly.

The McHenry Volunteer Firemen were called and Oakland firemen were also called to assist. Both departments arrived there about the same time.

Mr. Stanton said the cottage would sleep eight persons, had two bedrooms, a living room, kitchen and bath. He said the building was completely furnished and that much of the furniture was antique and considered valuable. He said the loss was partially covered by insurance. Only the walls remained standing as it was a stone veneer house.

Oakland firemen were also called last Thursday morning about 11:30 to the home of Leo Stottlemeyer on state route 560, east of Loch Lynn Heights. A chair had been on fire but was out on arrival, according to the fire company report.

Mrs. Mullenax Is Caught Hour After Her Prison Escape

Convicted murderess Vonda Jean Mullenax of near Terra Alta, was captured late Saturday night less than an hour after her third escape in less than a year from the State Penitentiary for Women at Pence Springs, W. Va.

She and a companion fled from the kitchen at the prison. They were appprehended by State Police less than a mile from the prison.

Mrs. Mullenax, mother of nine, was convicted and sentenced in 1966 for the poison-strangulation slaying of her husband, Ray Mullenax, at their Terra Alta farm.

In one of Mrs. Mullenax's two previous escapes she also was captured within a few hours. On her second escape she was gone several days.

Although sentenced to life when found guilty the jury recommended mercy which would make her eligible for parole after ten years.

Plan Dairy Judging School for 4-H'ers

Four-H members interested in dairy judging are planning to attend the Black and White Show sponsored by the Garrett County Holstein Association on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 18, at the McHenry Fair Grounds.

The team to represent Garrett County in the State competition will be selected from those who participate in the dairy schools.

Laws on Liquor Are Clarified

Upon completion of testimony last Friday in the Garrett county circuit court concerning a hearing on which legislative bills about liquor should be followed, Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill made a ruling declaring which bills to follow.

One bill was signed May 4 and contradicted other bills which had been signed into law April 14.

The conflicts chiefly concerned the cost of licenses and the amount of profit that may be charged when the beverage is sold in wholesale lots to clubs and other license holders.

Judge Hamill declared that a twenty percent markup for sale of liquor to license holders from the county-operated liquor stores was legal, and that the license fee for liquor permits should be $800.

Del. B. O. Aiken gave the principal testimony, telling of his intent in passing the bills.

Made official also, in an oral opinion, was the legality of county-wide sale of liquor, sale of liquor in addition to restaurants and clubs, in hotels and motels; sale of beer to go in hotels and motels.

Leaves Welfare Department After Twenty-nine Years

Mrs. Kathryn S. Helbig, a well-known child welfare worker, resigned her position with the Garrett County Welfare Department effective last Friday, July 7. Mrs. Helbig entered State service on September 7, 1937 and except for an interval of one year has continuously served in the welfare department's child welfare services division.

During this period of twenty-nine years she has helped hundreds of children and their families. She was one of the pioneers in the development of child welfare services in Garrett County. The first child adoption in Garrett County under the department's program was completed by Mrs. Helbig. Since that first adoption this particular service has been made available to scores of children in need of parents and parents looking for a child of their own. Children from

Wet Spring Brings Fewer Woods Fires

Heavier rainfall this spring than a year ago was cited as one of the reasons the four-county Western Maryland district had fewer forest and woods fires and far less acreage burned than in the spring of 1966.

Records compiled in the office of Tunis J. Lyon, district forester, showed there were 58 fires burning only 178.6 acres.

Last year the number was 66 but the acreage burned was 3,052.6. This county was responsible for most of the burned acreage when it totalled 2,983.2 acres from 26 fires. One early May blaze on Backbone mountain was chiefly responsible.

Garrett county led the other three counties this year with 18 fires, burning 90.7 acres. Allegany county had 16 fires with 46.3 acres burned; Washington county had 11 with 24.4 acres and Frederick county had 13 fires with 17.1 acres being burned.

Most of the fires this spring occurred between March 1 and May 31. There were two in January and one in February during an unusually dry winter.

Careless smoking was the chief cause of the fires. Twenty-one burned 34.4 acres. Thirteen fires which burned 35.2 acres were blamed on railroads. Three wre blamed on campers. Nine were caused by debris and brush burning.

Biggest acreage loss was 74.8 as a result of three fires which were of incendiary origin.

4-H District Event Winners Listed

Seven Garrett County 4-H members were awarded championship ribbons at the Western Maryland district demonstration contest held last Thursday, July 6, at Flintstone. Forty-seven 4-H'ers from Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties participated in the competition.

Champion demonstrators from this county included Rhonda Rodeheaver, "stain removal", and Sheila Buckel, "Fitting and Showing Dairy Animals", in the junior division.

Champions in the senior division from this county were Lena Kolb, "Potato Donuts"; Joyce Harman "In the Beginning"; Bonnie Buckel, "Food-A-Go-Go"; Linda Dodge, "A Room's Complexion"; and Rodney Glotfelty, "Our Country's Flag". Senior champions will be judged on their demonstrating abilities at the Maryland State fair in Timonium on Western Maryland 4-H day.

Other 4-H'ers from the county receiving ratings of excellent, very good, and good, included: Karmen Glotfelty, Linda D. Glotfelty, Edwin Friend and Cindy Beachy, excellent; Sally Beachy, Ellen Hershberger, Susan Wiley, Randy Green and Debra Friend, very good; Douglas and David Stanton, good.

Unexpected Guest Is Next Offering At Playhouse

"The Unexpected Guest", will be the third offering at the Garrett County playhouse which will begin next Tuesday evening, July 18th, at the Blue Barn on the Beckman penisula.

This is a mystery drama by Agatha Christie, author of "Witness for the Prosecution", and will be presented on five evenings, July 18 through July 22.

For the balance of this week the offering will be "King of Hearts", by John Kerr and Eleanor Brooke. This is a tale of a comic strip artist who represents contemporary stage humor at a high peak of invention. This is family fare, as is next week's production.

The first week, limited to four performances due to the Fourth of July holiday, played to almost full houses at every production. This was "The Fantasticks" a musical of high quality.

"There's B'ar in Them Thar Hills"

Yes, "there's b'ar in them thar hills", and it's a black one too.

Thus reported Abe Holland, of Allegheny Drive, in Mt. Lake Park, and attested to by Deputies Sheriff, Wayne Wilt and June Evans, and State trooper John W. Hopf.

The sighting occurred last Friday evening near the Holland home. The bear apparently was a young one, appearing to some like a large black dog, and some even hazarded it was a bear.

At any rate it attracted much attention and soon the neighborhood was overrun with children and other spectators. The time was not far from dusk and soon any search for the bear was abandoned.

A black bear was seen last year in the Pleasant Valley area, and one also was seen not too many months ago on Backbone mountain.

In District Playoff

Oakland Little Leaguers will play the representative team from Frostburg on Tuesday, July 25, in the annual playoff series. The game will get under way at 6:15 p. m., and will be played on the Frostburg Little League field.

Oakland has not won the opening round since 1964 when it defeated Frostburg 4 to 2. Frostburg won in 1965 six to four, and in 1966, thirteen to four.

Players this year include Randy Robinson, Ernie Shotwell, Alan Cvetnick, Jeff Stem, Joe Kisselovich, Alan Edgar, Rich Skeweris, Dave Uphole, Dennis Skeweris, Edgar Uphold, Jr., Chris Scripp, James Bosley, Roger Ware and Don Uphole.

Managers for the Oakland all-star team are Edsel Calhoun and Fred Stoner.

Special Features Planned By Fair

Several special entertainment features have been arranged by the Board of Directors of the 11th Agricultural fair association for this year's annual attraction at McHenry, August 8 through 12, it was announced following a meeting this week. All these features are free to the public and consist entirely of local talent.

Frankie's Amusements will feature the carnival area as usual. This is the eighth year for this amusement company from Johnstown.

The annual Farm queen contest will be staged on Tuesday, August 8, with the Troubadores providing the special music. A singing and playing group from the Grantsville area will provide special music for Wednesday evening. On Friday there will be the 4-H style reveue.

The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club will provide a chicken barbecue dinner on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

The horseshoe pitching contest will be repeated again this year, and a horse pulling contest is scheduled for Saturday afternoon. There also will be the uusual pet show, tractor contest and a horse show during the week.

H. G. Gortner, president, said plans were progressing satisfactorily for the annual event. The grounds are being put in shape, buildings being readied and some needed repairs made. New toilet facilities are being provided and new bleachers are being erected in front of the 4-H area. He said interest in the fair seemed to increase with each succeeding year.

Mr. Gortner was preparing a detailed program of events which will be released in the near future. Meetings of the board of directors, general superintendents and other groups are being held periodically, to assure the completion of all arrangements.

Youths Aid Eye Patient With Funds From Carnival

Two grandchildren of area residents were featured recently in newspaper accounts in three towns following a backyard carnival to raise funds for a young friend who was facing a serious operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hayhurst, Backbone Mountain, are the grandparents. The children are Kimberly Houchin and Jennifer Hayhurst. Kimberly is the daughter of the former Donna Hayhurst, a registered nurse who was employed at Garrett County Memorial hospital several years ago, and Jennifer is the daughter of Jack Hayhurst, formerly of Oakland.

Newspapers in Woodsfield and Zanesville, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va., carried the story.

The story said in part;

"Big hearts beat in little breasts. This was never better illustrated than when Kimberly Houchin and her cousin Jennifer Hayhurst learned that Michele Dillon, Kimberly's 2-year-old neighbor was to undergo a serious eye operation in Columbus.

"The youngsters wanted to help. Kimberly, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Houchin, of Wilson, and Jennifer, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hayhurst, Wellsburg, started making plans for a backyard carnival in Wilson. Girls made signs to promote the event and planned for concessions, games and a pony ride.

"Mrs. Houchin said they didn't expect such a large crowd at the event which attracted about 100 persons. The carnival featured a pony ride conducted by Bill Wayne who donated the use of his horse. Mothers baked cupcakes, made candies and popcorn and beverages to sell. A fortune telling tent was also a feature.

"The children made $56 and donations brought the amount to $117. A fund was started to further aid Michele since her surgery would require treatment for several years".

Red China's Nuclear Progress

One of the most disturbing developments in recent weeks was the explosion of a hydrogen bomb by Communist China on June 17th. This test, and other accumulating evidence of Red Chinese nuclear progress, have grave significance for the entire world.

According to a report just prepared by Rep. Craig Hosmer, a member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, the Communist Chinese are currently spending about half a billion dollars per year on a nuclear weapons program, and possibly an equal amount on development of delivery systems. This would total about 4% of that country's gross national product, and appears to involve at least 7½% of all available scientific and technical personnel. It appears that these efforts have not been seriously delayed by the convulsions produced by the "cultural revolution" and the disruptive activities of the Red Guard.

The Red Chinese have now conducted six nuclear weapons tests since October 1964. The first five detected were atomic devices, while the most recent was an H-bomb in the 2 to 7 megaton range. Obviously, the Chinese are very anxious to achieve a flexible nuclear weapons capability, including solid fuel rockets. Delivery systems involving aircraft and intermediate range missiles have already been tested, and it seems likely that an ICBM will be launched successfully before 1975, the date predicted by Defense Secretary McNamara. Some American experts believe that China can be expected to launch a satellite within the next 12 to 18 months to prove its missile capabilities.

The existing Chinese nuclear arsenal may consist of about 30 A-bombs, a small amount compared to American and Soviet stockpiles, but still sufficient to make Red China a nuclear power.

According to many commentators, Red China's haste to develop nuclear weapons reflects both its desire for a nuclear deterrent against the U. S. and U.S.S.R., and a general desire for greater influence in international affairs, especially in Asia. In addition, the Chinese probably hope to make military development in a springboard for general industrial and technological growth, as did the U.S.S.R.

The swiftly developing Chinese nuclear strength obviously constitutes a major threat to its neighbors, and raises serious policy questions for all major powers. For example, the Chinese progress is already causing India to re-evaluate the desirability of creating its own nuclear arsenal. Many "Kremlinologists" also feel that the Chinese threat is a more direct spur to development of a Soviet anti-missile system than American power.

In the long run, the growth of Chinese technological ability in general may create a need for greater foreign trade and thus lead the Chinese leaders to relax their attitudes toward the rest of the world. In this short run, however, the rapid expansion of Chinese nuclear strength is sure to complicate defense and related foreign policy decisions for the present nuclear powers (the U. S., U.S.S.R., Great Britain and France), for "would-be" nuclear nations, and for those which lack the resources to develop nuclear prowess of their own. The explosion deep in China on June 17 will have repercussions around the world for many months and years, and great maturity and common sense will be essential in Washington and other capitals.

Sanner-Mummert Vows Said

The Deep Creek Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Patty Ann Sanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sanner, Jr., of Friendsville, and Russell Glenn Mummert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mummert, of Deep Creek Village.

The double ring candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. C. P. Anderson, D.D. Organist was Mrs. June Harvey. Special selections played were "No Other Love" and "Hawaiian Wedding Song". The church was decorated with laurel, rhododendron, ferns and princess pine. A spray of white gladiolus was used as the centerpiece at the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with a scalloped neckline embroidered with pearls and sequins and had long tapered lace sleeves. The train of taffeta and matching lace was attached to the back of the bouffant skirt with a bow at the waistline. Her veil of imported French illusion flared from a crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a white lace covered Bible with a cascade of carnations and white ribbon streamers and centered with two white orchids.

Attending the bride was her maid of honor, Miss Carolyn Carr, McHenry, attired in a yellow taffeta sheath gown overlaid with yellow Rachel lace and having a long flowing back. She wore matching mitts and headpiece and carried a cascade of deep blue tinted carnations.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a blue sheath dress with a matching lace coat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of light blue tinted carnations. The groom's mother wore a fitted rose dress with white accessories and a corsage of coral variegated carnations.

A reception was held in the social room following the ceremony. Blue and white was the color scheme of the decorations. The serving table was decorated with summer flower arrangements and candles and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and sailor bridegroom. Mrs. Julius Neveker, sister of the groom, served the cake and Mrs. George Mummert, sister-in-law of the groom, served the punch. Mrs. Adrian Spiker served the ice cream and Mrs. Sally Miller served the coffee. Miss Linda Fike and Miss Betty Savage were in charge of the gifts.

The couple left for a brief honeymoon at Ocean City, N. J. For their trip the bride wore a yellow satin sheath dress with a matching brocaded coat which she designed and made. She wore white accessories and a white orchid corsage lifted from her bouquet.

They are now residing at Neptune Beach, Florida, where the bridegroom is serving aboard the S. S. Yellowstone.

Close Up Public Records?

When the United States became the "Land of the Free" so many years ago, the Founding Fathers decided on a pretty good method of keeping it that way. They insured that all public records would be open to the public—period. No extra special breed of person had any kind of fancy rights that any of the rest of us didn't have. Information on births, deaths, land rights, marriages—whatever was needed to insure public order was right there where every citizen could look it over. No secrets.

But now the bureaucrats seem to think that too much information about ourselves may be bad for us. There's a big move on in a number of places to close up the public records, letting only the privileged few have a peek at them when somebody with a title says it's all right.

The idea behind it seems to be that by hiding all information, the state can protect us from direct mail firms who provide information on new products, new services, new industrial techniques.

When someone starts "protecting" us by locking up the public records—for whatever purported reason—beware! To give someone the right to say what part of the public record will be revealed and what will be hidden is giving away part of your American heritage.

When someone decides to shut up sources of public information—for our own good—we're in trouble. Watch out—U. S. Press Association.

Question

I'm smoking quite a bit. Is there really any real proof that smoking has anything to do with heart trouble?

Answer

Regardless of the fact that the average smoker seems to pay little attention to all the publicity given to the very real dangers of smoking, let's talk about this subject again. The answer to your qestion is a flat unequivocal "Yes". Medical research on this subject has proved a definite correlation between heart disease and cigarette smoking. When the possibility of coronary hart disease has been diagnosed, you will find that most doctors advise the patient to stop smoking...immediately. Smoking can definitely contribute to heart disease. LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

The dangerous condition existing on Route 135 on Backbone Mountain and ending at a 90 degree curve at the foot of the mountain has given us a new game of life or death which is played every day by hundreds of people. We call it BACKBONE MOUNTAIN ROULETTE.

You don't need to be brave or insane to play this game and you don't even need a gun. Just the family car and a runaway truck will be the weapons. If you live in Bloomington, have relatives or friends here or have a desire to get to Deep Creek Lake you have no choice—you just play!

People familiar with this dangerous area have about an even chance with strangers. Since we know the dangers, we take precautions, such as: watch coming up Luke Road for runaways coming down, pull as far out of the way as possible if the railroad tracks at bottom of the mountain are blocked and go as fast as allowed to get out of the area between the intersection at Bloomington and the bottom of the mountain. Of course, we use this highway more than strangers so that just about makes it even for either a resident or a traveler to be hit by one of the trucks that pass through here one every ten minutes.

Age is no barrier to this game of BACKBONE MOUNTAIN ROULETTE. Every child riding a school bus, walking across the highway to school, playing in the school yard, or riding in the family car is forced to play.

Several factors were needed to make up this dangerous condition:

First—The planners of this highway did not really finish it but stopped abruptly with a 90 degree death curve at the bottom of Backbone Mountain.

Second—The truck drivers who either because of human error or mechanical failure do not stop at the truck stops or obey signs to travel in lower gear and ditch truck if brakes fail.

Third--The saddest of all, the people who unwillingly and unknowingly happen to be at the bottom of Backbone Mountain. They want no part of this life-taking game. The last was a family going on a Sunday School picnic. Killed in this terrible accident on June the 18th were the truck driver, a young boy and a young lady, a school teacher. Directly behind this car was a young couple and their daughter. A greater tragedy was averted because being originally from this area, they knew the rules of this highway. Therefore, while the husband drove, the wife looked up the mountain for runaway trucks. Seeing this one coming, she was able to warn her husband but hard as they tried, they could not stop the car in front of them. This family watched in helplessness and desperation while the truck loaded with steel demolished the car. Will they or anyone present ever forget this scene of death?

We NO NOT like this game of Backbone Mountain Roulette. Since it is a matter of life or death to us, we hope that some prompt action is taken before any more of these tragic accidents occur.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dolores Boal

Target: Economizers...

Just about everyone agrees that our Federal debt is ruinous and that something had better be done about it. But it is interesting to see what happens when an attempt is made to ease the taxpayer's burden, even a little bit.

Contributing to the Federal deficit in no small measure are crop control programs which pay landowners approximately $4 billion in subsidies annually. And we use the term landowners because many of those collecting are in nowise farmers. The fact is that a lot of farmers are opposed to these handouts and don't want them continued. One of the most effective critics of the subsidies is Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the nation's largest farm organization. The AFBF wants to end the wheat and feed grain programs, contending that farm income would stabilize and be higher without them — and dropping the programs would save billions of dollars of tax money.

One would think that this kind of economy would be welcomed in Washington. But the fact that bills have been introduced in Congress to accomplish this kind of economy sent Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman into a tizzy. He rang bells, blew whistles and sounded the bugle. Two hundred of his better-paid payrollers answered the call and junketed to Washington for a feverish three-day huddle on how to meet the enemy economizers. It might be mentioned in passing that this payroller's convention was also paid for by the taxpayers.

The 200 junketeers, state committeemen of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, applauded their boss as he explained why Federal farm programs are vital, and they were also treated to some remarks along the same lines by the President and the Vice President. The gist of the Secretary's remarks was that the 200 had better get the word to the 100,000 payrollers under them that a cut in the farm subsidies program could be disastrous. To the payrollers, at least.

So we expect that many voices will be raised in a chorus insisting that we keep the $4 billion in the pipeline. And fight the "demogogues" who want to propose some economy in government.

That is what the Secretary called them: "demagogues."

If anybody is an expert in demagoguery, it has to be Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.—U. S. Press Association.

The Homemaker Clubs of Garrett County will discuss the topic "Basement Storage" at meetings this month.

July 17, Mt. View Club will meet at 8:00 p. m.

July 19, Accident Club, 8:00 p. m., at the Accident Fire Hall.

July 20, Swallow Falls, 1:00 p. m., at the Baptist Church basement; Friendsville Club, 7:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. A. F. Neil.

Cool and Clean, Keep Food Safe

Homemakers need to be especially careful about keeping the family food safe from spoilage during the warm summer months, when food poisoning is more apt to occur, Mrs. Freda Denison, Extension Agent, advised. Since harmful microorganisms that develop in food are the guilty factor, concentrate on trying to prevent them from doing so, she pointed out.

Cooking has certain important effects on food, as regards microorganisms of various kinds. Once the temperature gets above 120 degrees F. yeasts and molds are killed, while the activity of bacteria only begins to slow down. If the internal temperature of meat and poultry reaches 160 degrees, most food poisoning bacteria are destroyed.

However, as food cools down after cooking, it can become recontaminated by you, the equipment, or air. And when the temperature cools down to room temperature, these bacteria will become very active unless the food is refrigerated immediately.

So, either keep foods hot (above 120 degrees), or keep foods cold (below 50 degrees).

Remember, your refrigerator gets a lot more use during warm weather. It must work harder to maintain its 35-50 degree temperature when the door is continually being opened. To help it do its job more efficiently, plan your meals and snacks so you get several items out at one time.

All leftovers should be cooled quickly and refrigerated. Never let a roast, turkey and stuffing, casserole, stew, soup, meat sauce, chili, or baked beans cool at room temperature to spare your refrigerator, she concluded.

Review of The Play

Cartoons which are so familiar to millions of people, have come a long way within the past generation. The Garrett County Playhouse this week, in presenting the "King of Hearts", by Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooke, has made a good choice in their offering of a play that is good clean fun for all members of the family. It was first presented at the Lyceum Theater in New York in 1954, and has enjoyed tremendous popularity.

"The King of Hearts" is a satiric farce, playing on the theme that comic strips should carry a message. But the cartoonist, Larry Larkin, in this week's show, played with great conviction by Neil Flanagan, thinks he is appealing to the minds of millions of children. His whole philisophy can be summed up in his own words, "A cartoonist's job is to poke fun at stuffy people". At least this is what he thinks.

It takes his own secretary, with whom he thinks he is so in love that he can take her for granted, and thinks is going to marry him, to bring him to his senses. Or does it? Susan Stoner, in the role of the secretary, Dunreath Henry, executes this double characterization of fiancee and secretary so well, that one is hoping that somehow the boss will wake up to his shortcomings, and bring him off his pedestal. To tell the reader her final actions as well as reactions would give away the surprise ending. Susan is well cast in her part, and she projects well to her audience. Although she knows Larry Larkin is only partly right, and that he does have an appeal to some readers, and that he is fighting for justice in his strip, she also knows that he is above his intended juvenile readers.

It takes a 'ghost writer', Francis X. Dugan, who might be considered Larkin's conscience, and played with sympathy and feeling by Milburn Mehlhop, to bring out the best in his employer, the cartoonist. Of course, it seems only natural that a bit of 'hanky-panky' goes on in the absence of Larkin. And it also takes a little boy, Norman Taylor, done so well by Richard Orr, one of our local thespians, to make the central character see himself in a clearer light. Larry lives in such a dream world that he has illusions of appealing to small boys, and whereas he thinks he is receiving a call from one of his fans in a distant city, in reality he is talking to a boy who turns out to be Billy, our own Jeff Orr, whose performance is hilarious even at his age, and who proves to be a pal of Norman. Communication between cartoonist and little boy is completely lacking, for each lives in a different world. The reviewer feels this is one of the highlights of the play, and in fact reveals the cartoonist as he really is.

Miss Danielle Pressly, seen for the first time by local theater-goers, does an excellent job of portraying Jeniella, the maid in the studio-home of Larry Larkin. Usually the part of 'maid' in productions is an unwanted job, but here one is quite envious of her role, and Miss Pressly carries it off to perfection.

Supporting the central characters, and all doing their parts in superb fashion, are Paul Wickes, the agent; Philip Nicholson, his usual good self, in the characterization of Mr. Hobart; Bill Grant, another one of our local talented young persons, doing Mike, the messenger; and James Libby, the policeman, who has been 'conned' into forgetting any charges he plans to make against the childish pranks of the erswhile 'adopted' boy, Norman Taylor. Libby is directing this week's attraction, and he has shown his great versatility in the part of actor-director. We know this will not be his last in this dual capacity.

Gene Yell, Producer-Director of the Garrett County Playhouse, has once again brought to the mountain-top a great array of talent, and has proved his appeal to the summer audiences in his offerings. There is something for everyone at the "Blue Barn,' on Beckman's Peninsula.

Lands In Oats Field

A privately owned airplane, operated by Gene Porter, of Oklahoma City, circled the Grantsville area for half an hour Tuesday evening, finally landing in an oats field of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Apparently he had lost his way because of the heavy rain. He was fed by the Smiths and later flew to the airport at McHenry. He was some forty miles out of his path. He left the McHenry airport Wednesday morning. The pilot was enroute from Boonsboro to Oklahoma City.

Control Of The Cape

A beneficial by-product of the closing of the Suez Canal is a renewed awareness of the importance of the sea route around the Cape of Good Hope and of the Republic of South Africa which serves as the sentinel of the West at the southern tip of the continent.

Less than a year ago, the U. N. glass palace on New York's East River rang with the angry words of Afro-Asian delegates demanding a crackdown against South Africa and its friendly neighbor to the north, the new independent nation of Rhodesia. The Johnson administration, to the distress of Americans concerned with the strategic interests of the U. S., added its weight to pressures applied against the two progressive African states which are under European leadership.

Today, that same Afro-Asian majority in the United Nations is too busy railing at Israel to devote any attention to South Africa and Rhodesia. And both the United States and England are deeply concerned about the continuing flow of Middle East oil, in which South Africa plays an important role which should not be forgotten a year or two hence.

No sooner had the Suez Canal been closed than oil tankers and merchantmen loading in the Middle East were diverted around the Cape of Good Hope. Immediately, 20 British tankers were scheduled to put into Cape Town, South Africa, for refueling and replenishing. This initial group of ships, however, was only the beginning of a vast movement of merchant vessels around the Cape, with hundreds scheduled to drop anchor in the South African ports of Durban, East London, Port Elizabeth, and Cape Town. Approximately 1,500 ships regularly use the Suez route, and now will be using the Cape Town route. Many of these ships will need fuel, stores and repairs at South African ports.

There is a lesson here that the Western maritime nations should never forget: namely that South Africa's harbors are vital to the free world in peace and war. Imagine the results if South Africa's ports were closed to Western tankers and freighters! Many of the tankers employed in the Suez route are not equipped for the long voyage to England and Europe, without stopping en route.

And what would happen to those ships which, though capable of an uninterrupted journey, suffered mechanical breakdown? South Africa has the only major drydock on the African continent — a drydock large enough to accommodate an American cruiser or light aircraft carrier. Obviously, closure of South Africa's ports would be a disaster for the West.

The liberals in power in Washington and London should have thought of this several years ago when they began their campaign of abuse against a loyal wartime ally. These liberals have attempted to promote revolutionary regimes throughout Southern Africa, thereby ignoring the strategic interests of the U. S. and England. If a Castro or Lumumba were in power in Pretoria, one can be sure that South Africa's ports would be closed in sympathy with the revolutionary Arab nations. Indeed suppose the South Africans, outraged at the abuse directed at them, had a neutralist government on the lines of the DeGaulle government in France. Even a mild policy of non-cooperation could have disastrous effects on the Western powers.

Without ready access to Middle East oil and without continuance of its other vast sea traffic, England would have an overnight fiscal crisis. Its solvency could disappear, and the United States suddenly would be confronted with a gigantic and enormously expensive financial rescue operation.

These realities concerning South Africa — and they apply generally to the strategically important inland country of Rhodesia (which is a barrier to revolutionary advance in South-Central Africa), show up the folly of policies adopted in the past by the Johnson administration in the U. S. and the Wilson government in England. One is reminded of the incredibly foolish and offensive decision by the White House not to allow crewmen of the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, returning from the Vietnam war, to enjoy liberty in Cape Town.

Clearly, it is time that the Johnson administration make a public statement, repudiating the anti-South African policy which endangers the vital interests of the United States and other friendly maritime nations. Control of the Cape must remain in the hands of a stable, European - type government which will stand by the West in a time of crisis.

Scout Group Will Return on Sunday

The twenty boy scouts and explorers from the Cumberland area, who left June 30 for a camping experience at the Philmont Scout Ranch in northeastern New Mexico, are expected to return to the area on Sunday.

Included in the group were Ross Knotts, Ernest Wolfe and John Purbaugh, from the Deep Creek District.

They are being instructed in wilderness cookery, backpacking, hiking techniques and compass and map orientation. After three days with rangers the expedition continued following mountain trails on the 214-square mile ranch under their own adult leaders. While on the trail the scouts were participating in program features offered in 26 camps by more than 400 staff members. These features included geology, earth science, gold panning and mining, archeological study and digging, and mountaineering. They are part of a group of more than 15,000 who are participating in this experience.

Leaves Welfare

Garrett County awaiting adoption are cared for in pre-adoptive foster homes and this has been another area in which Mrs. Helbig has worked over the years. One foster family she recalls has had fourteen foster children in their care on a temporary basis in the past twelve years. The difficult part of this service she feels, is the becoming attached to the children and then planning to help them go to their new parents.

In connection with the child welfare services of adoption, foster care, after care planning for children released from the training schools, and protective service to children in their own homes, Mrs. Helbig has traveled thousands of miles in all kinds of weather. She has taken children to other county welfare departments to meet prospective new parents, taken children to hospitals and diagnostic clinics in distant cities, as well as her regular visits to foster homes, schools, doctors and clinics in this county.

Mrs. Helbig's duties also included counciling children growing up in foster homes and working closely with their own parents to try to re-establish the family unit always with the conviction that children belong with their natural parents when it is at all possible.

She has represented the local department at many public functions and addressed church and civic groups on the subject of child welfare and particularly foster homes and foster parents. A large part of her time and effort was spent in preparing referals of children and parents to juvenile court, clinics and other child caring agencies. She carried total caseload responsibility for all the work connected with these services for more than twenty-five years until a second child welfare worker was hired in September of 1963.

Mrs. Helbig recalls many instances in which troubled children and adults she has known professionally have made excellent adjustments and have become productive members of the community. She remembers too the situations which have not turned out satisfactorily. "I am going to miss all of it", Mrs. Helbig said as she completed her work with the Garrett County Welfare Department.

A dinner in her honor has been planned for tomorrow evening which includes welfare department staff members, their husbands and wives.

Questions and Answers

Q. I just realized I forgot to put my W-2 in with my return. What should I do?

A. Please keep it until you are asked by IRS to supply copy B of the W-2 and any other information needed to process your return.

Q. I just got my return in under the deadline. How long should it take for me to get my refund?

A. You should receive it within 6 to 8 weeks from the time you mailed it unless the return is incomplete or inaccurate. A return selected for a pre-refund audit will also result in a refund delay.

Q. I am being transferred to another city by my firm. What should I do if my refund hasn't arrived by the time we move?

A. File a change of address card with your postmaster when you move.

Also notify the IRS district offices serving you at your present and former address of the move. Be sure to include both your new and old address and your Social Security Number to identify your return.

Q. I made a mistake on my return and paid more than I should. When I correct this on an amended return should I send you a check for the right amount and stop payment on the first check?

A. No, do not send a new check or stop payment on the first check. If your amended return is accurate, you will receive a check for the difference between what you paid on the first return and the correct balance due.

Q. My refund arrived but it was lower than I asked for. Why was that?

A. Perhaps you made a mathematical error of some sort. When a refund is different from the amount claimed, the taxpayer receives an explanation either with the check or separately. Please examine any form you received with your check. The information may be there or may be sent a little later. If necessary write your district director. Include your Social Security number and the same name and address used on your tax return.

Q. Finding the records needed to fill out a return was the hardest part of the job this year. What could you suggest to make this easier?

A. The most important thing is to be sure that you keep good records to start with. If you don't pay by check, always get a paid bill or a receipt as a record of your payment.

Pair Returned To Hopemont Hospit'l

Two patients at Hopemont hospital were returned to that institution yesterday, almost before the authorities there knew they were missing.

Sheriff James E. Frantz said that A. and P. store officials had notified them yesterday of two individuals having cashed a check there who acted in a rather suspicious manner. The sheriff picked up Thomas Sheppard and John Williams, at the east edge of town and held them briefly for questioning.

In the meantime George Stewart, A. and P. employe, had called the hospital and officials there were unaware that the men were missing. It was found that the two had refused medication as tuberculosis patients and had been committed to the hospital by the court. Hospital officials informed the sheriff that the check was negotiable.

No charges were placed against the men but they were returned to Hopemont.

Wed June 10 In Oakland

St. Peter's Catholic church, Oakland, was the setting for the June 10 wedding of Miss Diane Morrow and Jay William Rice. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Regis Larkin.

The traditional wedding marches were played by Charles Teets while Joseph DiSimone was vocalist.

Vases of chrysanthemums and pompons, daisies and palms were used in the decorations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruthvan W. Morrow, Jr., Oakland. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rice, Loch Lynn Heights.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length A-line Empire gown with garlands of Venise lace, flowers encircling the bodice and three quarter sleeves. Her full chapel train was also trimmed with Venise lace flowers. She carried a cascading bouquet of white daisies and carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William R. Morrow, Knoxville, Tenn., sister-in-law of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Myers, Martinsburg, W. Va., cousin of the bride, Miss Beverly Rice, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Anne Gibson and Miss Michele DeWitt, of Oakland. Flower girl was Colleen Morrow, niece of the bride.

All attendants wore full length Empire crepe gowns with white daisies of Venise lace making the bodice, long silk crepe skirts and matching Watteau trains. The matron of honor wore maize with bridesmaids wearing nile. All carried yellow daisies. Their headdresses were small starched daisies with full bouffant veils designed to match their gowns.

The flower girl wore a full length dress of Clooney lace with nile bodice. Best man was Joe McKenzie, Grantsville. Ushers were William R. Morrow, Knoxville, brother of the bride; Ellis Schlosnagle, Accident; Herbert McCrobie and Glen Shaffer, Oakland.

A reception followed at Cornish Manor. Mrs. Herbert McCrobie, sister of the groom, cut and served the wedding cake.

Mrs. Dale W. Morrow, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Miss Mary Ann Cunard, Everett, Pa., roommate of the bride.

For her wedding trip to White Sulphur Springs, Pa., and Seven Springs, Pa., the bride wore a three-piece green linen suit with bone accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High school and attended Catherman's Business school in Cumberland. Mr. Rice is a graduate of Southern High school and attends Frostburg State college. They are residing at 217 East Green street in Oakland.

Two showers were given in honor of the bride, one by Mrs. Robert Gibson and daughter, Anne, and one by Mrs. Margaret DeWitt and daughter Michele. A rehearsal party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Rice, parents of the bridegroom.

Three persons were killed in traffic crash near Bay Bridge.

A certificate, bearing the Maryland seal and suitable for framing will be awarded each participant completing the course. There is no cost for participating. It is designed specifically for construction and maintenance supervisors and workers in an effort to reduce the accident, injury and fatality rates as a result of construction mishaps in Maryland.

The division of Individual Safety, Maryland Department of Labor and Industry, will provide the instructors appropriate hand out material and visual aids to supplement the oral instruction. The course is under the direction of John F. Nimick, Director of Industrial Safety.

State Farm Exports Reach High Figure

The farmers of Maryland's Sixth Congressional District gained income totaling $4.1 million from agricultural exports during fiscal 1966, Congressman Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., (R-Md., 6th) reported this week.

Mr. Mathias cited a recent Agriculture Department summary showing that Sixth District exports between July, 1965, and June 30, 1966, included $1.1 million in wheat; $800,000 in fruits and fruit preparations; $700,000 in dairy products; $300,000 in poultry products; $100,000 in vegetables; $800,000 in feed grains; and $300,000 in other commodities.

"These figures", the Congressman stated, "show beyond a doubt the importance of the Sixth District to our overall agricultural export efforts, and the corresponding importance of exports to the farmers of Western, Northern, and Central Maryland".

Receives Citation For Work With Youth

David Gonder, who is instructing in the public schools of Jamaica, under a Catholic volunteer program, recently received a public citation from the Bishop for his "outstanding work with the youth of Kingston".

David not only teaches 28 different classes but has made boy scouting a big part of the lives of Jamaican boys, according to a story appearing recently in "Papal Alert" a monthly publication published by Papal Volunteers.

More recently Dave has been appointed to the junior secondary sub-committee of the Ecumenical Committee on Religion which is drawing up a syllabus of instruction for Jamaican public schools and a guide on how to teach the course.

Bruce Barton, pioneer of modern advertising, died July 5 at 80.

DON'T LET ENTAMOEBA HISTOLYTICA ADOPT YOU

These parasite amebas are a primitive form of animal life which reproduce by just dividing in half. One can soon become millions. They are the cause of Amebiasis, generally known as Amebic dysentery. They are swallowed with food and drink, and burrow into the large intestines.

Beginning symptoms are not too troublesome. But, after they accumulate, they travel to the liver, heart, lungs and brain and a small percentage of cases are fatal. Symptoms are easily confused with those of appendicitis, colitis, peptic ulcer, intestinal cancer and others. Your physician can cure Amebic dysentery in about 95% of cases and control the rest if treatment is not too delayed.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

The length of a man's legs need not frustrate the strength of his purpose. By crawling one day, we are able to climb another.

There may have been spiritual giants like Saul of Tarsus who, in one overpowering experience, turned from violent resistance to fruitful service for Christ.

But there have been Doubting Thomases also . . . men and women who gradually, and only with the patience and help of God, found themselves in faithful service.

Don't be surprised, then, if an occasional visit to church has brought no remarkable change in your life.

But decide now to seek . . . earnestly . . . persistently . . . the spiritual fulfillment of your existence.

The Church holds before our eyes the goals of Christ. And though for a month of Sundays we may seem to crawl . . . one Sunday we discover, as millions of disciples before us, that we have begun to climb.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Christ Plus. . .

Background Scripture: Acts 15.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:1-11.

Several decades ago, a bishop of what was then the Evangelical Church was asked by an earnest layman whether a person could indulge in social dancing and still consider himself a "good Evangelical." Since at that time his denomination opposed social dancing for its members, the bishop answered with an unequivocal "No!" Unabashed, the layman continued: "Well then, if I were to indulge in social dancing could I still consider myself a good Christian?" Acknowledging that some denominations did not frown on dancing, the bishop replied in the affirmative. The layman was quick to respond: "How come it's harder to be an Evangelical than it is a plain Christian?"

Rev. Althouse

Our Particular Brand

This is hardly a new phenomenon in Christianity. It is often more difficult to belong to a particular brand of Christianity than it is to simply respond to the obvious requirements of the New Testament. When someone comes seeking counsel on the Christian way of life, the answer too often given is "Christ, plus . . . " That is, we say: "Accept Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour, plus subscribe to our confession of faith," or "be converted in the same manner in which I was," or "make sure you worship according to our liturgy," or "take this stand on that particular social issue," etc. It is that plus that can do so much harm to both the outreach and the unity of Christ's Church.

Martin Luther once said that 'there is a rabbi in the heart of everyone of us." What he meant was that all Christians are sometimes tempted to make legalistic this matter of following Jesus Christ. Whereas Paul could say, 'I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ and him crucified," many of us insist in adding a plus, a legalism that, though it may be well-intentioned, is contrary to the spirit of Christ who condemned the legalism of his own day.

What Is Essential?

The problem, of course, is really the question of what is truly essential for the follower of Jesus Christ? Whether to receive the sacrament of Holy Communion in the pews or at the altar: is this an essential question? Whether to stand or sit or kneel for prayer: is this vital? Is it essential to support the civil rights movement, to subscribe to total abstinance, to worship in church every Sunday, to tithe, to pledge, etc.? Each of these are held by some of us to be indivisable from what C. S. Lewis called "mere Christianity."

This was the dilemma that was facing the Church in Acts 15. The Mother Church in Jerusalem had received word that Paul and Barnabas had been receiving Gentiles into discipleship and also founding Gentile congregations. They must have received this news with mixed feelings: joy in learning of the spread of the Gospel, but uneasiness to see a growing Gentile segment in the Church.

Saved By Grace

At last a council was called in Jerusalem to determine what was essential for Christian discipleship. Some were saying, "Christ plus circumcision," while others were maintaining, "Christ alone!" There were still those who seemed to assume that one is saved by the law of Moses, while others were reminding them: "No, we are 'saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus' alone." We still tend to forget that it is by the undeserved mercy of God, not creeds, doctrines, liturgies, or moral codes, by which we are saved.

Peter carried the day when he said: "Now therefore why do you make trial of God by putting a yoke upon the neck of the disciples?" We are still trying God in that same manner today, still having difficulty in deciding what is essential. What is the "Christ plus" in the gospel according to you?

New Air Force Program Is Announced

Sergeant H. Buchholtz, local Air Force Recruiter, announced this week details of a new prior service program which is now in effect.

The U. S. Air Force is constantly in need of ex-servicemen from any branch who have served on active duty. If a prior service man was discharged honorably, recommended for re-enlistment and separated with a speciality that converts to a needed Air Force job speciality, he may be eligible for enlistment in the U. S. Air Force. In many cases an applicant can be enlisted with the same rank, same speciality and choice of assignment. An immediate 30 day leave is offered plus a complete issue of uniforms.

Sergeant Buchholtz also stated that ex-service men discharged with a job speciality that does not convert to an Air Force job may now enlist for a formal technical school. Thirty seven technical training courses are open under this new change. Duration of the courses range from 9 to 42 weeks.

Sgt. Buchholtz may be contacted at the recuiting office located at 3rd floor, P. O. bldg. in Cumberland.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Andrew Sisler, who passed away two years ago, on July 12, 1965.
The angels are softly guarding
A quiet and silent grave.
For in it lies a precious one
We loved but could not save.
The things you always did for us
We think of every day.
They keep you near and dear to us
Though God called you home to stay.
Sadly missed by Wife,
Children and Grandchildren

Watson-Holler Nuptials Held

Deep Creek Baptist church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Betty Lou Holler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holler, Oakland, to Gary Wayne Watson, of Oakland, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Watson, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Performing the double ring ceremony on Sunday, June 18, was Dr. C. P. Anderson, pastor. Traditional music was furnished by Mrs. Robert Harvey, Swanton, at the organ, with Charles O'Haver, Oakland as soloist. Music included "Because", and "The Lord's Prayer". Candelabra, ferns and vases of yellow mums adorned the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, was attired in a floor length gown of satin and imported Chantilly lace. The bodice of the gown had a scoop neckline and long tapered sleeves and was accented with moon pearls. The full skirt styled with ruffled Chantilly lace, fell into a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a crown of moon pearls and lace. The bride's bouquet was a cascading arrangement of white mums and ivy.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Edward Margroff, Accident, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Wayne Fike, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid.

Mrs. Margraff was attired in a floor length gown of true yellow crepe, styled with an empire bodice and a flowing train of crepe and Chantilly lace. Her headpiece was of yellow flowers and matching veil of illusion. A nosegay of orange and yellow mums accented the outfit.

Mrs. Fike was attired in a gown identical to that of the matron of honor. She carried a nosegay of orange and yellow mums. Flower girl was Sharon Ann Fike, niece of the bride. She wore a white dress trimmed in Chantilly lace and matching headpiece and carried a basket of rose petals. Michael Holler, brother of the bride, served as ring bearer.

James Watson, Clarksburg, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Tom Holler, brother of the bride, and John Sanders, both of Oakland.

Mother of the bride wore a blue bonded knit suit with white accessories. She had a corsage of white roses with matching ribbon. The groom's mother chose a mint green suit of embroidered linen with white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses with matching ribbon.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. Mrs. Ruth Bowman, Accident, and Mrs. Lucy Fike, Oakland, served the cake. Mrs. Delores Fike, Accident, served the punch. Miss Catherine Fike, Hyattsville, was in charge of the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, Canada and Ohio, the bride wore a two-piece beige suit with white accessories and an orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Southern High school. The groom, a 1962 graduate of Victory High school, Clarksburg, is now employed by WMSG radio station in Oakland. Mr. and Mrs. Watson are residing at 400 E. Alder street in Oakland.

On the program will be special main public lecture, "Rescuing a Great Crowd Out of Armageddon", on Sunday, July 30.

A few days ago we noted a big newspaper headline which read: "346 Attend Peace March; 23,438 did not". That's a journalistic style we'd like to see more often.

Parents Solicit Information Concerning Fatal Accident

On Saturday night, August 13, 1966, at approximately 11 P. M. or a few minutes before, two young men from Romney, W. Va., were killed in a collision of two cars, seven miles east of Romney on Route 50.

What is known is that a car containing two couples happened upon the scene at the time of, or immediately after, the accident. One of the couples in this car allegedly had been visiting their grandmother in the Oakland area and were returning east to their home near Washington, D. C. Also one of the men had been, at one time, a member of a rescue unit and he assisted at the scene of the accident. One couple also had moved into a new trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Shields, parents of one of the boys killed, which was their only son, are desperately trying to establish what happened at the scene, and will pay well for information concerning it. There will be no involvement in litigation whatever without consent because their understanding of exactly what happened is far more essential to their peace of mind than any legal entanglements.

If this request is read by the young couple, or possibly by the grandmother who may know about the incident, please be kind enough to contact D. S. Shields, 395 W. Rosemary Lane, Romney, W. Va. Telephone Number—Romney, W. Va., 822-5982.

Dignitaries At K. of P. Veterans' Night

Several grand lodge dignitaries were in attendance at the Veterans' Night observance of Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, last Saturday evening.

Jewels were presented to fifty and twenty-five members of the local lodge by Peter Halsey, grand chancellor of Pythians of Maryland.

Other grand lodge members from the state attending were James Shockey, grand master at arms; Luther Schramm, district deputy; Walter McKee, supreme representative; George Coddington and Alva Gortner, past grand chancellors who are members of Garrett Lodge No. 113.

Grand lodge officers from West Virginia included Bogles Carter, grand chancellor; Edmond Gillis, grand outer guard; Earl Kersler, grand secretary; Walter Schwinabart, Samuel Rutherford, and Sherwood Stewart, past grand chancellors.

There were also visiting members from Lonaconing, Terra Alta and Kingwood Pythian lodges.

Reorganization Would Erase 23 Md. Guard Units

The proposed reorganization of the nation's reserve forces would eliminate about 400 positions in the Maryland National Guard and reduce the number of state units from 68 to 45.

This assessment of how the move would affect Maryland was made by Col. Benjamin F. Dean, chief of staff of the 29th Infantry Division.

Under the reorganization plan announced by the Pentagon last month, 15 guard divisions, including the 29th, would be eliminated. If Congress approves the plan, the Maryland National Guard would be reorganized next February.

Of the 400 positions which would be eliminated, Col. Dean said 139 would be officers, two colonels, 13 lieutenant colonels, 47 majors and 77 captains.

He said all of the positions to be retired would be phased out over a three-year period. For an enlisted man, the greatest change would be to shift to another unit or have the function of his present unit changed.

The majority of the 6,868 Maryland men in the National Guard would not be affected by reorganization, Col. Dean said.

Nineteen Killed On State Highways

Nineteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the Maryland State Police.

Seven of the persons killed were drivers; seven were passengers; and five were pedestrians.

Alcohol was present in four of the fatalities; speed in ten; and "driver error" in sixteen.

Commenting on the loss of lives on Maryland highways, Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the State Police, said: "Year after year, day after day, we find some type of driver error is present in all but a few accidents. Last week was no exception.

"If safe driving is to be achieved, the operator must have complete control of his vehicle. To achieve this he must give his full attention to driving and not permit his mind to wander, even momentarily, from the rapidly changing traffic patterns around him. Otherwise, he creates a hazard for himself and others on the highway".

Joint Bible School Set

Convention Ground Rules Laid Down

A special committee of the Constitutional Convention, last Friday hammered out tentative ground rules to govern the convention when it convenes September 12.

The 21-member rules committee headed by Senate President William S. James, modified a list of 70 rules proposed by the Constitutional convention commission as one of its final tasks before adjourning.

Rules adopted were patterned primarily along legislative and parliamentary lines but with more power given to the convention president.

If approved by the 142 delegates meeting this week the rules would empower the president to appoint all committees and committee chairmen as well as hire staff members and act as chief executive of the convention. He also would have authority to establish whatever staff positions he felt were necessary and provide appropriate salaries for them.

The rules provide for 11 standing committees with each delegate guaranteed a spot on at least one of the eight substantive ones.

Committees would be authorized to meet anywhere within or without the state so long as they had convention approval.

B ntsen-Moon Nuptials Held

Miss Barbara Ada Moon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron C. Moon, 112 E. Pennington street, Oakland, became the bride of Ramon Grant Bentsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Bentsen, 5866 41st street, Crescent, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada, in an afternoon service at Grace Lutheran church, State College, Pa., on Saturday, June 17, at 4 o'clock. Rev. Dale S. Bringman, pastor, performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a sleeveless empire gown with scooped neckline, in shantung weave, topped by a jacket with wrist-length bell sleeves, of hand-woven Italian lace. The gown was completed with a detachable lace train. The shoulder-length veil was of illusion, held in place by a small cap of Italian lace, trimmed with small pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a pair of small pearl earrings. She carried a bouquet of variegated greens surrounding a large white spider chrysanthemum and sprays of stephanotis.

Mrs. Charles E. Durben, sister of the bride, 11 West Center street, Oakland, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Margot Uehling, State College, Pa.; and Miss Cynthia Craig, Alexandria, Va. The matron of honor and bridesmaids wore identical spring-green empire gowns and lace jackets, matching the bride's ensemble. Their headdresses were circlets of green veiling anchored by Italian lace and pearls. They carried bouquets of variegated greens; added to the matron of honor's bouquet was one large spider chrysanthemum in a green shade matching her gown. All three attendants wore small pearl earrings, gifts of the bride.

Serving as best man was Charles Marhefka, State College. Ushers were Gerhard Ehrenspeck and Vijay Gupta, both of State College.

Mother of the bride wore a suit of powder-blue lace and a matching hat of straw, and carried white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception was held in the Fireside Lounge of the church immediately following the ceremony. Serving at the punch bowl was Mrs. Vivian E. Schwartz, Gormania, W. Va., aunt of the bride. Serving the cake was Mrs. Francis Loibel, Cumberland, cousin of the bride. In charge of the guest book was Miss Victoria Loibel, Cumberland.

For traveling the bride chose a sheath dress of gold Belgian linen, topped by a jacket of heavy gold lace. Her attire was completed by accessories in bone and tan.

Following a week's tour of eastern Canada, including brief tours of Ottawa and old Quebec city and a short stay at Expo '67 the couple returned to State College where they will reside for the next few months.

The bride received her master's degree in English at Pennsylvania State University in September, 1966 and has been an instructor at the university. She was graduated from Western Maryland college, summa cum laude, in 1963.

Mr. Bentsen received his B.S. degree in Petroleum Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. After being in the oil fields of Colombia and Canada he resumed his studies at Pennsylvania State university and received his master's degree in 1964. He is completing requirements for his Ph.D. at Penn State.

Suit Filed For Fed. Court Action

The attorney for an area publishing company and its editor has filed a suit for injunctive relief in the U. S. district court in Baltimore, in a case involving contempt action brought by two judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit in Allegany County.

The suit was filed by Attorney John C. Sullivan last Thursday in Baltimore on behalf of Dorothy Martin, editor, and the Guardian Publishing company, Frostburg. Named defendants are Judges Harold E. Naughton and James S. Getty.

A hearing on a preliminary motion to be filed in the case by Robert Sweeney, deputy attorney general for the State of Maryland, will be held the week of July 24, in Baltimore, Mr. Sullivan said.

The action is the result of a contempt suit filed against Mrs. Martin, the publishing company and the Meyersdale Printing and Publishing company, based upon certain articles appearing in the newspaper in which it was alleged that the contents tended to scandalize and create a general disregard of the authority of the said judges and by writing contemptuously of the Court.

Judge James McGill, of the Fifth Judicial Circuit, Ellicott City, has been appointed by the chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals to preside at the proceedings in the original case. Mr. Sullivan's suit in district couurt prays a speedy hearing before a three-judge court; granting a temporary restraining order and an injunction enjoining the defendants from restricting the plantiffs from "publishing accounts of court decision which is a fair comment of the case and a factual analysis and restraining further prosecution" of the contempt citations.

The open church wedding will take place on Saturday, July 22, at 7 p. m. at the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren. Friends and relatives are invited to attend. Mr. Jamison is employed at Westinghouse Electric in Baltimore. Miss Whitacre is employed at Integrated Business Methods in Oakland.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 91. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JULY 20, 1967 PER COPY 10c NUMBER 21.

No Change . . .

At the end of his nationally televised press conference in the United Nations headquarters in New York on June 25, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, who had shown himself to be a shrewd and coldly arrogant replacement for the flamboyant Khrushchev, stepped down from the dais and walked through the crowd with his interpreter. One last question was flung at him as he passed a reporter — and I have yet to see this question and its revealing answer published anywhere in America.

Reporter (a paraphrase of the question): Do you think, Mr Premier, that class conflict now has a chance to succeed in the United States, and do you still believe that the proletarian dictatorship will be established over the world? The Russian Premier paused in his movement toward the door. His eyes leveled on the reporter. With an icy smile he uttered a clipped response: "Of Course!"

This was seen on television but scarcely any of the news reporters heard the exchange. It was the most

Aerated Lagoon Waste System Is Doing Good Job

The success of the aerated lagoon system which takes care of the waste material at the Sterling Processing plant in Oakland, seems to be spreading far and wide.

Within recent weeks there have been three airplane loads of people landing at the McHenry airport and coming to the Processing plant to inspect the lagoon that has been in operation just about a year, and which according to Gilman Sylvester, plant manager, is "doing an execellent job."

On Tuesday of this week there was a representative from the Armour Meat packing engineering staff from Chicago here and along with him were six men from the Department of Water Resources of Maryland and one from the Maryland State Department of Health.

The Water Resources board and the State Department of Health must approve the installation of such sewage treatment plants in this state. The L. B. Griffith and Sons company of Falls Church, Va., has the patent for the aerated lagoon system such as is used at Sterling.

Mr. Sylvester said that in recent weeks representatives from six poultry processing plants from the Eastern Shore and Delaware, and city officials from Milford, Del., have been on inspection trips here. He said they all, without exception, have expressed amazement at the successful and effective job the lagoon is doing.

Boyce Is Guilty Of Assault With Intent To Rape

Jury Returns Verdict After 1½ Hours; Recommends Mercy

Richard Arlen Boyce, 21, was found guilty by a jury on Monday of a charge of assault with intent to rape a 17 year old girl, in the Circuit Court here. There was a recommendation for mercy by the jurors who were headed by Harrison Stewart, foreman.

Boyce had waived his right to indictment and had requested an immediate trial. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Boyce and Theodore Eugene Crouse, 31, of the Kitzmiller area were placed under arrest on May 3, with the latter being charged with being an accessory before the fact

At a preliminary hearing on May 8th Boyce was held for action of the grand jury and Crouse was released for lack of evidence. Boyce was held at that time under $2,000 cash bond.

At the time of the arrest by Wayne Wilt, deputy sheriff at the time, Wilt related that the girl's father had sent the girl to the store for some items and while she was enroute there a car drove up and two persons got out. They allegedly forced her up into the woods alongside the road, Wilt said, but another automobile approached and in the confusion the girl escaped.

The traverser had 14 witnesses and the state used five in the all-day trial. The defense had attempted to have the testimony of LaValla Ann Pyles excluded from the records but without success. At the conclusion of the trial a motion was made for a directed verdict of acquittal but the motion was denied by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill, who presided.

The jury was out about one and one-half hours before returning the verdict. Following the verdict the judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation by the Maryland Parole and Probation Department. William W. Grant was appointed to the court to defend Boyce. The case was prosecuted by State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer.

Heavy Downpour Hits City Area

A downpour approaching a cloudburst struck the Oakland area about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but apparently the incident was more or less localized. While observers were confident that an inch or more rain had fallen within a twenty-five minute period, the reading at the Weber weather station one half mile south of town had recorded just .54 of an inch all day yesterday, and just an inch since Sunday.

However, Logan Weber, in town at the time of the storm, readily agreed that more than an inch fell. There were several sharp bursts of thunder, with lightning striking the instrument panel of the Deep Creek Creamery on Fourth street, and a washing machine in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Jones, in Mt. Lake Park.

A quantity of hail also fell in the Oakland area during the storm. On Monday evening a similar heavy rain fell in the Deep Creek Lake area but very little of it reached Oakland.

There was plenty of rain, however, throughout the week with temperatures in the 60s and 70s.

Harry Bittinger, dam tender at the Savage River dam, reported .35 of an inch of rain last Saturday. He said some 44 million gallons of water went over the spillway on Friday and at the peak of the flow on Wednesday some 182 million gallons went over the spillway. That amount for one day is more than twice as much water used in a week by Cumberland and communities served by the city from the Lake Gordon and Lake Koon supply.

The rainy weather has played havoc with picnic and other outdoor activities for the past several days and construction work has been halted or delayed by the rainy weather.

For a brief run-down of the weather, there was a light rain

"Private Lives" Is 4th Offering For Summer Theatre

For their fourth production of the 1967 summer season, the members of the Garrett County Playhouse will offer Noel Coward's "Private Lives," a sophisticated comedy. It will be given Tuesday through Saturday evenings, July 24 to 29.

The playhouse opened in 1955 with Coward's "Blithe Spirit", and the production was revived in 1965 for a season finale. "Private Lives" features Neil Flanagan and Susan Stoner, supported by Jean Sutherland, James Libby and Lee Thomasson. It is directed by Milburn Menhop.

The play is listed as adult family fare. For the balance of this week the players are presenting "The Unexpected Guest," by Agatha Christie, a mystery thriller.

The attendance the first two weeks of the playhouse broke all previous records, according to Gene Yell, director. The total was 957 during the first week and 808 for the second.

Rehabilitation Federal Grants Total $265,000

Programs Of Training In Building Trades Being Worked Out

Two federally subsidized programs for the continuing rehabilitation of the unemployed and underemployed people of the county have been approved in recent days and involve the expenditure of more than $265,000.

Rep. Charles M. Mathias, Congressman from the sixth district, announced this week that an Office of Economic Opportunity grant of $45,772 had been made to the county's Community Action committee, Inc., for a neighborhood organization program, over a three month period, designed to benefit low income population.

And Brad Rinard, of Oakland, head of the Community Action program in this county announced the approval of a grant of $219,920 for a work training program designed to provide employment for some seventy unemployed or underemployed people of the area over a year's time.

Mr. Rinard pointed out that the $45,772 grant was to complete the funded year which ends August 31. This program had been in effect over the past three-fourths of a year, in five target areas, Crellin, Kitzmiller, Friendsville, Jennings and Avilton. He said the amount would give additional staff and more neighborhood workers that would be assigned directly to the target areas, to work with residents in designing approved programs.

He said positions were available at present for six additional neighborhood workers and that preference would be given to low income residents.

The second grant of $219,920 for a work training program comes through the U. S. Department of Labor as the result of legislation known as the Nelson amendment program. These funds are to provide actual on the job training in construuction of homes and garages.

The convertible auto was pulling a boat trailer and boat and the boat ended up on top of the convertible. Robert James Mantz, 17, also of Pittsburgh, was the other occupant with Rossin.

The man was pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

State police said the accident occurred as the Preston county man, formerly of Bayard, was driving south on the highway, about one and one-quarter miles south of Red House.

Mathias Leads GOP Drive For Federal Reform

Says Unnecessary Paper Work Costs Citizens Billions

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias (R-Md. 6th) last Thursday led a group of House Republicans calling for action on legislation to create a commision to study federal management problems.

Joining with him in the campaign for organizational reform were Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, GOP floor leader; Rep. Gilbert Gude of Maryland and 16 other congressmen.

The Maryland congressman said the organizational problems of the government "confuse local and state officials, consume taxpayers' dollars, complicate the problems of federal civil servants and dilute the effectiveness of many valuable programs".

Stresses Need

In a speech marking the 20th anniversary of the creation of the first Hoover Commission, he stressed the need for a new commission to review current problems and to recommend reforms in:

Size of government: "We now have over 220 major federal grants-in-aid programs which are contained in more than 400 authorizations and administered by at least 21 federal agencies... paper work costs seven per cent of the budget — $9.5 billions this year. There are about 6,000 new federal employes in the Washington area alone this year."

Forms: "Applying for federal funds can be done only by a genius with infinite patience, a large staff and a speed-reading degree. Applications for recreational projects require a two-page form with three attachments, backed up by nine pages of instructions, founded on a 250-page manual with amendments averaging 9.8 pages per month".

Regional offices: "Maryland officials must go from Philadelphia o Charlottesville, with phia to Charlottesville, with College Park, Washington and Arlington to visit regional offices of all major departments".

Has Too Many

Coordinating efforts: "Rather than having too few efforts to coordinate, the executive branch has too many. HUD is involved in at least 72 interragency coordinating operations. HEW is involved in 168. The Agriculture Department in 1965 submitted a list of 326".

"Such problems", Rep Mathias concluded, "create serious threats to the effectivness of nearly every office in the executive branch. A broad review by a blue-ribbon commission is essentiai to making the federal government more responsive, efficient and effective instrument for conducting the nation's business".

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the Garrett County Memorial hospital staff for their many kindnesses to our family during the illness and death of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Lillie Paugh. Our special thanks to Rev. Sherwood, the nurses and aids of the third floor and Dr. B. L. Grant for their special care to mother and to her family.

Oakland's Old Houses

By Felix G. Robinson

45. This building where we are meeting today was once the Opera House, built by John Shartzer. The lumber was taken from the Lawton Woolen Mill that was located on Wilson Creek near the hospital. No opera troupe ever came to Oakland, but for many years the Opera House was used by traveling players who repertory included "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "East Lynne" and "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." It also was used by numerous home talent programs—and these latter I recall with pleasure, as I happened to take part in some of the productions.

The original Oakland houses—some of them still standing today—were built of sawed boards 12 to 14 inches wide and sometimes wider which, as mentioned previously, were set vertically, with three inch stripping placed vertically to cover the cracks. I think the principal reasons for this type of dwelling were the lack of stonemasons at the time, and the abundance of board lumber which was so readily available that it sold for five to seven dollars per thousand board feet.

39. Crook's Crest, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bussey, was built for General George Crook, and was being completed when the General died in the Palmer House in Chicago in 1890. His body was brought to Oakland, and among his pallbearers was Senator William McKinley, then Senator from Ohio, and who later became President of the United States. Another famous pallbearer was Buffalo Bill (Col. William F. Cody). The body was first interred in the Oakland Cemetery, then later removed to Arlington, where it rests under one of the more imposing monuments in the National Cemetery.

Because of the short life of such houses I am reminded of a passage from John Ruskin's "The Seven Lamps of Architecture:"

"I can not but think it an evil sign of a people when their houses are built to last for one generation only. There is a sanctity in a good man's house which can not be renewed in every tenement that rises on its ruins; and I believe that good men would generally feel this; and that having spent their lives happily and honorably, they would be grieved at the close of them to think that the place of their earthly abode, which had seen, and seemed almost to sympathize in, all their honor, their gladness, or their suffering — that this, with all the record it bare of them, and of all material things that they had loved and ruled over, and set the stamp of themselves upon — was to be swept away as soon as there was room for them in the grave; that no respect was to be shown to it, no affections felt for it, no good to be drawn from it by their children; that though there was a monument in the church, there was no warm monument in the hearth and house to them; that all they ever treasured was despised, and the places that had sheltered and comforted them were dragged down to the dust. I say that a good man would fear this; and that, for more, a good son, a noble descendant would fear doing it to his father's house. I say that if men live like men in deed, their houses would be temples—temples which we should hardly dare to injure, and in which it would make us holy to be permitted to live; and there must be a strange dissolution of natural affection, a strange unthankfulness, for all that homes have given and parents taught, and a strange consciousness that we have been unfaithful to our father's honor, or that our own lives are not such as would make our dwelling sacred to our children, when each man would build for himself, and build for the little revolution of his own life only.

"Our God is a household God, as well as a heavenly one; He has an altar in every man's dwelling; let men look to it when they read it lightly and pour out its ashes.

"I would, then, have our houses built to last, and built to be lovely; as rich and full of pleasantness as may be, within and without; what with degrees of likeness to each other in style and manner I will say under another head; but, at all events, with such differences as might suit and express each man's character and occupation, and partly his history. This right over the house, I conceive to, belongs to its first builder, and is to be respected by his children; and it would be well that blank stones should be left in places, to be inscribed with a summary of his life and its experience, raising thus the habitation into a kind of monument; and developing, into more systematic instructiveness, that good custom which was of old universal, and which still remains among some of the Swiss and Germans, of acknowledging the grace of God's permission to build and possess a quiet resting place". KNOW YOUR INSECT ENEMY
JAPANESE BEETLE

This pest is destructive to leaves, blossoms and fruits of more than 275 shrubs, trees and plants. Since first discovered in New Jersey in 1916, Japanese beetles have spread from Maine to North Carolina and westward to Ohio. Scattered colonies also exist in other Midwest states. Ironically, this insect is more damaging in this country than in its native Japan.

Beetle grubs spend about 10 months of the year in the ground, feeding on plant roots, especially grasses. Lawns often are ruined when heavily infested by the inch-long white grubs.

By May or June grubs stop feeding, take a brief rest in a pupal stage, then emerge as shiny, metallic-green beetles with coppery-brown wings. They are about an inch long. After digging to the surface, Japanese beetles are extremely active, especially on warm days. They rapidly devour leaves and fruits. A badly-attacked plant may have all its leaves skeletonized very quickly. Important agricultural crops and home garden plants are among the different types of vegetation favored by this pest.

Timeliness and thoroughness of insecticide application are most important to prevent serious damage. A new-type pesticide called Sevin offers particularly effective Japanese beetle control. Main advantages of this carbamate insecticide are its broad-range effectiveness against many plant pests, combined with its greater safety to warm-blooded animals.

Entomologists suggest several ways to reduce Japanese beetle damage. Keep plants in a healthy vigorous condition by proper fertilization. Since beetles are attracted to diseased or prematurely ripened fruit, remove and destroy this fruit.

Japanese beetles also prefer certain weeds, such as sassafras, smartweed, bracken and evening primrose. Weed control around fields and gardens is helpful to avoid attracting beetles. FNS

Internal revenue service acknowledged it used wiretaps and electronic bugging devices over 1,000 times in 1965.

From A Small Town Bench

Just to see the world go by, try getting yourself a five-cent ice cream bar and sitting on the little green bench, on a lazy day, in one of our local towns. You haven't sat long before you realize that a panorama of representative American life is flowing past on the highway.

First comes a man and woman in a little "bug", out with the kids this evening, as school is out and they're free to travel. Of course, it may be Mom alone in the station wagon, taking home the weekly groceries in bags so tall you can see them sticking up from the seat.

There goes the fellow in a lime truck who knew you long ago in your youths, before he assumed the handling of a lime business. He does look prosperous, but a bit concerned about affairs, never glancing over to see who is silly enough to be perched on a town bench with nothing to do. Behind him come his trucks, the drivers forcing on their vehicles, but with less consternation on their faces than the boss shows on his.

And next, in a recent model car, rides a worried-looking young man, well-dressed but sad. Didn't his sales turn out today or is he anxious about his early date, afraid he doesn't look quite fine enough? Another young person, this time a lady, with her hair done up in round pink curlers, bound in a floating scarf. All for beauty in America, even if we must resemble Hindus in the process!

What would every town do without its sophisticated citizens to give it luster? A black Thunderbird is taking the doctor to the golf course this afternoon, and the white Cadillac belongs to the local matron who considers herself a member of gay society.

Around the corner, slowly, comes a green auto of some years' experience, driven by the retired gentleman from just on the edge of town, his wife looking about her with interested glances. It is their turn, now, to be complacent for they have seen storms in living and have found peace. Perhaps they will be in a night meeting to help fellow humans who are not so fortunate.

The driving habits, too, would be an interesting study in themselves. Some people hug or fight with the wheel, while others, like the teen-age boy who just slipped by, seem to regard the entire car as a buddy and look quite in place with it, as an old friend who calms you and lets you pick up your equilibrium. Ah, perhaps it is age that really makes the difference, after all.

All form a cavalcade of every aspect of life—happy chatterers on a free outing; those who are in such haste, perhaps needlessly; and scores of drivers who regard the automobile as just another petty idea in the long list of daily mechanized servants. Some of them cast hurried glances—doesn't anyone sit on the street benches these days?

Now appears a vehicle packed to the brim with luggage. You glimpse very little of the occupants except their eyes and hair, as the car speeds on down Main Street. That's right, it comes from a far-off state, and we hope the travelers are enjoying our sights and monuments, not just hurrying to the next motel.

Such a hot day has called out the ranger with his pump truck, to show us that out nation's forests and natural beauties are ever under a capable direction. How fortunate are we who can relax because another worker never stops his diligence.

But best of all in this human caravan, here comes the farmer from two miles out of town. Was he in to get his sawblade fixed or did the tractor need a new bolt? Obviously, he didn't come to get a haircut, for it is evident that he still needs one. You can see the edges of his poplin shirt, all unkempt, and his battered old hat shading a sunburned face but suddenly you know the world is still all right—for he's whistling.

Commissioners Act On Various Items

A number of items of interest to the citizens of the county were acted on at recent meetings of the County Commissioners.

Minutes of these meetings have been approved by the Commissioners and include the following:

By action of the Board Thomas Sluss, county roads engineer was authorized to sign checks of the Roads department, and the signature of Clayton Smith also is to be recognized.

As of June 30 the board will not pay any accumulated or back pension charges.

The commissioners and representatives of supervisory employes of the County Roads department met to discuss problems presented by Ronald Steyer, Stanley Savage, Stanley Wood, George DeWitt, Herbert McRobie, James Fike and Jonas Peck. They discussed need of a second man on night shift to aid mechanic; agreed that sick leave would be increased from 18 days to 30 days; discussed foremen working overtime for which they were not being paid, and pointed out there was too little spread between their rate of pay and hourly paid men. Men asked to be given same increase as hourly paid men, but no action taken.

Sheriff James E. Frantz asked for county owned car for use of sheriff and deputies, radio for deputy Evans car, necessity of papering and painting offices and residence, two additional office chairs and an automatic heating plant for building. Commissioners agreed to secure service of paper hanger and to consider other matters.

Board of Education sought money to pay for surveying and other expenses involved in purchase of small six-acre tract for community college.

George Perrine of the Sanitary commission asked for office space, third floor of the court house, recently vacated by forestry department.

There was unanimous agreement that he receive the space.

There was a request by Jerry Moyer, supervisor of assessments, for allowance for expenses of Paul Fisher to attend fair conference of assessors. No payment was provided. Allen S. Paugh did not vote on motion because of failuure to provide funds for such purposes. Mr. Moyer asked board for an interpretation of attitude of board toward necessary expenses. Commissioners agreed to consult the board attorney. Mr. Moyer also brougat up matter of payment of expenses incurred in connection with appearances in tax court in Baltimore on tax appeals.

Commissioners pointed out they had allowed $200 for him for mileage and other expenses. W. Dwight Stover, attorney to board, said all legal expenses should be paid by commissioners. They pointed out levy already had been set.

Commissioners agreed to pay $25 each for ewes and buck sheep and $15 each for lambs on claims for sheep killed by dogs.

Two of FBI's ten most wanted fugitives were captured in Los Angeles.

Question

I've been concerned with all of the talk I'm hearing about hypertension. Can you give some factual information on this disease?

Answer

A recent survey conducted by the U. S. Public Health Service shows that one in every four adults in this country is suffering with either hypertension or hypersensitive heart disease... and that at least one adult in every five has a borderline case of one or the other of these diseases. At least 17,000,000 adults in this country are suffering with hypertension, and there is strong possibility that another estimated 16,000,000 also are suffering with it. Of all people over the age of 75, better than 35% are hypertensive (suffering with high blood pressure.) But, you'll be reassured to know that the medical profession is having outstanding success in treating hypertension with both drugs and diet.

There was a 50-degree reading Monday morning but still cloud cover. There was partial clearing with some additional rain Monday night. Tuesday began quite clear but clouds covered the area by midday and there was additional rain. Temperature reached 75 degrees. Wednesday began clear and warm with the sharp storm striking about 2 o'clock in the Oakland area. There was clearing later.

At the Deep Creek Creamery the bolt of lightning burned a hole in a sheet of steel but apparently caused no further damage. Allen Murray saw the bolt of lightning hit just as he reached up to close the overhead doorway.

Melvin Kight, at his place of business on Center street, said the depth of the water across he street was ample evidence it had never rained any harder. In front of Miller's market on Second street, some of the crates of fruits on display on the sidewalk began floating away as the water covered the area.

important utterance made by Kosygin during his American visit. Our Government's policy — diplomatic and military; our national defense planning — is today based on a belief that Kosygin and his Kremlin cohorts do not mean "of course" but really mean "No"! to the question of whether their goal still is the conquest of the world.

The belief in policy-shaping circles of our Government is that the Soviet Communists have forsaken their determination to take over the world, that they want a genuine peace, and that we must "build bridges" with the Kremlin bosses. A national news weekly magazine recently quoted a "congressional source" as follows: "LBJ thinks the way to get the Russians to do something is to kill 'em with kindness. Ninety per cent of the people in the State and Defense Departments support the notion of peace, trade, and friendship with the Soviets".

Kosygin, throughout the American visit, was "walking on top of the world". He arrived just after Soviet Communism had suffered a humiliating defeat before the world, in its backing of the Arab confrontation with Israel. But he was allowed to rise about this defeat, to recover prestige. He was permitted to stride across the world stage here virtuaully unchallenged, a towering figure pampered by the international press, followed step-by-step by the TV networks, sought after repeatedly by the President of the United States (a second invitation had to be blazoned in the press before he granted a "summit" with the U. S. President).

Some segments of the American press reported that Kosygin's subsequent visit to Red Cuba was to persuade Castro not to interfere with Latin American nations (since, the reports said, Russia wanted good trade relationships with Latin America). The truth is that Soviet Communism in January, 1966, (with Kosygin at the helm) set up Cuba as the world-wide training headquarters for Communist guerilla warfare, with Latin America as a testing ground. The truth is that Castro, with his Communist beachhead in the Western hemisphere, is a key man in Soviet strategy to achieve " the proletariat dictatorship over the world". Soviet arms in the hands of Castro-trained guerrillas operating in Latin American nations, Kosygin is delighted with this situation.—Dr. George S. Benson, President, National Education Program.

Hilter rose to power through the practice of the Big Lie, to win appeasement gifts and to weaken, fracture and ultimately destroy opposition. When the thoroughly fooled world woke up to his colossal deceit it was too late then to escape World War II; his position of great military strength, built on appeasement victories won by the Big Lie and cunning propaganda, nearly spelled doom for the rest of the world. The Communists today are advancing across the map of the world, using the Big Lie and overcoming opposition by winning appeasement victories just as Hilter did.

How long can so many of our people — some extremely influential — be fooled? Long enough to fatally weaken our nation? This question drives directly to the heart of today's "Great Debate" on the war in Vietnam.

If the Reds could amass public support for overruling our present determined stand against Communist aggression into South Vietnam, and then wedge their way deeper into southeast Asia, World Communism would have a victory almost as great as the victory in China in 1949, made possible by a similar Big Lie campaign in America; and equal to the victory in Cuba in 1959, which was due largely to their masterpiece of propaganda — gaining acceptance in America of the fraudulent Castro, thus making it possible for the Reds to capture Cuba.

Their Big Lie about Vietnam has gone a long way towards creating policy turmoil in the highest echelons of war management in Washington. It has created in many "friendly" nations bothersome opposition to American policy. The Communists' Big Lie about Vietnam says that it is a 'civil war" which arose internally and not through the instigation of Communist North Vietnam, or Red China, or Soviet Russia (all of which now are visibly engaged against us there). They are helped in spreading the Big Lie by the fact that in the beginning there was no military invasion from North to South as had occurred in Korea in 1950.

When Communist North Korea, using Russian tanks, planes and other armament, suddenly invaded South Korea on June 25, 1950, it was like a thunderclap rolling across America and the free world. President Truman, the Congress, and the American people, recognizing our commitment to South Korea and the danger to the whole world of letting aggression go unchallenged, were unified in the decision to go to South Korea's aid. (World Communism later won a "stalemate" victory in Korea by brandishing the propaganda threat of "World War III" if America attacked the troop and weapons sanctuaries which permitted the Korean Reds to stay in the war.)

The war in Vietnam, on the other hand, started with the Communists conducting a surreptitious guerilla strategy, which had worked so successfully for Castro's Communists in Cuba. The Reds had organized the Vietcong (disguised as a native revolt against a "bad" government) as their spearhead of takeover. Pulling the strings behind the scenes were the planners, the managers, the tacticians of guerrilla warfare sent into South Vietnam from Communist North Korea and Red China. North Vietnamese armies came in — armed by the Chinese and Soviet arsenals — as had been planned, in event the Vietnamese faltered.

America is no more the aggressor in the Vietnam war than she was in the Korean war.

Are the voices in influential places in America who are peddling this proposition really fooled — or do they understand the facts and want to camouflage them to fool the American people? This question, and the identity of the actual aggressor ought to be explored by every citizen for himself; every citizen needs to go back into the history of the last 25 years and examine the many techniques of conquest employed by the Communists (and how they and their helpers have fooled so many people) to gain control of nearly half the world's population and to become the second most powerful military power on earth. A recent book The Politics of Surrender, by M. Stanton Evans (Devin-Adair, N. Y.) carries a well documented report on this period.

jungle terrain while on a search and clearing mission. Sergeant Brown and his unit pushed deep into the Viet Cong infested jungle to locate and destroy several enemy base camps and capture large amounts of enemy war supplies.

"The resolution of purpose and outstanding courage demonstrated by Sergeant Brown significantly contributed to the success of these operations and all others in which he participated. Staff Sergeant Brown's outstanding display of aggressiveness, devotion to duty and personal bravery is in keeping with the finest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, the 1st infantry division and the United States army."

He is presently stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo. His wife, the former Marie Tichnell, of Swanton, and daughter are with him.

Mr. Rinard said plans are under way to employ fifty persons in the building trades program and park construuction, and that they would be taken from welfare rolls and some from the rolls of the unemployed on record at the Employment office. The program began July 1 and will operate for one year under the Community Action committee, headed by Mr. Rinard.

He said there were also plans to develop a class in home attendants, using twenty unemployed women. The class would teach these persons to be of aid to elderly women being discharged from hospitals under the medicare program. Development of this program will depend upon the cooperation of the state and local health departments, he said.

A woodworking program is to be set up on 8th street and the latter grant also will involve the building program in the Vindex area.

Already hired are James L. Pollock, as parks and playground construction coordinator; Isaac Wotring, building trades coordinator; and Earl Railey, supervisor and instructor of work training and job development.

Mr. Rinard said the overall aim of these projects is designed to help people to help themselves and to provide the opportunity for additional employment in the county.

It was pointed out that the local share in the first program is $8,904. This program has been in effect over the past nine months with funds being made available by the quarter, through the office of economic opportunity.

Area On Normal Rail Operations

With the end of the three-day strike on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad the line is about back to normal as far as Oakland is concerned.

B. and O. officials said the extra freight trains had been ordered to clean up a back log which resulted from the tie-up of all traffic on the line since Saturday night. The rail yards in the Cumberland area were filled with freight cars which stopped moving at midnight Saturday when the International Association of Machinists struck.

When President Johnson signed legislation ending the strike the machinists were ordered back to work by officials of the union but members of five other shopcrafts voted to continue the strike for 24 hours. The machinists honored the picket lines of the five unions.

In midafternoon the pickets of the five unions were withdrawn on orders of their officers. Cumberland was the last area in Maryland to comply with a court restraining order that had been granted by a U. S. district court judge in Baltimore.

Postmaster Guy William Hinebaugh said that mail service at the post office was back to normal. There had been an embargo on second class mail, pending settlement.

Speaking of Insurance

An official of a major manufacturer has released a sneak preview of the changes in store for the family car by the year 1980. For example, he expects that windows will be fixed—no more rolling up and down. The steering wheel will be retired along with the reins on yesterday's one horse shay. Steering will be by wrist action, with dual controls in each car, possibly lending new significance to the role of the "back seat driver."

Tires will last for from 50,000 to 100,000 miles. Air conditioning will be thermo-electric. Garages will provide diagnostic computers which will test cars completely through an electrical "umbilical cord," perhaps in a matter of minutes.

But, pretty obviously, one element will remain about the same. The human element. The man behind the wheel, who too often today walks away from his car leaving the keys in the ignition, thus contributing to the record 520,000 auto thefts tabulated last year. More than 80% of all cars stolen are left unlocked and nearly half contained the keys. It seems to me there is an important message for the automobile owner somewhere in this paragraph.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws. CLIP AND SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE.

Question and Answers

Q. My wife and I both work. Can I claim her exemption for income tax withholding purposes?

A. Yes you can if she does not also claim her exemption. The law does not permit two taxpayers to claim the same exemption.

To make a change in the number of exemptions claimed, file a new withholding certificate, Form W-4, with your employer. If you decide to take your wife's exemption she must file a Form W-2 to drop her exemption with her employer.

Q. Do I have to keep track of the value of our wedding gifts for tax purposes?

A. No these gifts won't be taxable to you.

Q. Are there any booklets that explain the federal tax on trucks?

A. The highway use tax on motor vehicles is explained in Publication No. 349, Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck Tractors, and Buses. The booklet may be obtained at your local IRS office.

Those liable for this tax must file Form 2290, Federal Use Tax Return on Highway Motor Vehicle, by August 31 to cover the tax period beginning July 1.

Q. Is a foreign exchange student taxed on income earned in the U. S.?

A. Money earned in this country will most likely be taxable. Details on what U. S. taxes a foreign student may be liable for are contained in the booklet, Document No. 5588, "Tax Advice for Foreign Scholars and Visitors on Official Educational and Cultural Exchange Programs" available at IRS district offices.

Q. I moved my business to a new location last spring but I'm still getting tax forms showing my old address. How can I get this changed?

A. When you file your next return use the pre-addressed form, but draw through your old address and write the new one in its place. This will enable us to identify the mailing information we have for you in our files and to bring it up to date.

Q. My girl friend told me that I have to pay Social Security tax on any tips I make waiting tables this summer. Is that right?

A. Tips have always been considered taxable income, but until last year they did not count for Social Security purposes. Congress changed the law on tips and starting January 1, 1966, tips have had to be reported to the employer for withholding purposes when they are $20 or more a month.

Based on these monthly reports, income tax and Social Security tax on tips are withheld from the employee's regular wages. You will find details on this in Docuument No. 5640, "Reporting Your Tips for Federal Tax Purposes".

21 Persons Killed On State Highways

Speed continues to claim a high toll of lives on Maryland highways. Last week it was a factor in fourteen of the fatalities.

"When will the motorist learn", asked Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the Maryland State Police, "that the job of driving is a demanding one that requires full-time attention to all aspects of the complex traffic patterns in which he continually finds himself, and this includes the necessity of adjusting his driving speed to conform to these changing conditions.

"With deadly repetition we find that police officers have diagnosed the cause of a fatal accident as 'speeding vehicle out of control' and, too often, they also find that the speeding operator is also under the influence of alcohol".

Twenty-one persons were killed on Maryland highways last week. Thirteen of those killed were drivers, four were passengers; and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in six of the deaths; speed in fourteen; and "driver error" was present in seventeen of the fatalities.

The Frosted Look

Many homemakers have inquiries about the white "frosted look" line that appears on the sharp crease of trousers of durable-press fabrics after a number of washings, Mrs. Freda Denison, extension agent stated. This is due to a color loss and wear of the threads on this sharp edge. To avoid this turn the garment wrong side out before putting into the washer. With durable press be sure to pre-heat grease stains with concentrated detergent immediately. If the stain has been in for a period of time, use a naptha base dry cleaning solvent.

Evening Classes Again Available

Eighteen courses covering a wide range of subject fields are included in the evening education program of Potomac State College for the 1967-68 academic year, according to an announcement by Dean James T. Handlan.

Now in its third year, the college's evening program extends an opportunity to employed persons and housewives to begin or continue their college education. Most courses meet one evening a week for a period of three hours, the dean said.

An offering new this fall will be "Introduction to Data Processing", a beginning course in computer science designed to provide foundation knowledge for continuing study in this new phase of technology. Another course in computer science will be offered during the second semester.

Beginning in September, courses will be offered in accounting, computer science, engineering, English, mathematics, social science, and Spanish.

A brochure describing the evening program may be secured by contacting the registrar's office at the college.

Persons wishing to enroll in the evening program should make application to the college registrar's office immediately.

Issues Advice To Elderly on Tax Credit Difficulties

Harold Adams, clerk to the County Commissioners, issued some advice to the elderly citizens who might be applying for tax credit.

He advised that if current taxes are paid, an applicant would not be eligible for any relief, since there is no fund provided for that. However all back taxes must be paid.

Thus far the officials have received 11 applications for tax credit. These are being processed. Mr. Adams also advised that a person must be 65 or older by July 1, to be eligible.

Head Start To End 3rd Year, Aug. 8

Head Start for 226 boys and girls who will enter school in September began June 26 and will end August 8, at seven centers in Garrett County. This is the third successive year for this federally supported program.

Schools at which centers are located are Center Street, Loch Lynn, Crellin, Friendsville, Accident, Grantsville and Route 40. Parents are involved in the program as aides and volunteers whenever possible. Many parents volunteer to assist on trips. Office of Economic Opportunity has called for more parent involvement this year in the program.

Several groups have visited Story Book Forest and Idewild Park, Ligonier, Pa. They also visited Constitution Park, Cumberland.

Wednesday, July 19, Garrett County Head Start was invited to go to Frostburg State College to see the Alleghany Festival Theatre give a special early performance at one p. m. of The Dancing Donkey.

Nancy Goldsmith, Regional Training Officer, Project Head Start, University of Maryland, visited the seven centers. These are some of her written evaluations according to her. "As we toured the seven centers it was certainly evident that your Head Start programs are truly 'team efforts'. The entire staff is so enthusiastic and eager to provide rich, meaningful experiences for young children. With such dedication Head Start's success is sure to continue".

"The class rooms are all well equipped and nicely divided into well defined centers of interest. A relaxed, informal, accepting atmosphere seemed to pervade. Head Start is designed to show boys and girls that learning can be fun".

For the first time dental and medical needs will be cared for. July 18 visit to the Garrett County Project were made by Dental Personnel as part of an evaluation of the dental program in Head Start which is being carried out by the Division of Dental Health, United States Public Health Service.

Review of The Play

"The Unexpected Guest"
A Review

If it is suspense, intrigue, drama, or pathos you are seeking, then we can highly recommend this week's offering at the "Blue Barn" of the Garrett County Playhouse. Agatha Christie's highly successful, and much-produced "The Unexpected Guest", is one of those plays that can keep you on the edge of your seat from the opening 'gun', to the final solution of a crime that has been committed under unusual circumstances. The author is more than a 'run of the mill' mystery writer, for she stands head and shoulders above her contemporaries. She is one of the few writers of detective fiction whose books have consistently made best-seller lists on both sides of the Atlantic.

Almost every character in "The Unexpected Guest" could have been the one person who shot and killed Richard Warwick, 'played' by Welton Lane. Each had a bona fide motive, and yet all had alibis that are seemingly convincing. Laura Warwick, the wife and now the widow, of the big game hunter, and coolly portrayed by the popular Danielle Pressly, is found by the 'unexpected guest'- or was it the intruder? - standing beside the body, gun in hand. Milburn Mehlhop, in the production as Michael Starkwedder, works hard to offer help to the widow, by offering every motive possible that sounds plausible. Michael's car has floundered in the ditch near the Warwick home, located in South Wales, the locale of the play.

Could the culprit be the mannish Miss Bennett, or 'Benny' as she was familiarly called, who was Warwick's secretary for many years? Jean Sutherland, making her appearance at the Playhouse for the first time this season, makes an attempt at revealing more about her late employer than was formerly known. Or might the killer have been the retarded half-brother of the victim? Jan Warwick, for whom one initially has deep sympathy because of his infantile mind, is done by Philip Nicholson, and as usual turns out a convincing performance.

Susan Stoner, in character as the strong-willed mother of the victim, Richard, proves once again her versatility, and with the excellent job of make-up and costuming, comes close to proving that her son was murdered by someone who was in collaboration with her. Her performance has to be seen to be really appreciated.

Neil Flanagan returns to delight his audience with his light and airy ways as the police sergeant. Although he plays 'second fiddle' to Inspector Thomas, the chief investigator of the crime, he - Flanagan - gives the play its needed touch of comic relief. His superior, the inspector, is done by Paul Thomas, who although he has his own version of the crime, is still somewhat indebted to the sergeant.

Enter Julian Farrar, the politician, who complicates things considerably, for while he is concerned about his up-coming election, tries to involve himself in the plot, but still gives the appearance of aloofness. James Libby carries off his role with good effect.

Tom Hege, the valet for Richard Warwick, like others surrounding him, appears to know more about his 'boss' than one is given to believe. No, the reviewer is going no further in the play than this, for one is in for a real surprise which is not revealed to the audience until the very last of the second of the two acts.

This play, "The Unexpected Guest", is one that will be remembered by theater-goers in Garrett County. It is good drama well done by a cast that knows its craft, and one that the entire family will find exciting.

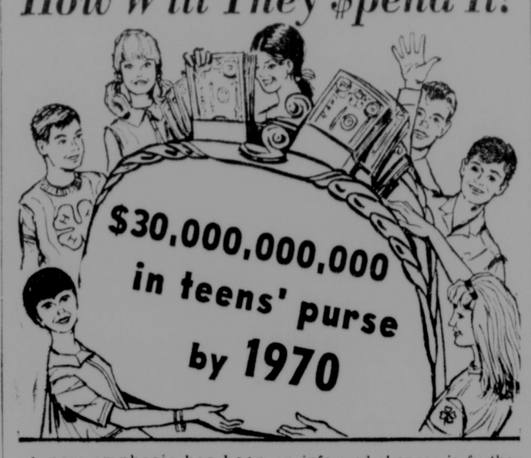
How Will They $pend It?



A new emphasis has been added to one of the oldest programs for 4-H Club members. The 45-year-old national 4-H Home Economics program this year features consumer education, according to the National 4-H Service Committee.

The reason for introducing the consumer section in the program is because of the need for more guidance in this field in view of the tremendous buying power of American teenagers, a committee spokesman says.

By 1970 teenagers will spend from $21 to $30 billion. This compares to $11 billion spent in 1963.

In less than three years, it is estimated that more than one-fifth of the total U.S. population will be between 10 and 19 years of age. The purchasing power of this young generation will exceed anything in the past.

Today approximately 1.3 million 4-H youtns are engaged in home economics projects involving some purchasing. Most of the members are girls, but with the emphasis on consumer education 4-H leaders expect more boys to participate.

Their reasoning is that boys buy clothing, grooming aids, food, furnishings for their rooms, record players, records, televisions and radios.

Girl members buy the same things plus small appliances, sewing and interior decoration items. The importance of being an informed shopper is further underscored by the fact that today's teens will suddenly become tomorrow's homemakers.

Club members who highlight consumer emphasis in their projects will be rewarded by Montgomery Ward, the program sponsor.

Awards are six national $500 scholarships, a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago for the state winner, and honor medals for four top members in the county. Winners are named by the Cooperative Extension Services which directs all 4-H programs.

To help 4-H leaders and members carry out program goals, the National 4-H Service Committee has published a brochure entitled "4-H Home Economics with Emphasis on Consumer Education."

This educational aid will show 4-H girls and boys, who contribute a sizeable sum to the nation's economy, how they can get the most for their dollars.

Among things to do are (1) become familiar with stores in the community (2) examine quality of merchandise and services (3) check brands, labels, utility (4) compare impulse buying versus planned buying. The young consumers also are urged to study ads, take advantage of seasonal sales, and learn about cash, credit and installment buying.

Is Your Name SCHELL?

Do You Know That:

Schell, an old and honored surname, is principally of German origin. According to authorities on the origin of names, it was applied, when surnames first came into vogue, to merchants, innkeepers and others whose business establishments were identified by a sign bearing the likeness of a stallion. This was a common and necessary practice because of the fact that most of the people were illiterate in mediaeval times and were in the habit of identifying business places by the signs that they displayed.

Jacob Frederick Schell (1740-1824) was a private in the Albany County, New York militia during the Revolutionary War. He was born and died in Scoharie, N. Y. Another Revolutionary patriot was Nicholas Schell (1746-1803) who served as a surgeon in the Berks County, Pennsylvania militia.

An interesting genealogy of the Schell family was compiled by Christian Denissen and published in Detroit in 1896.

There are eight references to persons by the name of Schell in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Augustus Schell (1812-1884) was a distinguished attorney, politician and philanthropist. He made his home in New York City where he was head of The Tammany Society, Collector of the Port of New York and candidate for mayor of the city. He served as president of the New York Historical Society and his favorite charity was The New York Institution for the Blind of which he was president for the eighteen year period preceding his death. He was one of four brothers, of whom Richard was one of the most daring operators in Wall Street and Robert and Edward were presidents of leading banks.

Walker Schell (1857-1915) was a physician and surgeon of note who practiced his profession in Terre Haute, Indiana.

Frank Charles Schell, Jr., is vice-president and a member of the board of directors, Quaker Oats Company, with offices in Chicago.

Japanese Weevil Gaining Foothold

The Japanese weevil has gained a foothold in isolated areas of Maryland and Delaware during the past several years, according to the Maryland Nurserymen's association.

Often referred to as a snout beetle, this insect is about 3/16 of an inch long with a plump rounded abdomen and a short snout. Movement is slow but the weevil can be carried on plants, foliage and in cars during the summer months.

Adults emerge in late June and feed heavily until August on hemlock, azaleas, forsythia and California privet. Other ornamentals are attacked to a lesser extent.

If their presence is suspected, one way to check is to lay a cloth on the ground and strike sharply against the foliage. This weevil "plays dead" when disturbed and will fall from the plant.

Control of this insect is difficult when attempted by the use of chemicals available to home owners. Chlordane is slow and partially effective. Commercial spray men have access to chemicals more effective and should be able to offer complete control when necessary.

A Goal For Youth

As respectable citizens concern themselves with the problem of the "beatnik" and "hippie" element in the nation — young people who divorce themselves from community and national responsibility, it is well to bear in mind the words of a distinguished leader who has had wide experience in molding youngsters for service to country.

The leader referred to is Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, USMC, commanding general of the Fleet Marine Force Pacific. Gen. Krulak recently said of the former "beatniks" who have come under his command:

"As to their beards and long hair and sweatshirts that will stand up by themselves, I have no concern about that because that's very superficial.

"Many of the same boys who are distinguishing themselves in the highest order of heroism in Vietnam today once had long hair, dirty sweatshirts and sandals. It doesn't take very long to give them a haircut and a bath.

"The important thing, though, is to give them something to aim for — a target, an objective. Once you do that, you will have no more trouble with them. I have no concern whatever about their ugly appearance, repulsive though it is to me, because I know it is superficial."

The counsel given by Gen. Krulak makes a great deal of sense — youth must have a goal. The Marine Corps, like the other armed services, gives youngsters a goal — something to aim for when they are in uniform. But it also is important that everything in a youngster's bringing up contribute to a vision of a full, rich, responsible life as a citizen.

Unfortunately, young people are not always provided with a worthy goal or with the right examples. The three branches of the U. S. government should play a prominent part in furnishing young Americans with examples of what is good, but these branches in recent years often have provided disastrous illustrations for action.

President Cleveland once said that the people should support the government, and that government should not support the people. But recent administrations under the influence of "liberal" ideas, have taken a contrary position. They have played down the concept of self-reliance and personal independence. It is no wonder, therefore, that the "beatniks" and "hippies" have flourished of late.

The Great Society of the Johnson administration, for instance, utterly fails to give youth a proper goal toward which they can strive. Indeed the Great Society, continuing the social concepts of the Kennedy New Frontier, teaches young people that government owes them a living. The Renticare program, which involves a government rent subsidy, is a horrible example of government in action in the worst way. Young people, noting this and similar programs, learn the lesson that Big Government will make up for the failure of individuals and will carry along those who have no inclination to do their part in the community.

In the past, young Americans had held out to them a vision of a society in which everyone was expected to carry part of the load. Youngsters knew from their very early years that they had to work hard to get ahead. Now, however, it is very difficult for youngsters to get jobs. Lawmakers have created rules whereby employers may not offer jobs to youngsters in their early teens. If they do so, the employers are subject to fines or imprisonment.

The fantastic truth is that the "liberal" administrations have been anti-work. They have promoted welfare programs at enormous expense, often without requiring that the recipients engage in any work for the community. Indeed the federal aid-to-dependent children has caused many unwed mothers to make a career of illegitimacy. The War on Poverty has offered comfortable nests to people who otherwise would have to go to work for private employers.

It it any wonder, therefore, that the nation has a "beatnik" problem? Of course it isn't. The "liberal" leaders of our country have failed the young people of America. Instead of giving them the goal of independence through hard work, they are providing them with the goal of becoming a drone at public expense. Clearly, it is time for a change.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Pictures are made by fools like me. But it took an architect-friend to help me appreciate this one.

"I'm always impressed," he said, "when someone puts beauty and meaning where otherwise there would have been nothing. That's what God did when he made this tree!"

Photographers like to pretend they're philosophers. So I titled my picture Where There Was Nothing . . .

Next Sunday my architect-friend invited me to church. A bit overwhelmed by this sudden solicitude for my long-neglected spiritual welfare, I went. And there a remarkable discovery awaited me!

It is a drab expanse of broad, flat years which I call my life. And only God seems able to put beauty and meaning where otherwise there was nothing. Every Sunday a new truth grips me. Every Sunday I discover a new tree!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

Some Other Door

Lesson for July 23, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 15:36 through 16:12a. Devotional Reading: Philippians 1:1-11.

Speaking of a decisive period in his life, Robert Louis Stevenson wrote: "I came about like a well-handled ship. There stood at the wheel that unknown steersman whom we call God."

Rev. Althouse

All of us experience similar times in our lives when we change course. Yet, unlike Stevenson, we may be unaware that there is anything or Anyone at the helm. It may seem that we have been merely caught in some wayward current that has swept us unwittingly in some new direction. We may call this "the breaks of the game," "the odds," or write it off simply as "the way the ball bounces."

When Doors Close

For Paul the Apostle life was not that haphazard. He saw in it the hand of God. In the midst of the so-called "second missionary journey" throughout what today is modern Turkey, Paul and his party experienced some formidable obstacles as they prepared to visit the province called "Asia." Later, as he attempted to enter Bithynia, he encountered the same difficulties again. The writer of Acts does not tell us what these obstacles were, but, whatever they were, Paul did not dismiss them as "tough breaks" or "rotten luck." In each of these experiences Paul saw the guidance of God through the Holy Spirit.

We might suppose that this brought some disappointment to Paul, perhaps even bewilderment. Didn't God send him on this journey to minister in these areas? Why then should he experience these obstacles? Why should the door be slammed in his face? For Paul, however, there was a faith that saw the closed doors as representing the will of God.

This assurance was soon confirmed when in a dream he saw a man of Macedonia beckoning to him and calling: "Come over to Macedonia and help us." Then it was that Paul learned one of the lessons that all followers of Christ must learn: God closes doors in our lives in order to open others. Instead of the province of Asia and Bithynia, God wanted Paul and his party to cross over onto the continent of Europe. Had he not closed these two doors to Paul, the apostle might never have made what was to become one of the most decisive moves of his life and ministry.

To Get Our Attention

Sometimes this is the way God must work. Perhaps we become so engrossed in what we are doing at the present, that when God calls us to move on to something else, we cannot hear him. In order to get our attention, he must close a door or two so that we will begin to open both our eyes and our ears to some new task or possibility. Often it is only when we are faced with closed doors that we can begin to see those which he has opened.

The cities of Asia and Bithynia were important cultural and economic centers and it is unlikely that Paul would have been willing to give up his plans for these two areas. He could not have known then, as we do today, that someday soon the center of civilization would move from Asia into Europe and that this continent would become the key mission field for centuries to come.

The Third Door

So God closed two doors and opened a third. He still works in this manner in our world today, but we will see him leading us thus only when, like Paul, we look for the Spirit of God behind these situations. He will still guide us today if we will seek his guidance and be willing to follow it when we find it.

Look at some of the closed doors in your life. Are they to be written-off as merely "tough luck," "the breaks of the game," or "blind chance"? Or are they pointing to some other door through which God wants you to walk?

Survey of Gypsy Moth Is Planned

During the months of June, July and August the Plant Pest Control Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the State Board of Agriculture will conduct a trapping survey for the gypsy moth in Garrett county. The gypsy moth trap is approximately the size and shape of a Dixie cup, and utilizes a sex attractant to lure male moths to its location. Traps will be set at random in parks, camping sites, roadside picnic areas, processing plants (wood products), truck stops, and railroad sidings. There is a possibility that the gypsy moth could spread to Maryland, and should this happen early detection would be of prime importance, it was said.

The gypsy moth was accidentally introduced from Europe into Medford, Mass., in 1869, and has spread over nearly forty million acres. In 1933, 1½ million acres of woodlands were defoliated 25 to 100%.

The insect is presently a serious pest of forest and shade trees in New England and eastern New York. It has appeared from time to time in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Michigan and Ohio.

Caterpillars, or larvae, of the gypsy moth kill trees or retard growth by feeding on the leaves. Two successive defoliations can kill oak, birch, poplar, willow, linden, apple, and other hardwoods. A single defoliation may kill pine and hemlock.

Further information regarding this pest can be obtained from the county extension agent, the University of Maryland, or the nearest Plant Pest Control Division office.

POST NASAL DRIP BEGINS IN THE NASOPHARYNX

To maintain moisture, the nasal passageways produce copious quantities of both a watery secretion and a thicker mucous. A certain quantity always lingers in the upper throat or nasopharynx. If an oversupply accumulates, particularly of the mucous, the result is a post-nasal drip.

Some basic causes are air irritants, smoking, chemical or physical damages to membrane, gross deformities in nasal passageways, climate, altitude or humidity. Gargling is not considered effective. Do not neglect medical treatment of post-nasal drip. Otherwise the tissues thicken, resulting in permanent deformities which require surgical correction.

Church Preparing Recreation Site

A new summer camp was augmented in Garrett county through the efforts of the men of St. Michael's Catholic church, under the direction of Robert Seibert and the Holy Name committee.

For several years the parish operated a summer camp at Pleasant Valley under the direction of Rev. Regis Larkin, but increased activity at that area it became necessary to obtain a new site. Rev. Francis Montgomery, pastor, purchased a thirty-four acre tract in this county about seven miles west of Frostburg.

The new camp site has a lake that will be used for swimming, a fair size stream of water, level areas for play grounds, plenty of ground for family picnics and outings and camping areas. This year has been set aside to install toilet facilities, prepare parking areas and make the camp ready for family picnics. Plans have been drawn for projects at the camp site for the next three years and upon completion will offer complete facilities for overnight camping. The camp will be available to other churches in the area as well as the Boy and Girl Scout troops.

A report on the progress of the Camp was issued to members of St. Michael's church this week. Committee appointments are now being made to assist in the work for this year.

The camp is located just off U. S. Route 40 at the Green Lantern Inn, following the hard surface road to the "Y" then bearing right for approximately one mile. It is open for public inspection.

The project plan includes construction of an earth dam, navigation lock, controlled gravity spillway, navigation channel, turning basin, a two-story lock control house, an esplanade, and a left abutment access road. The $41,100,000 project is scheduled for completion in 1970.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Charles "Mac" Mathias

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Keeping Track of the Economy

One of the quiet but titanic struggles being waged in Washington today is the battle of the Congress to achieve some effective forms of oversight over the myriad operations of the executive branch. This campaign, which has been going on for many years, is becoming ever more difficult, as the 12,000 Members and employees of the Congress find it more and more challenging to keep up with all the activities and programs of about 2.9 million civil servants.

There are two basic Congressional responsibilities involved here. One is maintaining the ability to monitor executive operations, to spot problems, ferret out their causes, and instill the continuing reforms required to keep the massive Federal establishment efficient, coordinated, and responsive to national needs and citizens' concerns. For two years, I have advocated creating a new Hoover - type Commission to help Congress by conducting an overall review of executive-branch operations. Last week, on the 20th anniversary of the operation of the first Hoover Commission in 1947, 29 of my colleague joined me in calling for action on this legislation.

The second Congressional responsibility is an equally important and difficult one—measuring the national impact of Federal programs and policies, especially in economic terms. The Federal Government is by far the single greatest economic force in our country today, and the volume and timing of Federal taxation and spending can, as we have seen recently, determine how our economy as a whole will move ahead, and whether certain segments of the private sector — such as housing, construction or banking — will face particular benefits or strains.

Measuring the economic impact of Federal policies quickly and accurately of course requires prompt, adequate information. In the past, the Congress' ability to respond to shifts of increases in Federal spending has been hampered by a lack of such information. The Administration has occasionally compounded the problem by failing to provide sensible predictions when previous estimates of Federal spending have become obviously irrelevant or obsolete.

Last month a significant step forward was taken by the Defense Department. At the urging of the Joint Economic Committee, the Department has agreed to issue a new monthly report measuring the current impact of defense spending on the nation's economy. This new report will bring together data now scattered through a number of documents, and will provide us with a far better and more current indication of changes in military spending, the single greatest segment of the Federal budget.

To illustrate the usefulness of the new report, the Joint Economic Committee pointed out that in 1966 defense expenditures for Vietnam first began to outrun predictions in the second quarter (March to June). If the extent of increased spending had been known then, more effective steps could have been taken to head off developing inflationary pressures and avoid the excessively restrictive fiscal policies which became necessary later in that year.

Such a report will be of immense value not only to the Congress, but also to businessmen and private analysts. Especially right now, when important decisions about Federal spending and taxation are imminent, such information will enable us to legislate more soundly and make the choices required to keep the dollar sound and the economy in proper balance.

S. W. Roanoke, Virginia
Defendant

No. 145 Adoption Docket

This is to give notice that on the 29th day of June, 1967, a Petition was filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, by Roger Lee Hamilton, and Karen Sue Hamilton, his wife, by Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., their attorney, against Harold Teets, Defendant, whose last known address was 121 First Street, S. W. Roanoke, Virginia. The Petition alleges in substance that the Petitioners are residents of Garrett County, Maryland, and are married and without children and desire to adopt the minor child of Harold Teets, Defendant, born unto his wife, Patricia Teets, on May 17, 1967, at the Potomac Valley hospital, in Keyser, West Virginia. That Harold Teets, Defendant, deserted the mother, Patricia Teets, and their other five children and has withheld his consent to this Adoption and that the child's best interests are for the adoption to be decreed. The Petition further alleges that the child sought to be adopted is named Becky Sue Teets, owns no proprety, real or personal and is not related to the Petitioners. That the Petitioners have a good reputation as to moral character and will be able to give the child a good home. The Petition asks for an Adoption Decree and that the name of the child be changed from "Becky Sue Teets" to that of "Becky Sue Hamilton."

WHEREUPON, it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, this 29th day of June, 1967, that the Petitioners cause a copy of this order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Garrett County, Maryland, once a week in each of four successive weeks, before the 28th day of July, 1967, giving notice to the said non-resident Defendant of the object and substance of the Petition and warning him to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 28th day of August, 1967, why a Decree of Adoption should not be passed as prayed.

A ONE-ROOM AIR CONDITIONER IS FINE... IF YOUR WHOLE FAMILY LIVES IN ONE ROOM.

If you want to live in, say, two rooms, you just buy another one-room air conditioner. For three rooms, another . . . and so on. It's really very simple.

It's also very silly! And supporting a flock of one-room air conditioners is very costly, too.

Now let's get serious. For only $14 a month (maybe less), you can own clean, trouble-free, economical Gas whole-house air conditioning. With normal installation, a hefty three-ton unit is yours, without even a down payment.

Here's the best part. If your home is heated with Gas, you probably already own about half a Gas air conditioning system: the ductwork, the blower and the filter. All you need is a cooling unit and a condensing unit.

For all the refreshing facts, just call the Gas Company. Gas whole-house air conditioning provides comfort for every member of your family . . . in every room of your house!

Couple Married

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin W. Jenkins, of Swanton, announce the engagement and marriage of their daughter, Elaine Burdette, of Alexandria, Virginia, to Murray Imber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Imber, of Brooklyn, New York.

Miss Jenkins attended Allegany Community college and the University of Virginia. She is employed by Hercules, Inc., Washington, D. C.

Mr. Imber received his B.S. degree from the University of Illinois, and his Ph.D. from Columbia University. He is a professor at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The couple was married in Alexandria, Virginia, on Wednesday, July 19. A reception given in their honor will be given on July 29, at 7:30 p. m. at the Community Room, First Nation Bank, in Oakland. Relatives and friends are invited.

Dripping Fat Into Coals May Have Harmful Result

Cooking fish or meats on a grill over burning charcoal could be a source causing cancer, according to information received from the State Game and Inland Fish commission.

The condition is caused when dripping fat nits the hot coals searing the material with smoke. The smoke contains Benzo-pyrene which has been isolated as a cancer causing compound. A one-pound steak cooked over charcoal will collect as much Benzo-pyrene as is found in 600 cigarets, plus the other suspected hydrocarbons.

Broiling meats or fish in an oven creates the same potential health hazard if the fat is allowed to drip into the flames. This is eliminated when using a vertical style charcoal broiling with which both charcoal and meat are held in vertical positions so that drippings won't fall into the fire. Another method is by using aluminum foil, covering the grill with foil and cook on the foil.

List 14 Cases on Magistrate Docket

Fourteen cases were listed on the motor vehicle docket in the office of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney, Oakland, this week.

He also pleaded guilty to operating in a reckless manner and was fined $25 and costs and got an additional 10 days in default. He was then apprehended on the first charge again, pleaded guilty and was given 25 days in jail in default of payment of fine. One arrest was made by Trooper R. Lashley, and one by Tfc. R. S. Lewis.

Robert Michael James, Oakland pleaded guilty to exceeding 70 miles per hour and was fined $100 and costs. He also pleaded guilty to operating without a license and was fined $17 and costs but fine and costs were suspended.

OBSERVE BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY—The aides at the Graham Weeks Rest Home served cake and ice cream in celebration of the birthdays of two patients, Ella Broderick, 97, who has been a patient six years and Sarah Bogart, 98, a patient four years. Mrs. Broderick was from Cumberland and Mrs. Bogart was from Shallmar.

Douglas Dwight Bittinger, Oakland, pleaded not guilty to a charge of passing within 100 feet of an intersection but was found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

VOLUME 91. OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., JULY 27, 1967. PER COPY 10c NUMBER 22.

Close to Anarchy . . .

The disorders in many of the cities of the nation including one in our own state at Cambridge certainly indicate that our society is sick, and that law and order may be vanishing.

The looting, burning, wanton killing, have nothing to do with racial disturbance. Those participating are common lawbreakers and should be punished.

Crime has risen six times as fast as our expanding population and for the first time more than three million serious offenses were recorded in the country last year. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, declared that no effective substitute has ever been found for the time-proven deterrents to crime. He listed these as certainty of sure detection, swift apprehension and realistic treatment under the law. Anything that impedes these deterrents inpedes the preservation of law and order and decency.

There are many who blame the U. S. Supreme Court for helping to create this lawlessness and irresponsibility of citizens.

The dictionary explains anarchy as "absence of government"; "state of society where there is no law or supreme power", hence a state of lawlessness. Anarchy implies total absence or suspension of government. The habitual disregard of law and order.

What is happening in these days has nothing to do with civil rights, although some tend to imply that it is the basis for all the trouble. But in reality it is plain disregard for law and order.

Preservation of law and order is basic. Without it this country will fold.

Hiram R. Frazee Found Dead In Minnow Creek

Friendsville Man Had Been Missing From His Home Four Days

Hirman R. Frazee, 76-year-old farmer near Friendsville, who had been missing from his home since last Thursday, was found Monday morning about 1.30 o'clock, lying dead in Minnow Creek, one-eighth mile north of Friendsville.

Sheriff James E. Frantz said the body was found in the creek by Edward Sliger, of Friendsville, who had joined other volunteers in a search for the missing man.

Sheriff Frantz said Mr. Frazee had been missing since Thursday but that his office had not been notified until Sunday. When he received a call an investigation was started, inquiries made and a number of persons were asked to be on the lookout for anything that might help locate him.

When the body was discovered the sheriff and Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, medical examiner from Cumberland, were notified. The body was taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital where Dr. Skitarelic performed an autopsy. There was no evidence of foul play. Mr. Frazee apparently fell into the creek and drowned in the waters, officials said.

A native of Friendsville, he was a son of the late Albert and Flora Hileman Frazee. His wife, Edith Teets Frazee, and a son, Glenn, preceded him in death.

Surviving are six sons, Paul, Merle and Ward Frazee, Friendsville; Dale Frazee, Salisbury, Pa.; Emerson Frazee, Oakland; and Blaine Frazee, Markleysburg, Pa.; four daughters, Mrs. Opal Sisler, Hazelton, W. Va.; Mrs. Amy Friend, Uniontown, Pa.; Mrs. Eileen Capel, Grafton, W. Va.; Mrs. Linda Sechler, Akron, O.; three brothers, Harrison Frazee, Somerset, Pa.; Gilbert and Playford Frazee, Friendsville; three sisters, Miss Pearl and Miss Sadie Frazee, Friendsville; Mrs. Cynthia Smearman, Addison, Pa.; 18 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

He was a member of the Blooming Rose Methodist church where funeral services were conducted Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock with Rev. George Lovelace officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. The body was taken to the Newman Funeral residence in Friendsville until time for the service.

Committee OK's $2 Million For Dam

The House Appropriations committee last Thursday approved $2,000,000 toward construction of the Bloomington dam on the North Branch of the Potomac river.

The committee also approved funds for the design of the Rowlesburg reservoir in Preston county. These will be for the fiscal year that started July 1.

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, Congressman from this district, stated that the approval by the committee was the biggest hurdle to overcome in getting the appropriation for the Bloomington project. No money was provided this spring when President Johnson's budget requests were announced. But Rep. Mathias and West Virginia congressmen testified in behalf of adding it to the budget.

Rep. Mathias pointed out to the committee that it would be poor economy to stop the project which has been in the planning stage for several years. Funds had been provided for planning every year since it was started.

The fund still needs approval by the full House of Representatives, the Senate Finance committee and the Senate itself.

This will probably take several months, a Corps of Army Engineers spokesman said in Baltimore last week.

Once money is authorized the Army Engineers can proceed with acquisition of property for the first phase of the project. Frank Walter, Baltimore district office engineer in charge of the Bloomington work, said it would be the relocation of the Western Maryland Railway's Elkins subdivision that runs along the North Branch. This will be 11 miles along the Maryland side of Backbone mountain. After this is done earth can be moved, he said. But this could not happen under favorable circumstances until next year.

Bolden Reports On Progress Of Planned Center

Phase One Of Community Center Project Awaits Approval

Progress on the Community building project for the town of Oakland, which was undertaken originally in January, 1964 was outlined to members of the Oakland Rotary club in a talk last Thursday evening presented by DeCorsey Bolden, president of Mt. Top Community Center, Inc.

The project has been submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, in Philadelphia, under authority provided by the Neighborhood Facilities Act. Under this act, the project, if approved, would be assisted by the Federal government to the extent of 75 percent of the total cost with the local community providing 25 percent.

The County Commissioners this year agreed to be the local sponsors and owners of the completed building, and also agreed to provide $38,603 as their share, the Mt. Top Civic center corporation, agreeing however to supply these funds to the Commissioners so that actually they would have no expense involved.

The facility would be owned by the county but would be operated through the Community Action Committee of the county.

Since the Community Center corporation was formed cash contributions have amounted to $5,196.11, with at least one service club, The Optimist club pledging an additional $500. Among amounts contributed have been Mrs. W. R. Offutt, $1,500; Knights of Pythias, $25; Junior Women's civic club, $400; American Legion, $720; Mrs. Mary Bolden Helbig, $1,000; and Business and Professional Women's club, $1,000. Other small contributions have totaled $78.50.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $154,415. The building which would be 80 by 112 feet in size, containing 8,900 square feet of floor space, would be on one level and would have an auditorium, kitchen facilities, and meeting rooms.

Should phase 1 of the project be completed, the planners would institute activity for phase two which would include selection of the site and presentation of architectural drawings.

The area served would include election districts 7, 8, 10, 13, 14 and 16, which covers 216.8

Dennis Shaffer Wins Bronze Star

The bronze star medal with "V" divider was recently awarded to Dennis Shaffer, Specialist fourth class, E-4, it was announced by Major H. L. Coop, adjutant general, headquarters of the 196th light infantry brigade, at San Francisco.

The medal was given for heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in Vietnam.

The citation read that "Specialist Shaffer distinguished himself while serving as a rifleman with Company B, 2nd battalion, 1st infantry. While on a combat operation the last two elements of B company were being extracted by helicopter from the Nhum forest to a new location. As the last two helicopters were about to be boarded, an estimated Viet Cong platoon began assaulting the area. Enemy automatic weapons and mortar fire rained into the open position of the landing zone. Of the personnel about to board the aircraft, several were wounded and killed. With mortar fragments in his arms and legs, Specialist Shaffer crawled under the automatic weapons fire and went to the aid of the other wounded personnel. After administering medical aid to the wounded Specialist Shaffer proceeded to engage the enemy who were moving through the woodline in an attempt to overrun the landing zone.

"He fired repeatedly at the enemy as they moved toward his position and continued firing until all personnel were aboard the helicopters. Specialist Shaffer's dauntless courage in braving the enemy assault helped prevent the landing zone from being overrun and enabled all personnel to be air lifted to safety. Specialist Shaffer's heroism and devoted to duty reflect great credit upon himself, his unit and the U. S. army.

Shaffer was to be honorably discharged from the service this week. He was married on June 24 to Cheryl Sue Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hahn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shaffer, Jr., Crellin road.

A story of his miraculous escape from death appeared in The Republican in January. After recuperating from his wounds in several hospitals and at the home of his parents he was sent to Walter Reed hospital.

Teacher Shortage Crisis Is Growing

The teacher shortage in the county is growing daily and has now reached the critical point, according to Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. He announced that nine vacancies existed as of Tuesday of this week, with the possibility for more to occur.

He said that over thirty teachers had resigned from the county school system since the close of schools in June, most of them to accept higher paying jobs elsewhere. The big difference between this year and others, Mr. Hawkins said, is not only a somewhat larger turnover, but teachers just will not come to the county to teach with the present low salary scale, making it almost impossible to find replacements.

He emphasized that most of the problems he now faced could have been prevented if the County Commissioners had granted the requested $400 teacher pay raise. Allen S. Paugh, president, was the only commissioner to support the pay raise request. The other two did not.

Mr. Hawkins said some of the vacancies were in key areas such as chemistry, physics, art, mathematics, English and agriculture. All efforts by the Board of Education staff to recruit teachers capable of filling these critical vacancies have been unsuccessful to date.

The superintendent remarked: "This is the worst blow to progress that has happened to our schools in the past decade, and unless this situation is remedied by a substantial salary increase for teachers it will get much worse. The children in the schools are the ones who will suffer most".

The teacher shortage crisis will be a matter of special importance on the school board agenda at its meeting scheduled for next Tuesday.

During the winter months, the men will receive training on woodworking machinery, which applies to various phases of the building trades. 2 Programs Have Job Opportunities

Two programs under the Community Action committee, Inc., of the county, are accepting applicants at this time, it was announced by Brad Rinard, executive director.

They are being accepted for job openings on the recently funded Nelson Amendment program and also under the recently funded Neighborhood Organization program.

The program operating under the heading "Operation Mainstream," will employ fifty men with unemployed 22 years of age and over considered. Mr. Rinard said first consideration would be given to those 45 to 55 years old. Persons 22 and older presently unemployed or underemployed may contact the office of Employment Security for an interview appointment with Mrs. Mary Browning. A person is considered underemployed if working less than 20 hours of work per week.

Mr. Rinard said job openings are available in the building trades training program and park and playground construction. Both categories will offer forty hours work per week at $1.40 per hour.

Applications for jobs under the Neighborhood Organization program are being taken at the Community action office, located over Rolyans Furniture store, South Third street.

Mr. Rinard said six job openings for Neighborhood workers men or women in Friendsville, Jennings, Avilton, Crellin and Kitzmiller with first preference given to residents of the area.

In addition there are three openings for clerk-typists, not necessarily restricted to low-income individuals. Deadline for filing applications is Wednesday, August 9.

Board Applies For Funds For Junior College

Application for state funds for the junior college in this county has been completed, it was announced this week by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. The amount sought is $947,500.

Mr. Hawkins said the application had been duly signed by the Board of County Commisioners and will be delivered to the proper agencies in Baltimore this week.

He said he could not forsee any difficulty in obtaining the grant as requested, as provisions for the same are provided by law. He said the Board should have this commitment in about six weeks, after which he added that the board could authorize the architects to proceed with working drawings. This he added, would take about seven months.

Upon completion of working drawings the project can be advertised for bids which will taken an additional two months. Barring the unforeseen the contract for the construction of the college should be awarded by June 1, 1968, with construction completed ready for the tentative opening date of September 1, 1969.

Mr. Hawkins pointed out that a president of the college must be selected by the Board of Trustees which should be done not later than November 1, 1968.

First place went to David W. Tarr, West Newton, Pa., with Milton S. DeWitt, Sang Run, 2nd; duplicate third prizes to James I. Bryner, Dunbar, Pa., and Bushrod Hardesty, of Deer Park.

Representatives from service clubs of Oakland Rotary and Lions, Kitzmiller Lions, Grantsville Rotary and Lions, Confluence Lions served as judges.

The program featured a folk singing trio composed of Lindsay Hoover, Bill Nacy and Mike Harshbarger, students of Allegany High school, Cumberland. A local square dance group was directed by Glen E. Frazee with "The Harmonizers", and Wilbur Hutzel as figure caller.

Rain Continues To Be Plentiful

Rain continues to be plentiful throughout the area but the sun managed to shine continuously during daylight hours for two complete days without rain. This is said with some misgiving, since the pattern of rainfall has been so sporadic during these last few weeks.

While there were heavy downpours in Deep Creek Lake area, there would be very little in Oakland. When there was a downpour in Oakland, there would be very little just one-half mile south and none at the lake.

For the Oakland area the week's offerings included these: last Thursday additional rain. There was no rain, however on Friday, Saturday or Sunday. A light rain fell on Monday afternoon to break the spell. There was additional rain early Tuesday remaining cloudy for a good part of the day with some more rain Tuesday evening. There was cloud cover Wednesday morning with clearing in the afternoon and the temperature in the 70s. Mercury had dropped to 53 degrees this morning but skies were mostly clear.

At least two inches of rain fell in the Oakland area during the week, but there were no downpours to equal the one that bore down last Wednesday.

State Trooper John W. Hopf said Mrs. Sanders was traveling along in a compact car and had started to make a left turn into a drive-in. She was struck almost broadside on the left by a coupe operated by Fred Francis Clift of Los Angeles, Calif., who had started to pass the Sanders car.

Mrs. Sanders was an employe of the Garrett County School Board at the Red House school. A native of this county she was the daughter of Mrs. Hattie Barnes Upole and the late Herman Lee Upole. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House.

Va.; three brothers, Raymond Upole, Crellin; Freeman Upole, Corinth, W. Va.; and Floyd Upole, West End, N. C., and five grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Leighton-Durst Funeral home in Oakland.

In the second accident which occurred at 2:50 p. m., on route 40 west of Grantsville, all three occupants of the one car involved were injured, one seriously.

State Trooper Daniel E. Tharp said that Thomas Austin Glotfelty, 27, route 1, Oakland, was the driver. He told officers that he was distracted momentarily and crashed into a stone bridge. His wife Barbara Ann Glotfelty, 20, was admitted to Miners hospital, Frostburg, where her condition was reported as fair. Their year-old-son, Thomas, Jr., and his father were both treated for minor injuries and released.

Trooper Tharp said the 1967 station wagon Mr. Glotfelty was driving was demolished.

Fair Preparations Almost Completed

Preparations are practically complete for the 11th annual Garrett County agricultural fair which will get under way at the fair grounds at McHenry on Tuesday, August 8, and continue for five days.

H. G. Gortner, president, said last night that there were prospects for an increase in the number of exhibits over former years, and that quality of exhibits was expected to be tops.

For the eighth year Franklie's Amusements will occupy the carnival area. Among the activities will be the annual Farm Queen contest on Tuesday, August 8, with special music by the Troubadores. The 4-H style revue is set for Friday and additional bleachers have been added in front of the 4-H area. Bill Rennie will also provide a talent show for Friday and some Swiss-German entertainers, the Alpine Harmonizers, will also perform Friday evening.

Mr. Gortner said the livestock entries would be numerous. Some thirty baby beeves will be entered for the annual show and sale.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Charles "Mac" Mathias

Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The "Anti-Riot Bill"

The most emotional and impassioned debate in the House in many weeks occurred last Wednesday when we considered a bill generally called the "anti-riots act". In all candor, I should emphasize that this title really violated our concepts of truth in packaging, because this was not a measure to stop riots or eradicate their deep and complex causes. I feel that it is important for this point to be clearly understood, especially in view of the pressures — both toward violence, and toward ending violence — which are becoming so strong is so many parts of America.

The bill passed by the House is not going to stop riots. It is not going to put many, if any, rioters in jail. Its only utility can be to discourage, or if necessary to punish, the interstate traveler whose baggage is a criminal intent to start a riot.

The coverage of the bill is thus extremely narrow. In my judgment this limited scope is appropriate, since what the measure does, in essence, is to extend Federal police powers. This is a step which should be taken only for a specific purpose, in response to a specific need.

Some of my colleagues argued that this bill was mischievous, and I agree that it could be so if it were misinterpreted. Through remarks during the House debate, I tried with other speakers to refine the legislative record and define clearly the kind of persons and actions which could come within the coverage of the bill. Essentially, it would have effect only when authorities can establish that a person traveling in or using interstate commerce has done so with a clear intent to start a riot or violence. The mere knowledge that a heated discussion or vigorous debate may follow the speech of an interstate traveler is not enough. Authorities seeking to enforce this measure would have to bear the burden of proving positively that a criminal intent exists.

One unfortunate aspect of the House action was that, as the legislative process unfolded, this bill came to the floor divorced from a companion measure, the measure which provided protection against violence for persons lawfully exercising their civil rights. Those provisions were a natural counterpart to this legislation, giving it a balance and equity which it otherwise lacked. I look forward to early action on the other bill.

As I declared on the floor of the House last week, I deeply regret that there is a need, or even the appearance of a need, for "anti-riot" legislation. We have endured and progressed in this republic for many years without this kind of Federal police power. It was, I think, a sad commentary on the nation that we reached the point last week where we had to consider such a bill and consider it seriously.

But since a majority of the House concluded that there was a necessity to act, our duty was to act responsibly and carefully. I trust that the debate last week made clear that this bill reaches not the traveling evangelist, not the union organizer or the political speaker, but only the interstate agitator whose criminal intentions to incite riots can be proved in court.

Question

This may sound like a frivolous question, but is there any real relationship between a person's frame of mind - his general attitude, I mean - and his chances of resisting disease?

Answer

Interestingly enough, Your question makes a great deal of sense. Doctors have found that there is a definite relationship between a person's "frame of mind" and the ability to resist disease. Cheerful people really do resist disease a great deal better than the people with glum, pessimistic attitudes. So, it really does pay, where your health is concerned, to be cheerful and optimistic. And to give you a little something to smile about, let's say, "It's the surly bird who (usually) catches the germ".

Window Display At Local Library

"Around the World in Book and Movies" is the theme of the library window display this week. If you like to read books about travel, whether for adventure and excitement or for up-to-date information about our world, you will find unusually good reading among the recently published books, according to Miss Edith Brock, librarian.

"Passport to Adventure" by Jack Scott and "Three Tickets to Timbuktu" by Halla Linker are lively new additions to the adventure shelves. "Lodestone and Evening Star" by Ian Cameron brings to the modern reader the great voyages of discovery from the fifteenth to the nineteenth centuries. "Tinkerbelle" by Robert Manry, a Cleveland newspaperman's story of his trip alone in the smallest boat ever to cross the Atlantic, proves that men of the twentieth century are not lacking in courage.

Women of the twentieth century are equally well endowed with a spirit of adventure as Dervla Murphy shows in "Full Tilt". This account of an Irish girl's trip by bicycle halfway around the world is heartily recommended as an exciting journey in delightful company. Dervla traveled to the most remote parts of the world on her bicycle but never met a stranger.

Animals are an important part of the landscape and the economy in many parts of the world. "A Glimpse of Eden" by Evelyn Ames is an account of a month's safari to see and photograph animals in the East African highlands.

Animal life is an important part of the picture also in Elspeth Huxley's "Their Shining Eldorado: a Journey through Australia". Like the best selling "Inside South America" by John Gunther, Mrs. Huxley's book is an outstandingly successful portrait in depth of an entire continent. Long and detailed but never dull, both books provide rewarding reading.

Another expert observer, Harrison Salisbury, in "Orbit of China" offers perceptive comments on Russia, Vietnam and a number of China's other neighbors.

"Journey through a Haunted Land: the New Germany" by Amos Elon provides a thoughtful view of Germany today, both East and West.

In a lighter vein, Ilka Chase writes in "Fresh From the Laundry" of the pleasures and problems of traveling in Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia and of the delights of visiting Greece. Although written from a tourist's viewpoint her account is interesting.

Unless you are a member of this year's graduating class, the geography you learned in school is probably out of date. Reading some of the recent travel books is a pleasant way to get the background for today's news stories, concluded Miss Brock.

Frostburg Wins All Star Game 7-2

Chuck Durney walloped a pair of three homers to lead the Frostburg Little League all-stars to a 7-2 victory over the Oakland all stars Tuesday at Memorial Field in Frostburg.

Durney, representing the Elks of the select team, powered a circuit clout to right field with two runners aboard in the third inning, and duplicated the feat to center field in the fourth.

Bobby Nelson for Frostburg, and Shotwell for Oakland, went the distance for their respective teams, with both pitchers yielding one walk. Nelson struck out four and Shotwell fanned three.

Frostburg will play Hagerstown this evening, in the state elimination contest.

With one out in the second inning Harry Storm singled and Bobby Riley drew a base on balls. Durney then poled his initial home run to put Frostburg ahead 3-0. Oakland got two of those runs back in the top of the fourth inning when Allen Edgar hit a home run after Kisselovich was hit by a pitched ball.

In the fourth Storm and Riley singled to open the frame before Durney socked his second home run to center field, making the score 6-2. Walker then reached base on a fielder's choice following a single. He stole second, went to third on an infield out and scored on Nelson's hit.

Playing for the Oakland all-stars were Cvetnik, Uphold, Robinson, Kisselovich, R. Skeweris, Edgar, Don Uphole, Bosley, Ware, Dave Pphole, Shotwell.

Suit Filed

ers the necessary royality but refused to backfill and level off the property under the lease agreement.

The Wilsons purchased the land September 30, 1963, and the suit alleges they are entitled to all rights and privileges under the lease agreement as were the original lessors.

In a related action the attorneys for the plaintiffs named Harry Buckley, director of the Bureau of Mines, in a petition for a writ of mandamus commanding him to deny the Davies any additional coal stripping permit and to compel them to backfill and level off the land of the plaintiffs, according to law.

The Wilson suit against the Davies also contends that the defendents have continually refused to take any real affirmative action except for periodic backfilling and compliance with the least agreement and law.

Approximately ten acres is directly affected and approximately 20 acres indirectly, the suit says, and the plaintiffs are unable to use the acreage for crops, pasture and general farming due to improper drainage and debris on the land. It was further contended an unsightly condition had been caused and destroyed the aesthetic value of the property. The suit asks pecuniary damages and that the defendants be directed to backfill and level off the disputed property.

W. Va. Award Goes To Nearby Farmer

A Terra Alta farmer was named "Established Farmer" for 1967 by the West Virginia Association of Future Farmers of America.

John Gibson won the award, presented annually by the C. and P. Telephone company of West Virginia to former FFA members who have made outstanding progress in farming.

A $150 check accompanied a plaque presented at a meeting at Jackson's Mill July 21.

Mr. Gibson was graduated from Terra Alta High school in 1944. He formed a partnership with his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Guthrie. He received the American Farmer degree in 1945. In January, 1962 he bought his parents' share of farm equipment and livestock and now has full responsobility for the 176-acre farm and rents 25 acres of additional land with buildings.

At present Mr. Gibson has over $50,000 invested in his farm and machinery and during the last two years has purchased a new tractor, forage harvester, plows, disk harrow and installed stanchian type pipe line milker with 400 gallon bulk tank. The barn is equipped with a gutter cleaner.

He started his herd from a Holstein heifer purchased while in vo-ag. He built his herd through artificial breeding and selecting top heifers. He now has 28 producing cows, six heifers that will freshen this month and 13 heifers not bred.

Increasing milk production is the goal of the Gibson family. The herd is now averaging 14,283 pounds of milk and 490 pounds of butterfat. He has cows producing 18,337 pounds of milk. The Gibsons have three children: Louella, junior at Fairmont State college; Robert, sophomore at Terra Alta High and star greenhand of the FFA chapter there; and Joseph, who is 11.

Mr. Gibson also won the FFBL award in Preston county last year, has been president of the Band Boosters club for three years, director of the Artificial Breeders' association and vice president of the Mountaintop Dairymen's Cooperative sales association.

Mr. Gibson does some of his banking in this county and also does business with county merchants.

Loch Lynn Headstart Takes Two Field Trips

Pupils of the Loch Lynn Headstart Center, participated in two field trips recently. The first trip was made to Farmer Brown's on Route 40. Lunch was eaten at the Fort Necessity Picnic Area, after which the children visited the stockade. Last Friday the students traveled to Cumberland, where they tourned Schmidt's Bakery. They then visited the play area at Constitution Park where they also had lunch. Several mothers accompanied the children on each trip.

Monday of this week, Trooper First Class Russell of the Maryland State Police spoke to the children, talking about his duties, showing his cruiser and presenting each child with a "Keep Maryland Beautiful" litterbag. The children's dental examinations have been completed. Drs. Jack Roth and William Savage have begun their operative program with children in need of it. Miss Kathryn Speicher, County Health Nurse, recently completed the vision and hearing screening. Several children are being referrd to various Health Department Clinics.

A tourist bus loaded with 35 Marylanders plunged off a road on Pike's Peak, killing two and injuring over 20.

House Grants Two Million For Dam

The House of Representative in Washington voted to provide $2 million for the Bloomington dam in fiscal 1968.

The two Congressmen who represent the adjoining states of West Virginia and Maryland where the 295-foot high dam will be located, both spoke in support of the appropriation before its passage Tuesday night. Rep. Harley O. Staggers, West Virginia; and Rep. Charles McC. Mathias, Maryland.

The demand for $2.3 million in construction funds for the dam, which will be located between Shaw and Barnum, was started early in May.

The Senate now must act on the measure. In a talk at the spring meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac river basin on May 11, John T. Starr, acting chief of civil works of the Baltimore district, U. S. Army corps of engineers, said slightly more than $2 million already had been spent in plans for the big dam.

He said if Congress provided the $2.3 million for the Bloomington dam in the current fiscal year, work could start next spring on the relocation of Western Maryland railway lines in the area where the dam will flood the land. Mr. Starr envisioned completion of construction by 1972.

Rep. Mathias, who was pleased with Tuesday night's success, said:

"The $2 million is, of course, not as much as we would have liked to get, but it represents a big step forward to help keep this project moving.

"I argued in debate in the House that it would be false economy not to keep this project alive for three reasons: it always costs more to stop a job and then have to open it again; construction costs rise at a rate of at least five percent a year; and when a project already is authorized and urgently needed, it just doesn't make sense not to go ahead and finish it.

"So much of Western Maryland's future economic development hangs on adequate water supply; with it we can move ahead, but without it, we never can".

Carl Sandburg, noted poet and biographer of Lincoln, died July 22 in North Carolina. He was 89.

Review of The Play

Noel Coward, the prolific British writer, playwright, actor, producer, song writer, comes to the "Blue Barn" of Garrett County Playhouse this week in a revival of his 'naughty but nice' production, "Private Lives". In the three-act play, done with five of Gene Yell's top players, the audience is taken on a fast-moving 'marriage-go-'round.' This week's opus was first produced on Broadway in 1931, with the author playing opposite Gertrude Lawrence. After an absence from the theatrical scene of several years, it returned to home-base in 1948 with Tallulah Bankhead playing the feminine lead. Since that time it has enjoyed re-runs in theaters throughout the country.

The play this week is directed by Milburn Mehlhop, once again he proves that 'one man in his time plays many parts'. Advance publicity has shown that it is for mature audiences, for the thread running throughout is that of two people - or is it four? - living in a state of highly conversational sin. "Private Lives" opens with two couples spending their honeymoon in the same hotel in France. But as one soon discovers they are not just ordinary 'honeymooners'. Elyot Chase, a man of many moods, and played extremely skillfully by Neil Flanagan, is presently married to Sybil. Elyot had been married to Amanda, who is now married to Victor Prynne. (Confusing?) The petite and very attractive Jean Sutherand, carries off her role as the second wife, Sybil, with great feeling and professional aplomb. There appears to be jealousy between the two wives of Elyot, even though neither meets the other until the final act. Sybil does all she can by feminine wiles to keep her spouse, and to avoid doing the things that drove her husband from his first wife.

But then Amanda - now Mrs. Prynne - makes her appearance on the hotel terrace, and through 'chance' meeting finds her first husband waiting patiently or otherwise for Sybil. Playgoers will find again one of their favorites, Susan Stoner, cast in the unenviable role of Amanada. After five years of separation, the two, ex-husband, ex-wife - find that even in this awkward situation the old embers are re-kindled.

It cannot be said that all is a bed of roses, for moods change from violent passion to violent hate and back again. Not only do moods of the principals change, but the scene shifts to Amanda's unlisted flat in Paris. It is here in the second and third acts where the play picks up in intensity and moves along with such violence and speed one is hardly conscious of the time that elapses. Is the question one of promiscuity? Or is it a question of true love that has gone astray? Answers to these questions will be left up to the viewer. Just prepare yourself for action and your evening will be an enjoyable one.

James Libby, who plays the role of Victor Prynne, the second husband of Amanda, is apparently caught up in the maelstrom from which he cannot seem to extricate himself. One wonders if he is simply naive, or whether he is just 'playing it cool'. His characterization as the husband of one previously married, is done with true skill.

Nor can this reviewer overlook the superb dramatization of Louise, the French maid, played to the hilt by Miss Lee Thomasson. From the moment she enters for the first time until her final exit, she has the audience in gales of laughter. She relieves the tension that has been created among the foursome, and furnishes the needed comic relief. Don't count on your high school French for translations, for her handling of the language is done with true provincial skill.

Children below the age of 18 will find "Private Lives" perhaps a bit dull, not because of the manner in which it is done, but rather because the theme is an adult one. It can, however, be highly recommended by this reviewer for an evening's entertainment.

Strip Mine Spots May Be Valuable In Waste Disposal

The nation's coming campaign against air pollution could bring economic and scenic benefits to Western Maryland.

An article in a recent issue of the Trainman News notes that a plan to test a proposal for hauling wastes from the cities to rural dumping grounds already has federal support and will be tried in Chicago.

It notes that by taking refuse to remote areas for burial, big cities would be able to cut down on the burning of wastes, a factor which is under attack for its contribution to air pollution.

The Public Works association of Chicago, with aid of federal funds, is considering with the New York Central railroad, proposals for dumping solid wastes into abandoned coal pits, strip mines and other land which is in need of reclamation.

The railroad supposedly will move and dispose of 3,000 tons of refuse for less than $5 a ton. Present cost by incineration is over $7 a ton.

Interest in the sanitary landfill plan is shown in this area. So there is the possibility that in the future solid wastes from Eastern cities might be brought to Western Maryland for dumping in abandoned strip mines and buried.

Share Excise Tax On Spirits Is Up

Increased share of the distilled spirits excise taxes for Garrett County was reported by State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein in the quarter ending June 30.

Garrett received $2,871. The rate of increase was 35.65 percent. Checks totaling $840,727 were mailed to Baltimore city and the 23 counties. Baltimore received $309,033.

Total distribution for the quarter exceeded by 5.33 percent the allocation for the final quarter of fiscal year 1966 and brought the total distribution to all subdivisions of the state for the full fiscal year 1967 to $3,354,773. The tabulation is figured at the rate of 50 cents for each gallon of distilled spirits delivered for retail dealers in the various subdivisions. In the fourth quarter a total of 5,742 gallons was delivered in Garrett county.

Soaring hospital and medical costs are expected to force an increase in payroll tax for medicare.

The Beckman-Fitzwater-George Reunion will be held at the NORTH GLADE COMMUNITY BUILDING Sunday, July 30, 1967 All relatives and friends welcome. Lunch at 12:30.

22 Are Killed on State Highways

"For the past several years we have found that speed is a contributing factor in about 45% of all fatal accidents", said Lt. Col. George Davidson, Chief of Operations of the Maryland State Police, "but for the second week in a row that average has been exceeded by a substantial margin. The week before last speed was present in two-thirds of the fatalities; last week it jumped to almost 75%.

"It is tragic, of course, when a speeding operator loses control of the car and skids into a utiliy pole or simply overturns down an embankment, and his is the only life lost. In too many cases, however, it is someone else - a passenger, a pedestrian, another driver - who pays the price for the fatal driving error".

Lt. Col. Davidson concluded: "In looking at the highway safety picture it is obvious that many drivers have cast aside common sense and common courtesy, yet these will always remain essential if even the minimum degree of safety is to be achieved".

Twenty-two persons were killed on Maryland highways last week. Nine of those killed were drivers; nine were passengers; and four were pedestrians.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in five of the deaths; speed in sixteen; and "driver error" was present in all but three of the fatalities.

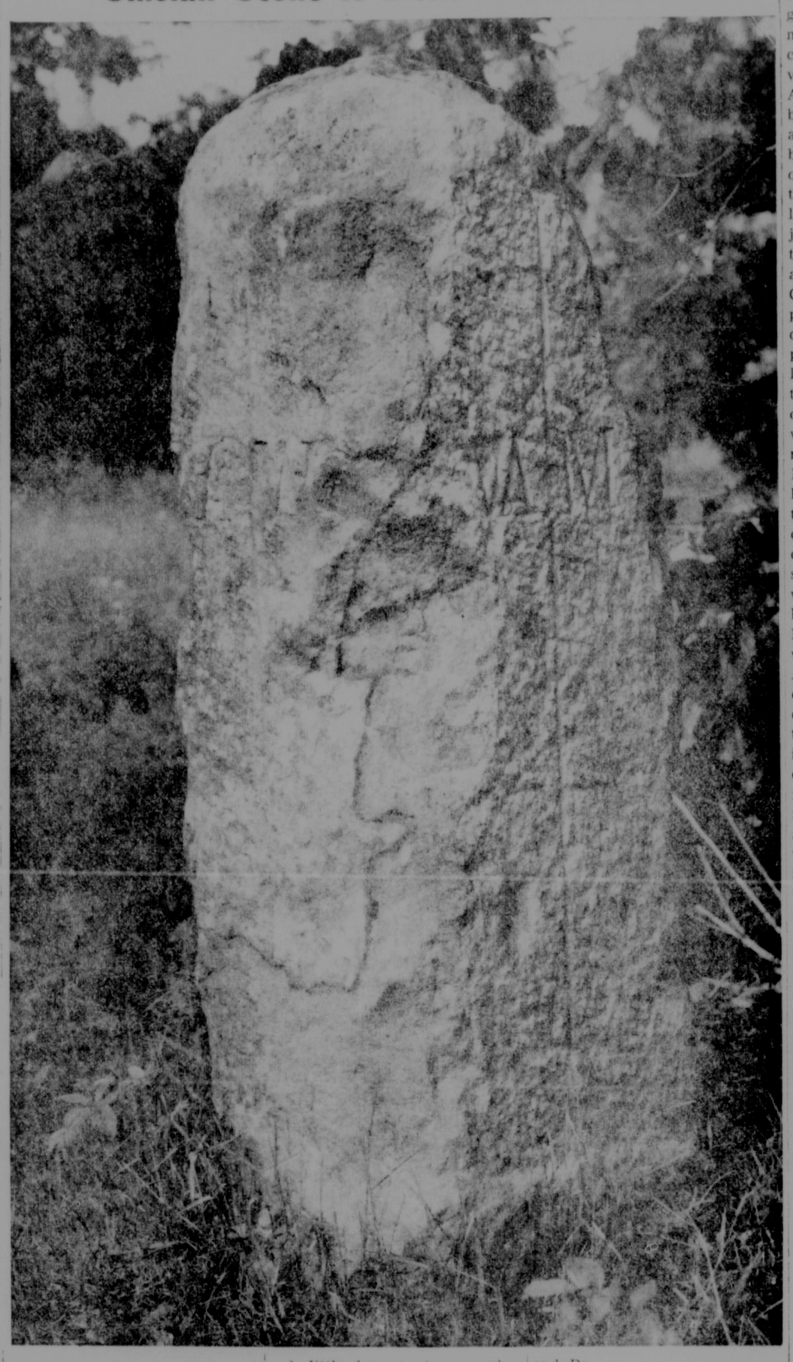
Sinclair Stone Is Little Known Marker



A little known stone marker pictured with this article, marks a triple boundary line between Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia and was photographed recently while Marion E. Warren, of the Maryland Travel agency, and Mrs. Patricia H. Kittle, executive secretary of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion council, were on a marker-hunting trip in the vicinity of Markleysburg, Pa.

The stone was "discovered" and a photo taken of the marker. It stands about 5½ feet high and is about 18 inches in diameter. It is hand hewn, and apparently was placed there in 1885. Chiseled on the appropriate sides are West Va., Md., and Pa.

A story on the Maryland-Pennsylvania boundary appears in a booklet published by the Maryland Board of Natural Resources, Annapolis, and information on the Sinclair stone, from the Maryland Historical Society. It read:

Sinclair Resurvey of 1885

"It has already been observed that Mason and Dixon extended their West Line to Dunkard Creek approximately 33 miles beyond the present limits of Maryland but 22 miles short of the western limits of Pennsylvania. Shortly after West Virginia became a state, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania became eager for an accurate survey of its western boundary. About 45 miles of the western boundary of Pennsylvania and about 55 miles of its southern boundary are also boundaries of West Virginia. Accordingly, the two states by appropriate legislative acts authorized a joint commission to survey these two lines. The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey detailed C. H. Sinclair to undertake this project, and the western boundary of Pennsylvania was completed in 1883. After some delay Sinclair started operations to trace the southern boundary of Pennsylvania from its southwest corner eastward to the northwest corner of Maryland. Funds for the project were limited, there were interruptions, and the survey was not completed until 1885. As Sinclair moved eastward along the southern boundary of Pennsylvania, he eventually reached the line of mounds constructed by Mason and Dixon. Cut stones were placed in these mounds. At that time there was some dispute on the western boundary of Maryland, and when this matter was finally settled in 1910, one of the monuments established by Sinclair was found to be just east of the northwest corner of Maryland and on the Maryland-Pennsylvania boundary. This particular monument has since been known to Marylanders as the Sinclair Stone".

From information gathered by Mrs. Kittle there are no Mason-Dixon boundary markers in Garrett county. There are a number of crown points and markers placed along the Pennsylvania - Maryland border in 1910 which are still in place.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Nora E. Friend who died three years ago, July 22, 1964.

Those who have a mother,
Treasure her with care.
You never know her value
'Til you see her empty chair.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb.
He gently closed her weary eyes,
And whispered "Peace be thine",
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell.
The grief is born in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
What would we give to grasp her hands
And see her smiling face;
To hear her voice and see her smile,
These things we can't replace.

Sadly missed by her Husband and Children.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

State Roads Department
Dear Sirs;

I would like to address this letter to the person or persons responsible for the repair and maintainance of the state roads in Garrett County. I am referring specifically to Route 50 from Gorman to Red House and to Route 219 both north and south of Oakland. These roads are being surfaced with what can be little more than a mixture of tar and gravel. This material has been used on the berms of 219 south of Weber's Crossing, and for this purpose it is excellently suited; but when it is applied to the road itself, the result is unpleasant to say the least.

My complaint, however, goes deeper than this. Irregularities in the old surface have not been removed; rather they have been intensfied. Now when a bump lifts a wheel the wheel returns, not to solid asphalt, but to rolling, twisting gravel. Have you ever tried to walk on marbles? You are asking us to drive on them. Under moderate braking a car may begin to slide; under heavy braking it becomes uncontrollable. Quick twists of the steering wheel produce the same result. Yet both these maneuvers are common in ordinary driving and are vital in an emergency. They may be a matter of life and death.

Another less obvious hazard lies in the noise and vibrations set up by a car moving on this type of surface. For years it has been known that a dull roaring, such as that of a waterfall, will deaden pain and induce sleep. Vibrations in the steering column will rapidly tire a driver, and, coupled with the hypnotic effect of the noise, can seriously impair his ability.

AND WHERE ARE THE MARKINGS? The entire length of Route 50 across Garrett County, one of our nation's most important highways, has no center line. Does this mean that there is no place along the entire stretch that is safe to pass? With this I agree; there is no place along the entire stretch that is safe to drive, let alone pass. Even the most inexperienced driver knows that a center line is indispensable at night. Furthermore, the berm is irregular and unmarked, a severe hazard in wet weather and after darkness. I have driven this road and it is not unusual to find dense fog on Backbone Mountain at night. Would you, Sir, like to drive this road in the rain after dark? I did it once. I will not do it again.

In ALL respects, the new surfacing is inferior to the old, unrepaired surface beneath it. How much did it cost? How many thousands of dollars has it taken to ruin our roads? How many more thousand will it take to finish the job? I can think of many more advantageous uses for the money. I recommend burning it in preference to more of these repairs.

Finally, I hope that I am wrong. I hope that the needless accidents that I see in the future never materialize. I hope no fog-blinded driver crosses a nonexistent center line to collide with an oncoming car. I hope no unfortunate driver misses a curve in the rain. I hope no one driving on these roads ever needs his brakes. But I assure you, Sir, that if an accident occurs, I, for one, will hold you personally responsible. I hope that your responsibility will not concern one of my friends.

Sincerely,
James DeBerry

The Signature of Our Son

Under a certain degree of duress, he has now signed his first legal document. And, though he doesn't look much different from all of his tiny neighbors in the nursery, the world knows WHO he is.

But the world cannot know—nor can we, his parents—WHAT he will become!

A man of character—loyal, trustworthy, courageous? A leader—strong, capable, resolute? A friend to many—kind, unselfish, understanding?

Identification is so easy to establish. But character is the product of careful moral and spiritual training. The religious atmosphere of our home, the earnest participation of our family in the worship and life of the Church—these will determine our son's destiny . . . the path in which his footprints will be known.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

The Vital Nerv

Lesson for July 30, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 16:11-40
Devotional Reading: Luke 8:4-15.

Several years ago a young man wrote an article for a national magazine in which he set forth his reasons for leaving the Christian ministry. In short, he had been desperately disillusioned by the unresponsiveness of most people to his ministry. What he believed to have been sincere efforts to preach and teach the Gospel had earned him, for the most part, much hostility and opposition by the majority of his parishioners.

Rev. Althouse

It seemed to some of us that the trouble was not that he had exagerated the conditions he had found — they seemed real enough from our own experience — but that he had cherished the wrong expectations in the first place. He had assumed that if he faithfully fulfilled his ministry, that people would naturally respond in a positive manner. He felt cheated because he had assumed the success of his ministry was guaranteed by good intentions and competence.

No Guarantee

Actually, we have no such guarantee. When Paul and his party responded to the call to "come over to Macedonia," there was no assurance that because the call came from God there would be a corresponding response. Witnessing is never a "sure thing" because, although God desires all men to respond to the Gospel, he does not compel that response. He woos people with great persistence, but he does not abduct them and carry them off to the kingdom against their will.

When Paul and his party entered Philippi, their first preaching stop after crossing into Europe, they found no welcoming committee, no brass bands, no "prospect lists." God had not guaranteed the results of their mission, only that he would supply whatever power they needed to proclaim their message.

Only A Woman

The beginning of the Philippi mission was hardly spectacular. Instead of winning an important city official or some other important person, or changing the life of some notorious sinner, Paul began by winning to Christ a woman named Lydia. This woman, one who already was seeking God in her life, responded simply to Paul's message and became the founder of a strong Philippian church.

We often find people like this Lydia who need only to hear or see the Gospel of Christ in order to respond in faith and love. W. E. Sangster was on his way one evening to preach at a service in Portsmouth, when a thundershower came up unexpectedly. He and another man sought shelter in the same doorway. At first he remarked about the weather and then went on to speak of the service to which he was going, inviting the man to come along. Though it was obvious that the man knew little about Christianity, he did go along and that night gave his life to Jesus Christ. The man could never quite get over what had happened that rainy night: "Imagine standing in out of the rain," he would say, "and all your life being changed because of that!"

Where It Hurts

Yet, as Paul found in Philippi, there are others who will not respond favorably to the Gospel because it touches them at a vital nerve. When Paul healed a girl who was being exploited by some merchants, he soon found out that he had committed the unpardonable sin. What they shouted at him as they attacked him finds its equivalent in the current admonition: "Just preach the Gospel, fellow, and keep your nose out of our business!" When people realize that Christianity may be harmful to profits, may judge our way of life, may question our political and economic institutions, they find that the Gospel often touches us where we are most sensitive.

God gives his invitation to all men. What counts is the response that each man makes when the Gospel touches his vital nerve.

The flower girl wore a three quarter length sleeved dress of pink organdy. The bodice was embroidered with pastel flowers. She wore a circlet of pink sweetheart rosebuds in her hair.

Best man was Bray Perry, Baltimore. Ushers were Raymond Richardson, Cresaptown; James Dudley, Wilmington, Dela., and Dennis Wine, Williamsport.

The bride's mother was attired in a two-piece dress of royal blue raw silk with matching accessories. Her corsage was of Junior Miss pink rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a two-piece dress of eggshell blue raw silk with matching accessories. Her corsage was of light pink rosebuds.

Groups Sponsoring Art Exhibition

The Steering Committee for the Garrett County Arts Council and the Wisp Recreation Center at McHenry, are co-sponsoring the exhibition, "Still Life and Flowers", with The Maryland Arts Council. The exhibition will be open to the public beginning August 3 at the McHenry House near Deep Creek Lake, and will remain on view through August 20.

Included are paintings by European and American artists of the 19th and 20th centuries. The exhibition, along with a catalogue which discusses the works, provides an opportunity to study the various forms and techniques of creative expression over the past two centuries and to trace the development of modern art.

For example, the gouache, "Mexico", Marc Chagall is of particular interest because of its relationship to the 20th century movement Surrealism. As pointed out in catalogue, Chagall "comes from a dream world and perhaps should be related more directly to those painters who are interested in man's interior life than the appearance of nature". Chagall is the only example in the exhibition and is most recently known for his creation of the ceiling of the Opera House in Paris.

Among other 20th century painters are the American, Marsden Hartley, and the Frenchman, Fernand Leger. Both are represented by still lifes which are abstractions from nature. The "Blue Carafe" by Leger is also of interest because it shows the artist's relationship to the Cubist movement of Braque and Picasso.

Included in the 19th century artists represented are Francois Bonvin, Charles Emile Jacque, Antoine Emile Plassan and Victor Vincelet. Their works trace the influence of the Orient and Dutch still life painting on the artists of 19th century France.

The exhibition, organized under the auspices of The Baltimore Museum of Art, will tour to cities throughout Maryland and will provide residents of Maryland the opportunity to see works of art in their own communities.

Homemakers Clubs Plan Special Items For August

The Homemaker Clubs of the County will be going on special tours, family picnics and attending plays, during August, Mrs. Freda Denison, Extension agent, announced.

The Grantsville Club will hold a luncheon meeting at the Casselman Valley Restaurant Aug. 2 at 1:15 p. m.

The New Germany Club will tour the Radio Station WFRB and also the Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland, August 2.

The Oakland Club will meet at 6:30 p. m., for a family picnic at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Lewis in Cranesville, W. Va., August 3.

Cool and Safe

Some advice for picnic lovers was issued by Mrs. Denison. She advised: use a good cooler or insulated food carrier. It is best security measure you can have for a healthful summer and to prevent food poisoning, said Mrs. Denison.

Use the cooler for cooked meats and poultry items such as fried chicken, cooked sausages, or luncheon meats. Raw meats can be taken if they are carefully wrapped and chilled. It is a good idea to freeze the meat and it will be ready to cook when you reach the picnic area.

If a pre-mixed salad must be taken - like potato salad or cole slaw - store and carry it in small containers rather than in a large one and keep it regrigerated in your cooler.

The Casselman Valley Homemakers Club will hold a picnic August 1st, at 6 p. m., at the New Germany Recreation area.

The Few Spoilers . . .

Seems like there are always a few "spoilers" who make it difficult for the majority to function in many activities.

For instance there are always a few litterbugs who make it tough for many to keep a clean-looking town.

Likewise there are just a few teen-agers who make it hard for the wholesome majority to carry on in a respectable manner. So it has happened once again. Because of a few, the great majority will be deprived of any effort on the part of adults to provide wholesome activity.

The Mt. Top Teen Center in Oakland closed last Saturday night, affecting hundreds of youth just because a half dozen or dozen other youth couldn't conduct themselves in a normal manner. Both girls and boys were to blame. They damaged toilets, walls, floors, and caused trouble in general.

Ninety-eight percent of the youth were just normal youth, but because of the very few, these ninety-eight percent are now to be deprived of a place to congregate. They had just raised $190 for the Green Street School for retarded children.

We don't profess to know the answer. It might be that the respectable youth could form a court of their own and mete out justice to these "tough" guys. It also might help if parents would instruct the youth on proper behavior and keep a tab on where their teen-agers are and what they are doing at all times.

These teen-age affairs always ended around midnight, but a number of them would be out on the county for an additional three or four hours. A television program now asks frequently, "Do you know where your son or daughter is tonight". It would be important to know.

Closer supervision might be the answer. Whatever the reason, it is tragic that the actions of a few must spoil the pleasures for so many others.

Bronze Star Is Awarded To Oakland Soldier

Clifton E. Biser Receives Medal For Action In Vietnam

The bronze star medal was awarded recently to Clifton E. Biser, an E-5 sergeant in the armed forces, after serving as squad leader of Company A 1/5 25th infantry division, for his outstanding and meritorious service in Vietnam.

His medal was awarded in connection with his outstanding results in ground operations against hostile forces in the Republic of Vietnam. He was also awarded the Combat Infantryman badge, National defense service medal, Vietnam Service and Campaign medals.

Biser, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth U. Biser, of Oakland, was honorably discharged from the service on July 16 of this year. He was inducted into the army October 13, 1965, had training at Fort Devens, Mass., and Camp Drum, New York, before being shipped to Vietnam where he served from July 15, 1966 to July 15, 1967.

He is now residing with his parents in Oakland.

Biser was one of three Oakland area youths who went into the service together, took basic training together and are now at their homes. The other two are Dennis Shaffer, Sp-4, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Shaffer, Jr., and Donald Callis, Sp-5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Callis. All have been honorably discharged.

To Assume New Duties In Southern Maryland Soon

Mrs. Patricia H. Kittle, who resigned a few weeks ago as executive secretary for the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion council, effective August 15, will be working with the Tri-County Council of Southern Maryland, it was announced this week.

The three counties of Charles, St. Mary's and Calvert are developing a full scale professional tourist development program and Mrs. Kittle was hired to head up the organization.

Mrs. Kittle will join the council as a full-time paid professional. She served as executive director of the Promotion council for more than five years and also served as secretary to the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. While serving here in Oakland she received an award of merit from the National Association of Travel organizations, an annual award.

Mrs. Kittle also is a member of the Maryland Legislative Council committee on tourism and the Executive committee of the Maryland Travel council.

Former state senator and tri-county council chairman John T. Parran, Jr., said this week "We have been working for sometime to develop an effective regional tourist development program and we are delighted to have someone of Mrs. Kittle's experience to aid us in this vitally important effort".

Mrs. Kittle is the mother of three teenage children. She has ancestors who once lived in Charles County at "Brentland". She plans to make her home in LaPatla area.

Two Treated After Wreck Near Sand Flat

Two persons were treated at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland following a collision near and B. and G. garage at Sand Flat, last Wednesday evening.

Charles Burrell, Mt. Lake Park, was traveling south toward Oakland when Thomas Ray Sweitzer, Jr., Deer Park, attempted to turn into the garage. Sweitzer and a passenger in the Burrell car, Earl William Schrock, Gormania, were given emergency treatment in the hospital and released.

Sweitzer was charged with failing to give the right of way and forfeited collateral for the offense.

Investigator Here To Insure Home Owner Protection

Clarence H. Miller, an investigator for the Maryland Home Improvement Commission, was in this week, seeking possible infractions of the Home Improvement law which is designed to give protection to home owners who are having improvements made by a contractor.

Mr. Miller said there had been very little evidence of infractions of the laws in this area but there had been numerous ones in Allegany county and other counties to the east.

He advised that persons who were having improvements made to their properties such as siding, roofing, or other repairs, that they make sure that the contractor is licensed and that they know with whom they are dealing. This is to give home owners protection from being cheated by "fly by nights" who, he said, make promises they do not fulfill, and procure money for jobs which they never finish. When they disappear there is never any way to trace them, he added.

Mathias Representative To Be Here Tuesday

A represenative from the office of Congressman Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., will be in Oakland next Tuesday, August 8, and will be in the office of Guy William Hinebaugh, postmaster, from 1 to 3 o'clock.

This will be the second in a series of visits by Al Mullican, field representative for the Congressman, who will be here to accommodate any citizen who would like to discuss government affairs of mutual interest.

Congressman Mathias expected to attend the county fair sometime next week but was unsure of the date at the moment.

Phoenix Is Low On Dam Test Bid

The Phoenix Construction company, Cumberland, was low bidder on the project to dig test embankments and a test quarry for the Bloomington reservoir job.

The firm bid $162,500 on the work. The Army Corps of Engineers, Baltimore district, had estimated $143,500. There were two other bidders, both higher.

Project Is At Shaw

This will be another boost in the overall aim to see the dam becomes a reality on the North Branch of the Potomac river. The project is located in the vicinity of Shaw, W. Va., and will include the digging of embankments and the quarry in an effort to find suitable earth and rock materials.

Rock will be crushed to see if it is suitable for construction of the dam and the test banks will be left exposed to determine the effect of weather on them. Results are to be forwarded to the planning department of the Army Engineers for inclusion in the overall plans for the reservoir.

Up To the Senate

If the Senate passes the $2 million appropriation for this fiscal year, the next project would be land acquisition and construction of a new Western Maryland railway around the site of the dam and impoundment area. This could be undertaken next spring. The House of Representatives last week approved the $2 million appropriation.

Mr. Hardesty was graduated from Potomac State college in Keyser and West Virginia university, Morgantown. He has completed research for his master's degree from Exeter, in England. While in England he worked with Christopher Hill, master of Balliol college, at Oxford university.

Mr. Hardesty formerly was employed for 17 years by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad as a telegrapher. He was published a book, "Selected Poetry", by the Exeter Pres. He plans to return to England during the fall vacation to submit his dissertation for his master's degree.

Woman Loses Life While on Hayride

A young mother of four small children, of Reedsville, W. Va., lost her life on a church hayride Tuesday night near Hutton, when she fell between the wagon and tractor and sustained a broken neck.

She was identified as Mrs. Ida Mildred Baton, 25, of route 1, Reedsville. She was pronounced dead on arrival at Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland. She was the wife of Roy Baton.

The accident occurred at 9:25 on the Fingerboard road, about one and one half miles from Oakland. She was chaperoning a group of the Mormon Church of Masontown along with her husband. The children ranged in age 12 to 20. Trooper Robert Lashley of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said the victim was attempting to climb from the wagon to the tractor on the tongue of the wagon when she fell between the vehicles. Both right wheels ran over her body. She sustained a broken neck.

The tractor was owned by Mr. Baton, of Reedsville and was being operated by Charles E. Haun, 22, of Bretz, W. Va.

Deputy Sheriff Junior Evans assisted in the investigation. It was stated that the group had spent several hours at Herrington Manor state park and were enroute to their home.

Youth Is Burned

A two year old youth, Bradley Slagle, suffered severe burns to his body yesterday morning at his home near Friendsville.

He was brought to Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland and later taken to the West Virginia university medical center at Morgantown. It was reported he was with an older brother who was burning some trash. He got too close to the flames and they ignited his clothing.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Slagle.

It was learned this morning that the lad was flown from Morgantown to Richmond, Va., for additional treatment and was accompanied by his father.

Teens Raise $190 In Benefit Dance

An amount totaling $190.25 was raised by a benefit dance held last Friday evening at the Mt. Top Teen Center. This amount was presented to Mrs. Madelein Blamble, principal of the Green Street school for retarded children on Tuesday.

Brad Rinard, sponsor of the center, said the idea of a benefit dance was conceived by several teenagers who wished to participate in some worthwhile civic activity. He said two hundred fifty-five teens turned out to hear the "Evengers '69, of Grantsville, and the "Yorkshire Products", of Washington, D. C.

The evening activities were broadcast over the local radio station with Gary Watson as the Emcee. The Yorkshire Products was brought to Oakland through the courtesy of Harvey Winters, and they contributed their time free of charge.

List 4th Quarter Tax on Cigarets

The cigaret tax distribution to political sub-divisions of Maryland has been made for the fourth quarter of fiscal 1967, it was announced by Louis L. Goldstein, state comptroller.

The breakdown showed that Garrett county received $19,166.64 for the fourth quarter, making a total of $71,598.61 for the total fiscal year.

The other quarter totals were: 1st quarter, $18,694.24; 2nd quarter, $17,289.96; and 3rd quarter, $16,447.77.

Total for Allegany county was $285,567.64, with the largest total going to Baltimore county, other than Baltimore city. The amount was $1,837,632.65. Prince George and Montgomery counties were not far behind.

SBA Representative To Be In Area

Next Thursday, August 10, Charles Lewis of the Small Business Administration will be in the office of the Community Action Committee, located over Rolyans Furniture Store, Third Street, Oakland, from 9:00 a. m., to 4:00 p. m. Persons interested in discussing with Mr. Lewis possibilities of obtaining a Small Business Loan through the Economic Opportunity Loan Program should arrange for an appointment.

Recent legislation gave the Small Business Administration the responsibility for loan assistance as provided under Title IV of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 and loans can be made to those small businesses whose profits are not enough to provide the owner and his family with a living income.

Assistance can be given those businesses who have suffered from lack of opportunity and who have been denied the chance to compete in business on equal terms, according to Brad Rinard, director of the Community Action committee.

Accepts Position

Kenneth Ridder, who has served as map man and assessor's aid in the State Department of Assessments and Taxation, has resigned his position to accept one with the Army Corps of Engineers, located in Baltimore. He will leave his old job next Tuesday.

Teen Center Ends Regular Activities

The Mountain Top Teen Center, which was opened in March by Mr. and Mrs. Brad Rinard, for the purpose of providing a respectable place where the Teen-age crowd could congregate for recreation, games and dancing, closed its doors last Saturday evening.

The causes, as listed by Mr. Rinard, were disrespect for personal property near the center, for general destruction of property and equipment within the center, and because of continual rowdyism of a comparative few of those who patronized the place.

The teen center had been open on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, in the room under the A and P store, corner of Third and Oak streets for the past four months.

Mr. Rinard listed these depredations in recent weeks: a sink torn from the wall, fires started in waste cans on numerous occasions, deliberate pouring of soft drinks on the floor, walls of the toilets, especially the girls' toilets, badly marked with obscene wording; bringing in beer and other alcoholic drinks from outside sources.

He blamed particularly a small number of individuals who identified themselves as a sort of "Hell's Angels' " group who wore German helmets, cut-off levi jackets, who used beer-can tops for chains, wore dark glasses, and had a tendency to cause disturbances and fights whenever possible. He pointed out also that this group was having "drag" races on numerous occasions in the vicinity of Oakland, endangering legitimate auto traffic.

Mr. Rinard also indicated that apathy on the part of many of the parents had contributed to the trouble when they showed no interest in taking their turns as chaperones for the club's activities. "I thought it best to close the place before things got worse", he concluded, and now many of the teen-agers who conducted themselves in a decent manner are asking, "where can we go now and what can we do?"

To Induct Nine

Nine young men from this area will be inducted into the armed forces next Wednesday, it was announced by Mrs. Helen Bittinger, draft board clerk.

They will report on that day to Fairmont, W. Va., for induction. They include Roger L. Paugh, Swanton; Harrison M. Thrasher, Jr., Deer Park; Ronald R. Durst, Grantsville; James P. Kemphfer, Clinton, O., formerly from Oakland; James E. Cooper, Swanton; Joseph L. Friend, Oakland; Gerald R. Reams, Jr., Oakland; Ronald N. Umbel, Friendsville; Leo S. Tichinell, Jr., Swanton.

The same day twenty-nine will report for pre-induction physical examinations.

He sustained back injuries when he fell about 15 feet from a scaffold. He was reported in "fair" condition. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Wotring, of the Park.

"Sailor, Beware" Is 6th Offering At Blue Barn

Philip King, author of "See How they Run", and "Pool's Paradise", joins forces with Falkland Cary to produce a confusing farce in "Sailor, Beware!" which will be presented at the Garrett County Summer Theatre next week, August 8 through 12.

This play is listed as a "somehow warm and charming story of a needle sharp wife and mother (Kathy Gonder) who screams and kicks her way into and out of her daughter's (Jean Sutherland) marriage to her sailor beau (Paul Thomas).

The supporting cast includes Susan Stoner, Lee Thomasson, James Libby, Philip Nicholson, Milburn Mehlhop, and Danielle Pressly.

The production will be presented at the Blue Barn on the Beckman peninsula of Deep Creek Lake. This is another family fare production.

During the balance of this week the play, "Separate Tables", by Terence Rattigan, will be given with Danielle Pressly, Neil Flanagan, Jean Sutherland and Susan Stoner in leads with supporting local talent, Linda Sukow, Anne Gibson and Kathy Gonder, participating.

PHARMACY PHACTS

from Clinton W. Englander

Question

I'm washing my baby's diapers very carefully, but she still has trouble with diaper rash. Do you have any suggestions?

Answer

Yes, I do have one suggestion that may be of help to you. It's possible your baby's diaper rash may be the result of detergent residue remaining in the diapers after you've washed them. You'll do best to use a non-woven diaper liner inside each diaper as you change her. This diaper liner will keep her skin out of contact with any possible detergent residue that may be present. (By the way, the word "residue," while very familiar to us, may be strange to you. It means "What remains.') And, if the above information doesn't help, please DO consult your family doctor or pediatrician.

Frommes Snare State Rebel Crown

Cloudy skies, intermittent rain and strong winds proved bothersome but did not prevent any of Maryland's championship yacht races from being held Saturday at Deep Creek Lake.

Forty sailboats in all battled the elements, and won, although one of the races was staged during a heavy storm.

John Schaidt, Cumberland, placed second with Ted Kohankie, Toledo, third.

Lud Fromme had little trouble Sunday in sweeping to victory in the Rebel class of the Maryland yacht championships.

With brother Ed serving as crew Fromme moved into an early lead in the two-day, three-race series and was never headed. It marked the fifth straight year that the Ohio brothers copped the Maryland title.

John Shaidt of the Deep Creek Yacht club, finished second, beating off a strong challenge by Ted Kohankie who was third. Schaidt's wife, Susan, served as his crew.

Designer-builder Sandy Douglass, Oakland, took Flying Scot honors with Edward Gibbs, Pittsburgh, second; and Eric Ammann, Deer Park, third.

Pittsburgh's Sally McClintock, who led at the end of the first day of racing in the Jet class, maintained her advantage to win this class. She was followed in order by Tom Johnson, Deep Creek Lake; and Jack Jombock, Pittsburgh.

This week-end the state championship in Snipes will be decided in a three-race series. Some thirty-five entries are expected. Stovie Brown, Baltimore, is defending champion.

DAR Organization Discussed Tuesday

A group of women met for lunch at Cornish Manor, Oakland on Tuesday, August 1, to discuss the formation of a chapter of the DAR in this county.

Mrs. Bryan P. Warren, Maryland State regent, Baltimore, spoke on what to do to form a chapter and set the minimum at 14 members.

Mrs. Frank Shramek, national chairman, membership committee, spoke on important issues and beliefs of the organization. She said there were ten major points and listed constitutional government, a strong national defense with extravagance, an effective U. S. foreign policy (not one that makes us look foolish in the eyes of other nations), and a Supreme Court that upholds the law, the Constitution and state's rights.

Mrs. Wilson King Barnes, Baltimore, addressed the group on the Constitution of Maryland and the writing of the new constitution. She said people should make sure that the counties remain as they are now and not be merged into or with other counties. Mrs. Edward Widmeyer, Pleasant Plains, state organizing secretary, conducted the meeting.

Other guests were Mrs. Lease Bussard, Frederick; Mrs. Theodore E. Stacy, Jr., Baltimore; Mrs. John Cupler II, Cumberland; Mrs. Mary K. Paugh, Mrs. Lee Williams, Mrs. Otis Aiken, Mrs. Paul Calderwood, Miss Ruth Keller, Miss Ruth Rudisill, Mrs. Leo Helbig, Mrs. John Stevenson, Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, Mrs. Charles Briner, Mrs. Clint Englander, Mrs. Edward Grose, Mrs. E. I. Baumgartner, Mrs. Robert Ruckert. They were guests of Mrs. Warren.

Another meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruckert on Tuesday, August 29, at 1 p. m. Persons interested in joining may contact Mrs. Ruckert.

July Rainfall Exceeds 3.5 Inches

July rainfall this year amounted to more than 3.5 inches on the mountain top, which was direct opposite of last July's dry spell.

The region received some 21 days of rain during the 31 days of July. Lawns and foliage in past years at this time of year were burned and grasses on lawns resembled brown carpets but this year lawns are a lush green. Some home owners are using their mowers twice a week.

A brief rundown of the past week's weather showed a light rain last Thursday night continuing Friday morning until about 10. It was 67 degrees at 10:30. Rain fell Saturday and a light rainfall Sunday evening. There was also rain recorded on Monday, but there was a rainless day on Tuesday with temperatures in the 70s. There was no rain on Wednesday until early evening, while temperatures soared to the 80s. There was another electrical storm last evening and rain continued to fall most of the night.

Review of The Play

The local summer 'theater in the round', is offering this week, the unusual dramatic English play, "Separate Tables," by Terence Rattigan. It is indeed a rare thing to see this type of presentation, for actually it is two plays.

"Separate Tables" takes place in a small English resort hotel at Bournemouth. Eleven characters make up the cast for both settings. If one is looking for a 'plot' he is in for a disappointment. As the author himself says: "I rejoice in the re-emergence since the war, in Europe as in America, of the play that unashamedly says nothing - except possibly that human beings are strange creatures and worth putting on the stage where they can be laughed at or cried over, as the pleasure takes us".

"Table by the Window" is the opener, with an assortment of hotel guests mincing over their accustomed meal of the evening. The two waitresses, played well by local girls, Anne Gibson and Linda Sukow, are quite familiar with the tastes of each of the guests. Most of the guests remind one of characters out of a Dickens novel. Kathy Gonder, another local player, seen for the first time this year at the "Blue Barn", turns out a superb performance as Miss Meachem, who is really not certain of her age, and who plays 'dream games', imagining herself a part of the life of well-known historical figures.

Poor Mr. Fowler, a real 'loner', who seems to be always waiting for someone who never really produces. It is Philip Nicholson who does this part, and without reservation, the audiences have seen Phil 'grow' in stature during the season. He is at his best in this role, as well as in the second play to follow. With the Victorian characters that are seen at the opening, and the slow pace of the first play, some action is bound to take place that will bring life to the shabby hotel. Small talk soon ends when the now Mrs. Shankland arrives at the hotel, prepared to take her place in this morbid setting. All eyes are glued on Danielle Pressly, - Mrs. Shankland - divorcee, lonesome, drug addict, and lissome as a wild cat. Has she really come to this hotel for the 'rest cure'? Danielle works herself very subtly into her role, but does it with great cunning and proficiency.

Again the eyebrows are raised when the 'writer', Mr. Malcolm, enters the dining room, for he is from the beginning to end under some sort of a cloud. The role Neil Flanagan plays in "Table by the Window", is that of first husband of the present Mrs. Shankland, but since their divorce of a few years, he - Malcolm - has sunk to a low estate and to drink, and has even served time in prison.

The two young lovers, who try to ignore the whole scene, eventually find an excuse to retreat into the lounge. Miss Lee Thomasson and Paul Thomas provide the 'love interest' and indeed both succeed in efforts. These two carry off their parts convincingly.

Finally Miss Cooper, the hotel manager, played by Jean Sutherland, makes a bold attempt at rescuing those caught in the web, and tries to keep her guests as comfortable as possible. The audience cannot overlook the role of Lady Matheson, taken off nicely by Miss Laura Treacy, another local talent. She is another of the hotel's busy-bodies, but one to whom everyone listens.

"Table Number Seven", the second play, and using the same sets, and the same cast of characters, with some making a switch in personalities, provides a vehicle for some of the finest dramatic presentations this reviewer has ever seen, be it Broadway, Boston, Chicago, or Washington. With Neil Flanagan, Susan Stoner, Jean Sutherland, and Danielle Pressly as the central figures, it goes without saying that there is drama and pathos at its very best. If the first play seemed to move slowly, the opposite is true of the second.

Now Neil Flanagan is 'Major' Pollock, a natty fraud who has invented the title, and who has a personal problem, has been arrested for molesting women in cinemas. He makes every attempt to cover up his crime, but is unsuccessful. Mrs. Railton-Bell, portrayed in both plays by Susan Stoner, in her Victorian manner, and in her prudishness, conspires to have the 'major' thrown out of the hotel. Miss Stoner's performance is one of the finest of her roles of this season. She is the doting mother of her 33 year old daughter, Sybil, again done by Danielle Pressly. Sybil proves to be the lonesome one, who has never been really understood or loved except by her mother.

With 'Major' Pollock's unfortunate background, and having been discovered by the mother of Sybil, he makes every attempt to check out of the hotel. Neil Flanagan's final appearances in the second play, are so filled with emotion, that not only is he caught up in this pathetic scene, but the entire audience becomes so choked with feeling that it is not strange to find the members breaking down themselves. We have never seen a more moving and professional performance at the Playhouse, and we can truthfully say, it is worthy of the highest tradition of the legitimate theater.

Nor can we pass up the lighting effects this week. Tom Hege, with others, has proved that lighting can create many moods and many emotions.

Your Federal Income Tax

The Republican, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, Baltimore District, will publish each week in this column, tax information that will enable taxpayers to become more familiar with the Federal income tax laws. CLIP AND SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE.

Questions and Answers

Q. I still haven's received my refund. What could be holding it up?

A. Most returns calling for refunds have already been processed and the checks mailed out. By June, IRS had processed a total of 45 million refund claims amounting to over $7 billion. The number of refund checks issued so far this year is 13 percent greater than for the comparable period last year.

The major delay in processing refund claims has been inaccurate or incomplete returns. Missing or erroneous Social Security numbers, failure to sign the returns, and missing W-2 Forms and other supporting schedules and documents are some of the taxpayers' errors that have held up their refunds. In these cases, the taxpayer has been notified and the missing information requested.

The IRS has thousands of refund checks for taxpayers it can't deliver because the taxpayer has moved and left no forwarding address.

If you are expecting a refund and move before it arrives, be sure to give your local postmaster your new address. This will avoid unnecessary delays in receiving your refund check.

Q. When do I have to pay Social Security tax for my maid?

A. The quarterly payment for the months of April, May and June is due July 31. Use Form 942, a self-mailer, to file and pay this tax.

Q. I'm being temporarily assigned to one of my firm's branch plants. If I'm not reimbursed for my expenses to come home week-ends, can I deduct this on my income tax?

A. If the assignment is temporary, that is, you expect it to end within a fixed and reasonably short time, the cost of returning home on week-ends is deductible. However, you may not deduct more for this expense than you would have spent for room and board if you had not returned home.

You may also deduct the travel costs of getting to the temporary assignment and returning home after it is over to the extent these costs exceed the reimbursement from your employer.

Q. I just had to paint the house I own and rent out. Should I deduct the expense from my rental income as a repair and maintenance item or as depreciation?

A. The paint job qualifies as a necessary repair and maintenance item. The cost may be deducted as a business expense the year it was paid.

Q. My son just received a scholarship for college. Will the money from this affect his status as our dependent?

A. No. Amounts received by a student from a scholarship for study at an educational institution are not taken into account in determining total support.

Have New Dairy Barn Extension

Claude Wagner, Jr., his wife Jane, and their son, Dale, dairymen of near Oakland, are shown above with L. Bush Swisher, left, Monongahela Power Company agriculture representative and Farming For Better Living project director, and James A. McHenry, County cooperative extension service agricultural agent, right. The Wagners, last year's Farming For Better Living sweepstakes champion for 25 counties, are proud of their new dairy barn extension that permits the expansion this summer of their dairy herd from 60 to 100 cows. The new building provides comfort stalls and mechanical silage distribution from the new silo to a central feeding bunker. A nearby farm is rented to help with the feed production. All hay and silage for the herd is grown on the Wagner farms.

Mr. Wagner is a director and manager of the Garrett County Fair to be held at McHenry on the week of August 7th.

To Present Films On Billy Graham

The Deep Creek Baptist church will present two Billy Graham films on Sunday night at the eight o'clock service. They will be "Triumph at Tokyo", and "Billy Graham in Alabama".

The first named is an action film in which Donn Moomaw, former all-America football star, interviews some of the leading medalists of the Olympic games, who tell the relationship between their faith and the disciplines of sport.

In the latter the Graham team visits eight cities. The attention of crowds is lifted above the level of inter-personal and inter-racial relationships to a moral issue—the claims of a Holy and loving God.

Dr. C. P. Anderson, pastor, said Dr. Alvin Friend would show the films. The public is invited.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Juniper S. Teats who passed away August 7, 1955.
The flowers we placed upon your grave
May wither and decay.
But the love for him who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by His Wife,
Mrs. Virdie Teats,
Son Winston and Family
—Adv. 23-1t.

When Jack Sinclair retired, he took his wife on a holiday cruise. They'll be home next week, and I'm certainly going to tell them how much they've been missed here at the church.

Like all ministers, I need a lot of help from my congregation to make our church a happy, inspiring place. Sinclair and his wife are just two of the many older members that keep things running smoothly. I depend on them for good ideas, for experienced administration and, very often, for a wise approach to young people's problems. In return, the Sinclairs have often told me how important their church has been in their lives, and how they both enjoy being needed.

That's one of the great secrets of life, I think . . . to be needed. And there isn't a church anywhere that doesn't have a real need for "senior citizens" to help with God's work.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

The Difference

Lesson for August 6, 1967

Background Scripture: Acts 17.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40:21-31.

Much of what we might call "popular religion" today seems predicated upon two equally erroneous articles of belief. The first of these is: It doesn't matter what you believe, so long as you believe in something.

Rev. Althouse

You've heard that many times, haven't you? We read it in magazines, hear it on television and radio, and are confronted with it almost always when people begin to discuss religion. Yet, if this were true, then we would also have to assume: (1) that the way we act or live is unaffected by what we believe; (2) that all religions and philosophies are of equal validity and value; and (3) that the value is in believing, not in what we believe.

To Live As We Believe

Hitler believed that the Jews and Slavic people were Untermenschen (sub-human beings); therefore, he felt no violation of his morals when he ordered their extermination in his death camps. He was entirely consistent with his beliefs. They did affect the way he lived his life, didn't they?

John Dillinger believed that a man has to take what he wants regardless of who it hurts or what laws it breaks. The gangster lived and died by the violent code in which he believed. Could we say that it was enough for him to have believed in "something"?

The Communists are convinced that material prosperity and progress is the primary goal for all national life and the individual's rights must be subordinated to that goal. Wouldn't you agree that this belief "matters" to those who live under Communist rule?

What we believe, then, does matter. It affects the way we live and different religions call forth different ways of life. Therefore, the value is not merely in believing, but in what we believe.

Same, Yet Different

The other popular article of belief is that: We all believe in the same God. This is true in the sense that there is but one God and all men who try to find him seek the same Reality. Yet it is also true that men's understanding of what or who it is they are seeking varies greatly and substantially.

Joshua and Jesus, for example, sought to serve the same God. Yet the nature of God as Jesus understood him was radically different from the concept of God that Joshua knew. Furthermore, these different concepts also made for radical differences in the lives that they lived. The matchless life of Jesus was a direct result of his understanding of what God was really like.

When Paul went to Athens, he found that the people there were "very religious" in one sense of the word. That is, they were much interested in discussing and debating various ideas about the nature of the gods. Throughout the city there were altars to countless deities. There was even an altar to "the Unknown God," for they recognized that there might be other deities of which they were ignorant.

No Longer "Unknown"

Thus, when Paul spoke to a group who had gathered on Mars Hill, a place for open-air debate and speeches, he spoke of God as the Creator, the Sustainer, the Lord of heaven and earth. But, he went on, this God whom you represent with idols, whom you seek in so many ways, was fully and adequately revealed through the resurrected Jesus Christ. He no longer needs to remain "Unknown"!

This is no less true today. All men seek some Ultimate Reality. The Christian does not say, "I am right and you are wrong," but points to Christ as the highest, fullest revelation of the one God whom all men seek. It does matter what we believe in — even more, in Whom we believe. For it is the God revealed in Christ, the Redeemer as well as the Creator, that makes all the difference in the world.

Time Magazine Ad Dramatizes Former Water Problems

A two-page advertisement of the Caterpillar Tractor company, of Peoria Ill., appeared in Time magazine and possibly others in the July 28, issue.

One full page showed merely a water glass full of water with a tadpole and other foreign matter in the water. The other page was devoted to the water problems Oakland had in improving its supply and in preventing flash floods and any more water shortages in the fall months.

The story included the time in 1959 when the town had to haul water from Herrington Manor lake. It also related how the town charter was amended to permit more borrowing power, and that with a bond issue, how the Youghiogheny river was tapped for the water supply, along with the construction of a water treatment plant.

It told of the five flood control dams now operating and the anticipation of a sixth and final dam for water storage and recreation purposes; the increase in the number of new businesses, and that Oakland's worries about water should be over.

The point of the advertisement was to show other people and towns what could be done about their own water problems. It stated that "today, some 400 million Americans live with water problems that need to be solved".

Bible School Ends

The Horse Shoe Run Assembly of God church recently concluded its Bible school. The attendance reached over 103. Commencement night featured a puppet show and demonstration of hand crafts with some 200 attending.

West German industrialist, Alfried Krupp, 59, died July 31.

Sixteen Are Killed On State Highways

In commenting on last week's accident toll on Maryland highways, Lt. Col. George Davidson, State Police Chief of Operations, said: "In serious accidents investigated by the State Police last week eleven persons were killed and twenty-six received injuries. Twenty-one of them had seat belts available, but in only four instances was the safety belt being used at the time of the accident. Investigating officers are of the opinion that death was prevented or injury lessened substantially in these four cases because the seat belts were in use.

"There are some automobile collisions, of course, where the impact is so great or the vehicle damage so extensive that seat belts are of no great value. In looking at the overall picture, however, these instances are relatively rare.

"Motorists give many other reasons for not using seat belts. We hear it said frequently that seat belts are an uncomfotable nuisance; that they are good on high speed roads but really aren't needed for short local trips; or often that they are a death trap, pinning the occupant in the car".

Lt. Col. Davidson concluded: "Too many drivers have obviously used these arguments to convince themselves that seat belts are not an effective safety device. However, the facts prove otherwise. SEAT BELTS ARE EFFECTIVE; SEAT BELTS DO SAVE LIVES".

A total of sixteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly review of the State Police. Six of those killed were drivers; nine were passengers; and one was a pedestrian.

Alcohol was a contributing factor in seven of the deaths; speed in nine; and "driver error" was present in all but one of the fatalities.
